Administration Comments

by Robert C. L. Price

Summarizing the accomplishments of the new administration it would appear that the affairs of the city have been handled in a creditable manner, that no real economies have been effected thus far and no important projects have been undertaken. As the previous administration was aware, this administration has found out that it is impossible to undertake expensive improvements when there are no funds available for the work. With limited funds available it is difficult to take care of the ordinary fixed expenses, much less take on any new burdens. The collection of the $100,000 in delinquent taxes due the city would go a long way in solving some of the financial problems and make way for improvements.

Your reporter is of the opinion that the councilmen have put many hours of hard work on the city affairs and it has been extremely annoying to some of them to be constantly bothered by political favor seekers, who feel they were instrumental in the election results.

One of the chief nuisance makers is a self professed leader of a certain group, who has pestered the councilmen expecting them to kowtow, bow and do what he says. Much to the credit of the members of the council, they have refused to be bullied or dictated to.

This Week in Washington

by Ralph E. Church Representative, 10th Congressional District

Washington, D.C., Aug. 5 — No one can ever point an accusing finger at the 76th Congress as being a group of "rubber stamps," "yes men" or "blank check writers." As the 1st Session comes to a close, the House of Representatives has asserted its complete independence. It has rather emphatically expressed its lack of faith in the White House foreign policy and the New Deal spending theories as the way to recovery. It has lost confidence in the Administration's program.

In the last few weeks we have witnessed a rebellion in Congress. In a very real sense it has repudiated White House leadership. To what extent this attitude reflects the attitude of the people remains to be seen. But I think the people generally should find encouragement in the knowledge that more "economy" speeches are now being delivered in Congress than speeches for "bigger and better" appropriations. It is a "believe it or not"—the Congress is becoming economy minded!

It is another "believe it or not"—the Congress has gone so far as to refuse even so much as to consider two major recommendations made by the President. It refused to debate the so-called Spending-lending Bill and it refused to debate the so-called Housing Bill. The House didn't defeat these measures. It said, "We will not consider them."

As to whether this "independent-economy" attitude continues over into the next session opening in January, depends upon what the people say to their Representatives when they return home to repair their political fences. A Congressman is sensitive to public opinion. What he finds to be the prevailing public opinion in his district when he returns home to give an account of himself will determine, in large measure, how he will conduct himself at the next session. If the people really want their Representative to be "independent" and to "economize," they will not only have the opportunity to tell them so, face to face, in the next few months but they will also have the opportunity to make it so when the next election rolls around. That's the value of a democracy.

There is nothing unusual for a Republican Member of Congress to express his lack of confidence in the policies of a Democratic Administration. Nor is it unusual for a Democrat to oppose a Republican recommendation. But it is indeed unusual to have so many Democratic Members of Congress not only vote with the Republicans against further spending but to make vigorous speeches on the Floor in opposition to the very policy a Democratic Administration has been following.

The new attitude in Congress is well expressed in the words of Congressman A. Willis Robertson, Democrat, of Virginia, when the question of considering the Spending-lending Bill was before the House: "Only experience will demonstrate whether we can spend our way back to recovery. We have been spending, and even the advocates of that scheme must admit the results have not been what they predicted. We have already appropriated $13,000,000,000 this year . . . I think we have spent enough money."

The statutory debt limit is $45 billion. At the present time our national debt is around $40,500,000,000. At the end of the fiscal year 1940 it is estimated to reach $44,457,000,000, a shade under the statutory limitation. In order to avoid putting the issue directly before the Congress and the people as to whether that statutory limitation should be raised, the Administration adopted the so-called "self-liquidating" theory. And the Congress refused to consider it, "believe it or not."

And so, the 1st Session of the 76th Congress comes to a close with economy as the guiding principle.

Offer Fest Will Be Held Aug. 19th At Highwood Church

An offer fest will be given by the Ladies' Aid and Friendship Circle of the Highwood Methodist church on Saturday evening, August 19, at 8:15 p.m. at the church on Highwood avenue and Everts place. The public is invited to attend.

A splendid program has been arranged. Miss Martha Nielsen of Lake Forest will play the piano; Mrs. Dressler of Highland Park will sing; instrumental music will be furnished by Mrs. Anderson of Northbrook, violin, and Mr. Robert Olson, accordion. Rev. William W. Nelson, former pastor, will speak.

Almost 40 per cent of the automobile fatalities last year were pedestrians. The automobile driver is not always to blame. The pedestrian sometimes puts the driver in a very precarious situation by "dumb" walking. In some sections of the country, special campaigns and safety drives are being made to educate the pedestrian on safe conduct on our streets and highways.

Shoreland Kennel Club Show

September 17

A dog does not need pedigree papers to be entered in the Shore Land Kennel club show, to be held Sunday, September 17, in the Riding hall at Onwentsia Country club in Lake Forest.

With scores of entries already made since the show was announced last week, Mrs. Berndalyn Kewley, secretary of the club, observed that very few were not registered with the American Kennel club. Pointing out that many persons have fine dogs without papers, Mrs. Kewley said: "Neither papers nor previous registration with the American Kennel club is necessary for competition against pedigreed dogs. In cases where a dog has never been registered with the A. K. C., the owner will be required to pay a special fee, which will be used to set up a card file in the dog's name. On this record will be entered the winnings of the dog at Shoreland and at other shows where he may be entered later. Then, should the owner ever decide to register the dog, the credits will be transferred to the regular registration."

Mrs. Kewley was emphatic in declaring that dogs entered in this manner have as good a chance to win prizes as those which are already registered, adding: "The judges see only the dogs as they are brought to the judging ring. They have no information whatever about registrations, pedigrees, or anything else. In this way, every dog entered at Shore Land will have a fair chance to win."

Further information may be had by calling or writing Mrs. Kewley at 1055 Granville avenue.

Ft. Sheridan Horse Show Sept. 2, 3, 4

Equine devotees are making reservations at an encouraging rate for the annual Fort Sheridan Horse Show, to be held Sept. 2, 3 and 4 in the picturesque lake front show ring at the Army post.

This becomes known with release of a partial list of those who have already taken boxes for the show. They are:

Donald B. Douglas, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and Miss Ruth Dexter Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Roy Carney, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Miss Harriet B. Stuart, Gen. R. E. Wood, Denison B. Hull, John H. Victor, Britton I. Budd, James B. Long, Harry Okin, O. A. Newsom, James A. Hannah, Herbert J. Lorber, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Stanley Ford, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Karl Truesdell. Gen. Ford is commanding officer of the Sixth Corps Area, and Gen. Truesdell of Fort Sheridan.

Five performances will be given, the show schedule calling for programs each afternoon of the 3-day run, along with night shows on September 2 and 3.

Rapid progress is also being made
