

Waukegan Youth Killed in Crash at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Funeral services for Alford W. Dubs Jr., University of Michigan law student who was injured fatally in an automobile accident near Ann Arbor, Mich., early Sunday, were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the First Methodist church in Waukegan. Burial was in the North Shore Garden of Memories. Mr. Dubs, a graduate of Waukegan High school, attended Lake Forest college for two years before going to Michigan, where he obtained a bachelor's degree last June. In 1936 he won the Pershing award at the R.O.T.C. encampment at Fort Sheridan. His parents live at 830 North avenue, Waukegan.

The deceased was a nephew of Dr. C. Newton Rubs, a missionary of the Evangelical Association affiliated with Bethany church of this city.

Explains Workings of National Census at Chamber Meeting

In his talk before the Highland Park Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday evening, Mr. Ira Anderson, assistant professor at Northwestern School of Commerce, explained the National Census and its advantage to business groups and business men at large. He explained the origin and growth as well as the physical workings of the Census. The data is secured primarily for the benefit of business men throughout the United States and every business man should take advantage of the opportunity which it affords.

The nominating committee has selected the following members for officers for the coming year:

President, Robert G. Anspach. Vice President, Leonard W. Nieter. Directors: Paul Branch, Cyril Duffy, W. Raymond Branch.

The annual meeting will be held Tuesday evening, December 12.

Child Struck by Car, Only Bruised

Josephine Baker, five year old daughter of Howard M. Baker of 9 Prairie avenue, was bruised about the legs Tuesday afternoon when she was struck by a car driven by Alford di Filippo, 43, of 12 Webster avenue, Highwood.

Mr. Di Filippo was going west on Burtis avenue when the children darted out in front of the car, according to report of the local police.

Firemen Respond to Several Calls in Week

The Highland Park Fire department responded to five grass fire calls yesterday (Wednesday).

Last Thursday they answered a call to the Ernest Kuehne residence on Glenview avenue, where spontaneous combustion caused by paint and oily rags in a closed car had caused his automobile to become ignited.

Monday morning the local department answered a call to the old Freberg home at the corner of Elm place and St. Johns avenue, where a defective chimney caused a roof fire. The damage was very slight.

Thrown From Horse, Is Badly Bruised

Mrs. M. L. Stein of Woodbridge lane is recovering from injuries sustained when she was thrown from her horse while riding on a bridle path near Route 22 Monday morning.

Mrs. Stein, who was riding with Mrs. Edith Neisser, 237 Hazel avenue, at the time of the accident, was rushed to the Highland Park hospital where, it is said, she is getting along nicely and is expected to return to her home the latter part of this week. She was painfully bruised, but there were no bones broken.

Miss Olive Davidson Is Buried Monday

"Union Pacific" in Return Showing at Deerpath Theatre

The "Dead End" Kids are somewhat reformed, though still rough and aggressive, and Ann Sheridan has her first really sympathetic part since being made a star—these are the main items of interest about the new Warner Bros. picture, "The Angels Wash Their Faces," which will be presented Thursday and Friday, November 16 and 17, at the Deerpath theatre.

The dramatic spectacle of the building of the nation's first trans-continental railroad and the welding of America with bands of steel is brought to the screen by Cecil B. DeMille in "Union Pacific," the most lavish production the famed producer-director has ever attempted. Scheduled to play a return engagement at the Deerpath theatre Saturday, November 18, "Union Pacific" reflects the heroic feat of building the railroad in the experience of two lovers, Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea, who fight the "U.P.'s" battle against financial intrigues, catastrophes of nature and the hostility of Western outlaws and Indian tribes. The stars are supported by a dozen famous screen names, including Akim Tamiroff, Robert Preston, Lynne Overman, Brian Donlevy, Robert Barrat and Anthony Quinn.

When women declare social war anything can happen and it all does, according to reports on "These Glamour Girls," new comedy drama which comes to the Deerpath theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, November 19, 20 and 21.

With a cast studded with stars and a story filled with action and humor, Hal Roach's "Zenobia," a merry comedy romance of the old South, will be shown at the Deerpath theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, November 22 and 23. Among the notable Hollywoodites who take part in the carefree doings of "Zenobia" are Oliver Hardy, Jean Parker, June Lang, Billie Burke, Alice Brady, James Ellison and Harry Langdon.

Margaret Banning to Be Honored at Vassar Club Party

Vassar alumnae have just received news that Margaret Calkin Banning will be in Chicago November 21st, and so the Chicago and North Shore Clubs have planned a luncheon in her honor on that day at the Chicago Athletic Association. Mrs. Banning speaks as entertainingly as she writes, and those who have read her books and articles in national magazines are especially anxious to hear her. The committee in charge have announced that no business will be brought up at this meeting—it will be simply a party honoring one of Vassar's most famous trustees, and members of the two clubs may invite their friends. Harriet Street is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Sylvanus George Lee, president of the Chicago Vassar Club, and Mrs. John Barlow, president of the North Shore Vassar Club, will be hostesses.

Reuben Spangler Is Buried Tuesday

Reuben Spangler, 82, died Sunday morning at the home of his son, Earl K. Spangler, 535 Gray avenue, with whom he had made his home for the past two years. Funeral services were held Tuesday in Chicago, with interment in Oakridge cemetery. His wife and a daughter had preceded him in death.

"Otello" Will Open Fourth Week of Chicago City Opera

Verdi's masterpiece, "Otello," based on the Shakespearian drama, will open the fourth week of the Chicago City Opera company's 1939 season on Monday night, November 20, in the Civic Opera house. Helen Jepson will sing "Desdemona," Giovanni Martinelli will make his first appearance of the season as "Otello," and Carlo Morelli will be the "Iago." Henry Weber is the conductor.

Edith Mason, whose soprano voice is the delight of opera lovers everywhere, returns to the Chicago City Opera company on Wednesday night, November 22, to sing her first "Madame Butterfly" here since the 1934 season. Joseph Bentonelli will sing "Pinkerton," George Czaplicki, "Goro," and Douglas Beattie, "The Bonze." Henry Weber is the conductor.

Hilde Reggiani will repeat her triumphant "Rosina" in the "Barber of Seville" on Thursday night, November 23, with Tito Schipa, a favorite tenor, Carlo Morelli, baritone, and Virgilio Lazzari, basso. This comic opera met with tremendous success in its first performance of this season.

On Friday night, November 24, Kirsten Flagstad makes her first appearance of the season as "Isolde" in "Tristan and Isolde." Giovanni Martinelli, famed for his roles in Italian and French opera, makes his debut as a Wagnerian tenor in this performance, singing the role of "Tristan." Enid Szantho, famous Hungarian mezzo-soprano, George Czaplicki, Douglas Beattie, and Giuseppe Cavadore are all in the cast. Edwin McArthur, Madame Flagstad's famous accompanist who made his debut as an opera conductor here last year, will conduct this performance.

Gladys Swarthout sings her first "Carmen" with the Chicago City Opera company on Saturday afternoon, November 25, to the "Don Jose" of the Polish tenor, Jan Kiepura. Vivian Della Chiesa sings "Micaela," and George Czaplicki, the "Escamillo." Others in the cast are Helen Margolyne, Elizabeth Brown, and Anthony Marlowe. Henry Weber will conduct and the Littlefield Ballet will supply the charming dances.

On Saturday night, November 25, Lily Pons sings her famed "Lucia" in the Civic Opera house, with Tito Schipa as "Edgar." Others in the cast are Louisa Hoe, Carlo Morelli, Virgilio Lazzari, and Anthony Marlowe. Leo Kopp will conduct.
