

Highwood Highlights

LENA GLANDT, Representative Telephone H. P. 53

Mrs. Robert Perry entertained her 500 card club last Tuesday evening. A very enjoyable time was had as this was their first get-together since last spring.

Mr. Julio Campagni returned to Carroll college, Waukesha, Wisconsin on Sunday night, after spending the week-end at home with his parents. Motoring to Waukesha with him were Mr. and Mrs. Nello Campagni, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fini and daughter Arline.

Little Vera Capitani returned to school this week, after having been absent due to an appendicitis operation.

Mr. Sarge Vinorini returned Sunday evening to Indiana where he is now employed.

The Shelton family left Saturday for an extended visit in Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ugasti and family are planning to move on Sunday from Chicago, and will make their home in Highwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey and family are spending these two weeks visiting in New York.

Mrs. William Puge of 415 N. Central avenue entertained a group of friends at a party on Saturday evening, the occasion being the birthday of Mrs. Roff.

Little Joseph Ellen Borgini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Borgini was baptized on Sunday afternoon at the St. James church. The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Borgini.

The Highwood Boosters will play Glenview on Sunday afternoon at the Boosters field in Highwood. Glenview will have a pitcher from one of the 3 Eye leagues. The game should prove to be very interesting, as they plan to prove one and for all which is the superior team.

Mrs. Joe Albert attended the wedding of her very good friend, Miss Josephine Gentile, on Saturday night at the Hotel Graemere in Chicago.

Mrs. Evaristo Campagni was very pleasantly surprised on Sunday evening by a group of her friends dropping in to help her celebrate her birthday.

Royal Neighbors to Meet
The Royal Neighbors will hold their meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 27 at the Elk's hall in Highland Park. All officers and members are please requested to attend.

Ballroom Dancing Classes Open Sept. 29

Classes in ballroom dancing at the Highland Park YWCA are being offered under the direction of James Weckler Martine. For the early teen ages, attire will be informal. The price asked for the term is modest which will be a boon to families whose budgets are bulging with the demands for the many needs and activities of young moderns.

For freshmen and high school upperclass, there will be instruction and formal and costume parties.

Class schedule: Fortnightly, 5th and 6th grades from 5 to 6 p.m. beginning Sept. 29. 7th and 8th grades 7:30 to 9 p.m. beginning Sept. 29.

Fortnightly, freshman classes 9:00 to 11:00 p.m. beginning Friday, October 6.

Rowena Bennett to Conduct Creative Writing Class Again

On Thursday, Oct. 5, the Creative Writing class sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. of Highland Park, will begin its second year. Several of last year's members have had articles and stories published in national magazines such as The American Home, American Cookery and The Ladies Home Journal.

The class will again be under the leadership of Rowena Bennett and will be open to all who are interested. For further information call the Y.W.C.A.

State Commander Advises Legion to Demand Neutrality

An unusual large attendance was present last Friday evening at the installation of district officers of the American Legion. Gov. Henry Horner, who had been invited to attend the meeting, expressed his regrets in a letter to the Legion Post.

Among the notables present at the meeting were Lee N. Bittinger, state commander, Edward Clamage, past state commander, Prof. Richard L. Sandwick of Highland Park school, Lyle K. Snavely, Legion organization officer for the state, Mrs. Frances Mieczynski, first vice president of the Auxiliary in Illinois, and Mrs. William Tennermann, president of the tenth district.

Commander Bittinger was present at the meeting to install Miller Schreiner of this city as commander of the tenth district of the Legion, which is composed of all the posts of Lake county.

Other officers installed included Douglas P. Getchell of Grayslake, senior vice commander; Charles E. Prizer of Lake Bluff, junior vice commander; George Calhoun of Waukegan, finance officer; Chester L. Hamilton of Highland Park, adjutant; Gage Stevens of Waukegan, chaplain; Edward A. Ayers of Waukegan, sergeant-at-arms, and Noel E. White of Fox Lake, service officer.

Mr. Bittinger, who was a former resident of Highland Park and a graduate of Deerfield Shields High school, declared that the prime business of the American Legion is to see that the neutrality of the United States is maintained.

"Regardless of individual sympathies," said Commander Bittinger, "the American Legion must stand strongly for Americanism and no member of the Legion should do anything to make a strict observance of Americanism difficult."

"The Legion program stands ready to foster the expenditure of millions or even billions for national defense, but not one cent to send United States soldiers to a foreign land to fight some other nation's battles."

"There are more than 4,000 reasons right here in Illinois why the United States should not become involved in the European war. They are the veterans of the World war in federal and state institutions, strong of body but with their minds gone because of their suffering in the World war."

"The youth of today in the United States is fortunate indeed to be out throwing baseballs and footballs instead of hand grenades."

Trophies were presented for winners in various contests during the year, two to the Lake county group for leading the entire state in membership last year. The county started this year with 774 memberships in last night as against 310 a year ago at this time.

The North Chicago Junior Legion baseball team was awarded trophies for winning the district championship and for the team showing the best sportsmanship.

Girl Scouts Take Part in Congress at New York City

Sixteen young people representing the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Boys Club of America, and the Camp Fire Girls, participating in a panel discussion on youth movements in this country at the recent "Congress on Education for Democracy" at Columbia university in New York City, made "one of the most important contributions to the whole conference," according to Col. Theodore Roosevelt of Oyster Bay, L. I. Col. Roosevelt served as chairman of the discussion on the "Contribution of Youth Organizations to Democratic Life." "A nation belongs to its young people," he said. "These sixteen boys and girls representing their own national organizations were chosen because they are thoroughly American. Their opinions are important because in the hands of the millions of young people represented in this discussion, lies the future of this democracy we so deeply love."

In telling just what democracy meant to her, Girl Scout Mary Alice Dietrich of Yonkers, New York, repeated a definition which she heard years ago that "brought the meaning clearly home to me." "Democracy is a way of living," she said. "It offsets everyone's responsibilities as well as opportunities. I do not think that youth organizations would be worthwhile if they did not function according to the democratic process. Young people want the opportunity to accept responsibilities and a chance to develop themselves as well as to help others develop."

Gladys McGregor of Nashville, Tenn., who was attending Camp Andree, Girl Scout camp at Pleasantville, N. Y., when she was asked to participate in the discussion said that she wished every girl could be a member of such an organization as her own. "I think a girl is missing so much if she does not belong," she said, adding that she has learned through camping that there are many ways of living and thinking. "Camping develops companionship, understanding of other people, sympathy and good fellowship."

Give Benefit for Endowment Fund

For the benefit of the Endowment Fund and the three camps for underprivileged little girls of eight to twelve that the sorority maintains at Vancouver, Buffalo, and Denver, the North Shore alumnae group of Gamma Phi Beta is sponsoring a performance of the Yale Puppeteers on Wednesday, October 11, at 8:30 p.m. at the Evanston Woman's club.
