

MARTHA JANE THOMAS ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Of interest to Highland Parkers is the announcement Mrs. Cary Wood Thomas is making today of the engagement of her daughter, Martha Jane, to Timothy Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frederick Fuller of Boston and Scituate, Mass.

Miss Thomas will spend this weekend in Boston with her fiance and his parents. The wedding is planned for later this winter, and probably will take place in New York, where Mrs. Thomas and her daughter now are living at 15 W. 8th street, New York, N.Y.

Miss Thomas grew up in Highland Park. After being graduated from Rosemary hall she became interested in a career on the stage and studied at Northwestern university's school of speech and at the Goodman theater. She went to London last year.

Mr. Fuller, a young author, published his first novel, "Harvard Has a Homicide," when he was 21 while a student at Harvard. He prepared for the university at Noble and Greenough, and while at Harvard was a member of Hasty Pudding Institute 1770 and of the Delphic club. He is a great-great-nephew of Margaret Fuller, who was Marchioness Ossoli for whom the Ossoli club was named and an early woman leader and reformer, and a nephew of Mrs. Winthrop Ames of New York.

Miss Thomas has a sister, Mrs. RaeBurn F. Hay of New York, and a brother, MacPherson Thomas of Chicago, who is married to the former Josephine Fleming. Their father is Charles N. Thomas of New York.

Mrs. Thomas came west for the marriage of Miss Valeria Harris to James H. Symington last Saturday. She will return to New York in ten days.

Mrs. Wm. P. Johnson, who has been spending the summer at Silver Bay, N. Y., also visiting the World's Fair, has just returned to her home on Logan street. She will resume her classes in Lip Reading on Tuesday, October the tenth, at 10 o'clock at the Elm Place school.

North Shore Line Asks Authority to Secure Streamliners

The Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad—the North Shore Line—filed a petition before United States District Judge James H. Wilkerson today (October 3) asking authority to enter into a contract with the St. Louis Car Company for the building of two four-unit articulated streamliners for use in the Chicago-Milwaukee service. Hearing of the petition was continued for one week on the motion of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, a creditor of the railroad.

Col. A. A. Sprague, receiver of the North Shore Line, in his petition stated that bids had been solicited from various manufacturers and that the St. Louis Car Company bid of $299,000 was the lowest. The latter concern offered to contract to deliver the trains by June 1, 1940. Their purchase would be financed by payment of one-third in cash and the remainder in receiver's certificates.

The new trains which the North Shore Line proposes to have built would be new in design and capable of free operating speed with safety at 100 miles per hour. They would be built of high tensile strength steel alloys and other light weight materials so as to be as light as possible without sacrificing structural strength. Each train would be powered with eight motors developing a total of 1,000 horsepower.

The new trains would be composed of four units, they being articulated and having an over-all length of 156 feet 9 inches. The front and rear units would be approximately 44 feet 8 inches in length and the other two center units 33 feet 8 inches long.

The first two and rear units are to be coaches, while the third unit is planned to be a tavern car of unique appointments. The trains would be completely air conditioned and electrically heated. The inside finish would be of metal. The door entrances are of new design, being located at the sides of the first, second and fourth units, instead of at the rear of coaches as is customary.

The lighting planned is unusual, the fixtures being over each seat and especially designed for reading. The coach seats are planned to be of tubular steel upholstered in mohair. The tavern car, in addition to an illuminated bar, would be equipped with tables, upholstered arm chairs and sofas. The interior decoration scheme of all coaches has been planned by a noted interior decorator.

The trains would have a distinctive front and rear and the units will be of arched roof type for double end operation. The floors, sides, ends and roofs will be effectively insulated against heat, sound and vibration and the trucks insulated with rubber to break the metallic contact with rails. Smoking compartments will be provided with automatic exhaust ventilators which will keep the air entirely fresh.

Merchants Launch Football Season Under Flood Lights

Electrically illuminated, vocally broadcast football games will be played every Wednesday night at 8:30 in Sunset Park by the group of young locals called the Highland Park Merchants, and, of course, they'll be out there every Sunday for matinee performances at 2:30, rain or shine, for the rest of the season, which promises to be as thrill-packed as last year's.

A goodly number of the stalwarts on Coach George Hall's roster have played on teams for Highland Park high school and several are able to claim membership with the Merchants since its inception three years past.

Sideline satellites have come from miles around in former seasons to watch games in Sunset Park between the Merchants and teams from nearby towns and Chicago and the contests so far have found the same crowds out plugging for the fellows in those patriotic uniforms (red, white and blue); which should be fitting in these days.

Coach Hall invites team prospects to report to the field at Sunset, Friday at 8 p.m.

Duck Season Opens in Illinois Oct. 22

Illinois duck hunters are showing satisfaction over the dates set for the 1939 open season on migratory fowl. October 22 is the opening date for duck shooting in this state, with the season closing on December 5, or a total of 45 days of shooting. For the past several years the open season has been somewhat earlier.

The regulations on waterfowl hunting place the daily bag limit for ducks at ten in the aggregate, but with a possession limit of 20 in the aggregate. When the daily bag limit includes canvasback, redhead, bufflehead and ruddy ducks, not more than three of any one, or more than three in the aggregate, or these kinds may be taken, and possession of these particular kinds of ducks is limited to not more than six of any one kind or six in the aggregate.

The daily bag limit on geese and brant of the kinds permitted to be killed is four in the aggregate of all kinds, and the possession limit is eight in the aggregate. Last year the limits stood at five and ten, respectively. The daily bag limit on coots remains at twenty-five.

Fell's Show Window Broken By Stone

Some time Friday evening, or in the early hours of Saturday, a rock was either accidentally or purposefully thrown through the south show window of Fell's Men's furnishing store. The broken window was discovered by members of the firm when they came to work Saturday morning. Nothing had been stolen from the window. It is believed that a car might have thrown the stone while passing down Central avenue.

WILSON'S Weekly MEMO by GEORGE RECTOR It was brought to my attention the other day that fully as many men as women read this column every week. I am not surprised. Eating is a universal occupation, and it is a mistake to regard food as wholly in the woman's realm. If your husband has invested part of his time on the 8:10 or the 5:15 in reading about the delights of one of my ham steaks with a mixed green salad bowl on the side, and has his mouth all ready for them, don't be surprised should he not wax enthusiastic if you serve him creamed doodads and marshmallow fluff instead. Be it on your own head! George Rector Food Consultant Wilson & Co
