Administration By ELMORE M. MURPHY Comments

being questioned if he actually knew whether his neighbors wanted the light, Mr. Hirsch agreed with the council that perhaps it would be better to obtain a consensus of the district involved before anything was done.

Before Commissioner Swanson's report was officially closed, discussion of means of eliminating danger of collision at the intersection of Sheridan road and Lambert Tree road was brought before the council. Mayor Ronan stated that this was his personal opinion that it was one of the most dangerous spots in town and that it was his observation that little or no attention was being paid to the stop signs at this point. A lively debate between the council and Chief of Police Moroney ensued on the rigid enforcement of the stop sign laws. Chief Moroney insisted that not one motorist in fifty came to a complete stop at through street intersections. He insisted that the spirit and purpose of the law was complied with if the motorist drifted across the through street at two to five miles per hour after first ascertaining there was no cross traffic. Upon being pressed, the members of the council had to admit they, too, were guilty of this custom.

Commissioner Swanson and City Engineer Cole promised to go into a huddle and see what could be worked out to somewhat alleviate the danger at this crossing. Commissioner Bows reported that the cost of developing the parking place between the Northwestern and North Shore tracks would come to some $3,510 with an annual expense to the city of $200 for upkeep. Considering the present condition of the city treasury, Commissioner Bows stated he did not see how the municipality could bear the brunt of this expense. He stated that he was open to suggestions from both individuals and civic organizations as to how the necessary funds could be raised and that the matter would be gone into further.

The famous Fontana case was again brought up for comment. As readers of this column will no doubt remember, Mr. Fontana is the unhappy purchaser of a piece of property on St. Johns avenue in south Ravinia which he bought for $1,500 from a Mr. Benson who was acting for Mr. Oliver, receiver of the North Shore Trust company. When he sought a permit to build a house on the property he was turned down on the grounds that the lot was short of the required area of 7,620 square feet. Mr. Fontana contends that when he bought the property he was not told by Mr. Benson that it was too small to improve with a house. He was advised at that time by the council to take the matter up with the Appeals Board for special consideration.

At Monday evening's session the council expressed due sympathy with Mr. Fontana's predicament but stated that it was powerless to take action of redress in the matter. Mayor Ronan did, however, instruct Corporation Counsel McKenna to write Mr. Oliver and ask that he take some action in obtaining some sort of a refund for Mr. Fontana. Commissioner Sharp was particularly distressed that such a transaction as the Fontana deal could be consummated in this city and suggested that steps be taken to prevent a recurrence of such an affair.

At the close of the meeting bids from the E. A. Meyer Construction company and the Highland Park Fuel company to take care of surplus ashes and refuse were submitted to the council and placed on file for public inspection by Mayor Ronan. The E. A. Meyer Construction company offered their property on the north side of West Park avenue with proper water facilities for $70 per month. In this bid the city is to assume the responsibility of keeping the dump leveled and in order. The Highland Park Fuel company (Herman Denzel) offered the use of its property on Deerfield road under a five year contract for $85 per month. The bid stipulated that no live garbage was to be accepted and the city was expected to keep the property clean. Water requirements will be taken care of by the bidder.

In taking over this column, the writer pledges to carry on the good work started by the original conductor, Robert C. L. Price. Your reporter also wants the readers of THE HIGHLAND PARK PRESS to feel that he is their official commentator and source of information on council and city affairs. If any reader is desirous of information covered by this field, the writer will be only too happy to oblige him.

Sear's Roebuck's New Store Will Open Tomorrow

livered to the customer's home within 24 hours.

A two car brick service station has been erected at the rear of the store to service the cars of customers purchasing tires, oil, battery and automobile accessories. A two way drive permits easy entrance and exit.

Following Sears usual policy of employing local people whenever possible, the majority of Sears Highland Park store employees are from this vicinity.

Local employes working in the store are: Emil Wiberg, employed by the Meierhoff hardware store for the past 14 years, in charge of paints and paint supplies division; Richard Mansell, division head of washers, ironers, stoves, radios and Goldspot refrigerators; Kenneth Klime, in charge of the sporting goods department; Harold A. Root, Jr., hardware; Luther H. Flint, auto accessories, tires and tubes; Norman D. Ankney, plumbing and heating; and Miss Grace Jacobson, mail order desk.

Other local employes are: Peter A. Chioni, in charge of the automobile service station; and Henry U. Haws will take care of the receiving room. Mrs. Anne Bertucci is audit clerk in the store offices located on the balcony at the rear of the store. W. V. Bowman, newly appointed assistant manager, has recently moved to Highland Park. Thomas Parker, Evanston, has been employed as an estimator and consultant for heating and plumbing jobs.

F. J. McDonough, store manager, has been with Sears, Roebuck and Co. for ten years, starting in the special training division in Chicago. After a period of training in Sears Stores in Chicago, Gary and Joliet, he was made assistant manager of the Joliet store in September 1930. A year later he was transferred to assistant manager of the Oshkosh, Wisconsin store, and in 1933 was promoted as manager of Sears store in Highland Park. In 1935 he was made manager of the store in Manitowish, Wis., but two years later he returned to the Highland Park store.

Residing on Briar lane, Highland Park with his wife and 1 1/2 year old child, Mr. McDonough is an active member in the community affairs of the village. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, serving on the Retail committee, a vice president of the Lions club, vice president of the Highland Park Community Chest, and a director of the Highland Park Social Service.

Under his direction, Sears Highland Park store has twice won the coveted sales contest award given to the store in each district with the finest record for increased sales during the anniversary sales. In 1934 Sears store here won a plaque for first place in this district, and last year it again won the contest, receiving a gold cup.

As the sound of the last carpenter's hammer dies away and the final piece of merchandise is carefully placed on display in preparation for tomorrow's opening, Manager McDonough, breathing a sigh of relief at the hectic three months activity, said, "Little did I think in 1931 that the little corner store carrying a limited line of auto accessories, tires and paints would develop into a store having over four times the space of the original store and carrying a great many more lines of merchandise with a wide selection in each line.

"This tremendous growth and expansion," he said, "is entirely due to the generous patronage of the people in this vicinity. Our new store is a response to the loyal support given us, and it is an endeavor to show our friends our appreciation by offering them a modern, up-to-date store with a large selection of low-priced, quality merchandise. "I wish to thank William S. Ahern, the general contractor, Mr. Vetter of the Vetter Electric Service Co.; E. H. Kuchna, who did the painting and decorating; and Menoni & Moccogni, the excavator and supplier of building materials, and all the local workmen who helped construct the new building for their splendid cooperation."

Mr. McDonough highly praised his store employes who accomplished Herculean labors in operating the old store at the same time they were preparing the new one for the opening.

The store is 50 feet wide and extends back 175 feet to include the brick service station. The establishment has a total of 14,000 square feet of space of which almost 6,000 square feet is devoted to selling. The front of the building, extending west for a half block, has been remodeled to harmonize with the architectural design of Sears new store.

Highland Park is the home of many of Sears, Roebuck and Co. officials. General R. E. Wood, chairman of the board of directors of the company, lives at 182 Laurel avenue. Eugene M. Adler, supervisor of the boys' and men's clothing department lives at 661 Crofton avenue; Edwin E. Tullis, buyer of Goldspot refrigerators, resides at 233 Central avenue; Theodore Uehling, 2277 Lincolnwood road, is in the general merchandise office of the company; and Frederick P. Boynton, Jr., 374 Elm place, is furniture sales manager in the catalog advertising department. The large Rosenwald estate, known to all Highland Park people, was founded by the man largely responsible for the early success of the company.

Unhappy end of the professor's search for inspiration. To write the great American novel, the brilliant English teacher needed an impelling helpmate, so he married a stage star; but their honeymoon in Grand Canyon dwarfed his plans and all that got written was a divorce complaint. He'd "bet his shirt" on anything. Prince of bankrupts loses his final wager at the end of a spectacular career of winning and squandering one fortune after another, and in which his biggest gamble was for a woman's heart. One of many interesting articles in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald-American.
