D.A.R. Member to Tell of Her Hobbies At Meeting March 14

Mrs. Hiram Kennicott, 335 North Linden avenue, assisted by Mrs. Carleton Moseley and Mrs. Marc Law, will be hostess to the North Shore Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution on Thursday, March 14, at 2 o'clock.

"The Art of Weaving," which Mrs. Kennicott has pursued among her many hobbies, will be the subject of her talk which she will illustrate with articles made on her own loom. She will also exhibit examples of her own furniture making, wood carving and sculpture.

Mrs. Lloyd Faxon In Book Review Next Monday P. M.

Mrs. Lloyd Faxon will present another of her interesting book reviews, Monday afternoon, March 11 at two o'clock at the Highland Park Presbyterian church. She will review "The Goodly Fellowship" by Mary Ellen Chase. The Woman's association of the Presbyterian church sponsors these reviews which are open to those interested at a nominal charge.

Deerfield Young Republicans Will Show No Partiality

From all indications the West Deerfield Township Young Republican rally will be a big success. Acceptance from candidates are pouring in. Because the club is determined to live up to its resolution adopted at its last meeting which reads as follows:

"Resolved that the West Deerfield Township Young Republican Club hereby declares its intention and purpose to sponsor no particular candidate in the coming April primary election and that its declared purpose is to promote the principals of the Republican party and to encourage all voters to exercise their voting franchise."

We therefore will refrain from mentioning names of those candidates who will be present. It was our plan to list the names of candidates so they accepted our invitations to speak. However, some people interpreted the listing of several candidates last week to mean we were supporting these candidates. We are supporting no candidates. We believe our duty to the public is to give them the opportunity to see, hear and meet all the candidates so they may make their own choice as to who shall represent them when the primary is over. It was stated in a paper last week that the chairman of the West Deerfield Township Young Republican Club had been interviewed in regard to the candidacy of some of the people running for election. Such was not the case. The chairman wants it definitely understood that he is not available for any interviews.

Troop 324 First Aid Teams Enter Meet At Lake Bluff Mar. 9

This Saturday evening, March 9, at the Lake Bluff Grammar school auditorium, two of Boy Scout Troop 324's three First Aid teams will enter competition with the other Scout units of the North Shore Area council in the annual council Mid-West First Aid meet.

Dr. Hinn

The Blue Team of 324 held the Highland Park city and district Scout First Aid championship in 1938 and 1939, and the Yellow and Red teams were unchallenged for city competition last year.

Dr. George J. Hinn, coach of the Blue team feels his team has a fine chance of winning a position in the meet. Last year they took fourth place and the Yellow and Red teams took eighth and twelfth places respectively. Dr. Hinn has been in Scouting for 13 years, and is now Associate Scoutmaster of Troop 324 and in charge of Health and Safety for that unit. Assistant Scoutmaster Harry E. Skidmore is assistant coach of the team. Scout members of the Blue team are Frank Krohn, captain; Donald Burnham, assistant captain; Wilson Hamilton, Albert Buckmaster, and Bill E. Mann.

The Red team coached by Scoutmaster Dr. Baker M. Hamilton includes Leslie Rankin, captain; James Rankin, assistant captain, and Lewis Hutchison, David Worth and Jack Sneed. Dr. Hinn and Dr. Hamilton are assisted by Troop Committeemen F. F. Krohn, L. A. Rankin and Ray Sneed of Troop 324's Health and Safety committee.

The Aid-O-Ral is being judged by the Kenosha Council Scoutmaster's Red Cross First Aid corps under the direction of Scout Executive Howard A. Gately. The public is invited to attend the meet.

N. Coonsman Hahn Exhibits Sculpture at Community House

Nancy Coonsman Hahn is having a one man show of sculpture in the studio of the North Shore Art League, Community House, Winnetka, opening on Sunday, March 10, at 4:00 with a tea and reception. Among the pieces to be exhibited are some of special interest to residents of the North Shore: a portrait of Mrs. Louis Kuppenheimer of Winnetka, a study of Ann Burnham of Winnetka, who is now attending classes at Wellesley College, two portraits in the round of Tom and Mal Carney, sons of T. J. Carney, president of Sears Roebuck, a portrait of John Thomas Getgood, nephew of George "Skipper" Getgood and portraits in bas relief of Bradford and Phillips Eliot, children of Major and Mrs. A. V. Eliot. The sketch for the Breckenridge Long Fountain exhibited was cast in bronze for his garden in Washington, D. C., where he is assistant secretary of State. One figure shown was made for a fountain in the estate of Arthur Jerrems of Barrington.

Many of the statues are small, intimate glimpses of childhood, warm with the sculptress' true love of children and glowing understanding of them. In all there are 70 pieces of sculpture exhibited as well as many photographs of work in public places.

Mental Stimulus Not Handcrafts Need of Mothers

The recent discussion on "Hobbies" which was given at the Highland Park Woman's club, has aroused a discussion of the need for mental stimulus. A reader of the HIGHLAND PARK PRESS and member of this Woman's organization is expressing her views in the following article.

At a recent meeting of the Woman's club the subject of "Hobbies" was presented by a speaker from Oak Park, who for some time has contributed a special column on this subject to "Oak Leaves." The talk was well planned, interesting. Various handcrafts were suggested as hobbies, but no mention of anything mental.

I happen to be the mother of a family who, up to this point, have absorbed most of my time. Even with the help of one domestic, I have been very busy.

One of my daughters comes home from school and tells me of how much she is getting from a course in English literature. She mentions the old standard authors, quotes from some. The names are familiar, but unfortunately in my school days I was too busy with other subjects to have had a similar course.

Now I long for this opportunity, so that I may converse more intelligently with my daughter. This is only one of the many incidents.

Every day my young people come home with something of interest to discuss. My mind, I hope, is still alert. I would welcome an opportunity for mental stimulus. Of work with the hands, I have sufficient. Are there not many other women, college graduates or otherwise, who are similarly situated? A Member.

He was teaching her arithmetic, he said that was his mission — He kissed her once, he kissed her twice, and said, now that's addition.
He kissed her and she kissed him, in silent satisfaction — then Quickly took the kisses back, and said, now that's subtraction.
Then she kissed him and he kissed her, without much hesitation — Then both looked up and smiling, said, now that is multiplication.
Then dad appeared upon the scene, and made a quick decision: He kicked the lad three blocks away, and said: that's long division.
