Public Service Co. Announce Cuts in Electric Rates

Reductions in the electric rates to residential and commercial customers of the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois, are announced this week by James M. Slattery, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission. Customers throughout the territory served by the company will save approximately $1,140,000 annually under the new rates. This reduction will be made in two cuts; the first, totalling approximately $399,000 annually and effective April 1, will apply to stores, offices, and small business establishments. The second cut, totalling approximately $741,000 annually, will reduce the rates of household users beginning with bills rendered on and after June 1.

A feature of the new commercial rates is that the demand charge, which in effect represents the company's readiness-to-serve costs, becomes substantially less an item in the total cost of electricity to this class of customer. The "demand charge" for the small commercial customers will be eliminated.

According to Britton T. Budd, president of the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois, the new rate takes into account the growing tendency on the part of various types of commercial enterprises to develop improved standards of lighting and sign illumination, and encourages the use of modern window lighting and air-conditioning.

Mr. Budd stated the new reduced rates represent a further step not only toward lowering the cost of electricity to homes and businesses in northern Illinois, but also toward rate simplification. It will be recalled that a reduction for residential customers amounting to more than $720,000 was made less than a year ago.

With these latest commission orders more than $23,300,000 annual rate reductions for customers of public utilities throughout the state have been effected within the last six years. During the period, from Jan. 1, 1933, to the entering of the latest orders, electric rate reductions by the four northern Illinois companies, were as follows:

Commonwealth Edison Co.	$4,455,554
Public Service Co. of Ill.	1,221,544
Illinois Northern Utilities Co.	384,922
Western United Gas & Electric Co.	169,025

TOTAL $6,231,045
Mr. Slattery, chairman of the commission, said the reductions were decided upon after prolonged and exhaustive investigation by the commission staff into the operating revenues of these four utilities. Also they were the result of a series of conferences with representatives of the company over a period of months, in keeping with Gov. Horner's often stated policy that the primary duty of the commission under his administration is to secure fair and reasonable rates to the public for public utility service. By resort to negotiations the expense of long drawn out rate proceedings and litigation was avoided.

California Youth Saves Baby from Drowning in Pond

The following story from a Culver, Calif., newspaper, relates the heroism of the six year old son of a former resident of Highland Park:

"Quick thinking on the part of a six-year-old Palms boy was responsible yesterday for the life of his two-year-old playmate who tumbled into three feet of water in a neighbor's fishpond.

"The rescued child was 'Bobby' Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Campbell of 3540 Clarington avenue, while Ronnie Reeder of 3555 Clarington was the boy hero.

"Mrs. Campbell said the first thing she knew of anything being wrong was when her daughter Diane, 4, rushed to her babbling something about 'Bobby.'

"Rushing to a neighbor's rear yard Mrs. Campbell found 'Bobby' dripping wet, but safe.

"Romie, instead of crying for help as would be expected, plunged into the pond and hauled the youngster to safety."

Mrs. Reeder, whose son Ronald rescued this child from drowning, was formerly Miss Florence Clow, daughter of Mrs. Harry Clow and the late Mr. Clow, who operated the Royal Blue store at the intersection of Second street and Green Bay road in this city for several years. The Reader's also have another son, Gordon Hal, who celebrated his eleventh birthday, March first.
