"In arranging such a successful forum as this is, there has to be a great deal of time and effort put in by some individuals, and I think it proper to give credit where credit is due. We want you all to have a good time and to that end we have arranged for refreshments of cake and coffee at the end of the meeting. We have had an almost unbelievable spontaneous enthusiasm on the part of various housewives in the community to help furnish the refreshments. Our program and entertainment committee has secured the services of many housewives in the community so that we have had delivered to us gratis forty-one cakes.

"Most of the thanks for the refreshments goes to Mrs. Ray Dobbins and Mr. Edward Jacobson respective chairmen of the program and entertainment committee, and their various committee members, and we all on behalf of the organization and the guests and candidates here, wish to extend to Mrs. Dobbins and Mr. Jacobson our real thanks.

"Furthermore, there had to be many letters written and answered and plans worked out and several of the officers and members of the Young Republican club have given unstintingly of their time and effort in this respect. Our secretary, Mr. John Struthers, our activity chairman, Mr. Alexander and one of our delegates to the Lake County Federation who handled the publicity Mr. Arthur Pearson, and also Mr. Guthrie, Dr. Pope, Gordon Clavey and others, deserve as much or more credit than any of us for the work that has been done.

"We have thirty-four candidates on the platform, and as we have to

"Dental efforts at school may well be credited for a part of this excellent report," said Trustee Pottenger.

Republican Rally In West Deerfield Is a Big Success

They came from all parts of the township and the county to jam the Deerfield Grammar School auditorium. Nothing like this political meeting has ever taken place in the village of Deerfield for a long time. Five hundred people listened intently for two and one-half hours without getting restless while thirty-four candidates briefly told their stories. Mr. William Marks of the Lake County Central committee attended the meeting and gave a very fine talk on the two party system of political government.

The meeting opened with an address by Mr. Erwin Seago, chairman of the West Deerfield Township Young Republican club. In as much as this talk contains much of interest to everybody it is quoted in full as follows:

"On behalf of the West Deerfield Township Young Republican club we welcome you to this rally or forum, which is for the benefit of the citizens and voters of the community, and for the benefit of all candidates seeking election to public office.

"We wish to express our appreciation to the Board of Education and to the officials of the Deerfield Grammar school in helping us and the community and the candidates to come together. The board of education made an exception at this time in throwing the school open for this meeting and the West Deerfield Township Young Republican club has returned the cooperation by more than amply reimbursing the board of education for the necessary costs in opening this room for us, and we hope that the community will join with us in thanking the board of education in this respect.

"There has always been some question in all of our minds as to the real purpose of any so-called young Democratic organization or young Republican organization, but I believe that whatever their other purposes, there is one purpose with which we can all agree, and that is to get the voters out. This is our objective, and in these times as in any other time, it is our ever present obligation to realize the importance and duty of exercising our voting franchise in order to keep a democracy. The West Deerfield Township Young Republican club has consistently taken the position that in this matter it is nonpartisan. To that end we have invited all candidates for public office who will appear on your ballot. Naturally, some of them cannot attend, but we have extended the invitation to all candidates.

As it has been indicated to me it is such an occasion as this that gives a voter the one and real opportunity to see, hear and meet the various candidates and to make his decision.

"We consider our meeting here in the nature of a forum or in the nature of a New England town hall meeting and we trust that you will appreciate our efforts in attempting to bring to you the candidates and to give the various candidates an opportunity to say something to you.

"In arranging such a successful forum as this is, there has to be a great deal of time and effort put in by some individuals, and I think it proper to give credit where credit is due. We want you all to have a good time and to that end we have arranged for refreshments of cake and coffee at the end of the meeting. We have had an almost unbelievable spontaneous enthusiasm on the part of various housewives in the community to help furnish the refreshments. Our program and entertainment committee has secured the services of many housewives in the community so that we have had delivered to us gratis forty-one cakes.

"Most of the thanks for the refreshments goes to Mrs. Ray Dobbins and Mr. Edward Jacobson respective chairmen of the program and entertainment committee, and their various committee members, and we all on behalf of the organization and the guests and candidates here, wish to extend to Mrs. Dobbins and Mr. Jacobson our real thanks.

"Furthermore, there had to be many letters written and answered and plans worked out and several of the officers and members of the Young Republican club have given unstintingly of their time and effort in this respect. Our secretary, Mr. John Struthers, our activity chairman, Mr. Alexander and one of our delegates to the Lake County Federation who handled the publicity Mr. Arthur Pearson, and also Mr. Guthrie, Dr. Pope, Gordon Clavey and others, deserve as much or more credit than any of us for the work that has been done.

"We have thirty-four candidates on the platform, and as we have to watch our time we are going to keep the program moving along.

"For your further entertainment and as an inducement to get a crowd here we have arranged for door prizes. Most of the door prizes have been made possible by donations from candidates. As the name of each candidate is called a name will be drawn from this box and if the person whose name is called will come to the front he or she will receive a two dollar door prize. A final door prize has been arranged, and after the last candidate has talked a name will be drawn and the person whose name is drawn will be asked to come forward and receive this very fine radio.

"We have arranged to introduce the candidates in the inverse order of the importance of their office, or in the reverse order that they appear on your ballot. Accordingly, we will start with your local precinct committeemen and end with a representative of the candidate for present of the United States.

"Further, to carry out our purpose of non-partisanship the candidates will be called upon in alphabetical order. For reasons too numerous to mention the chair will do nothing more than introduce each candidate by name and office sought."

At the conclusion of this address Mr. Erwin Seago proceeded to introduce the candidates. The smoothness with which the thirty-four candidates were presented stands as a world's record.

Three principal lines of argument are advanced — that the Trade Agreements Program should be kept (1) to promote national prosperity, (2) to promote scientific tariff-making, (3) to promote world peace.

On the prosperity front, the statement is that year after year prosperity is threatened with surpluses of farm and factory. Two ways have been employed by the federal government to solve the problem of the surpluses; reciprocal trade agreements to increase foreign markets, and controlled production and marketing. We quote:

"If new markets cannot be found for United States surpluses the number and variety of government restrictions on private production will probably increase."

"Foreign trade not only benefits producers whose goods are exported, but it improves domestic markets."

"National prosperity and foreign trade go hand in hand, and both have increased since the Trade Agreements Program was initiated. Since 1934 both foreign trade and the national income have increased by about one-fourth."

The Tariff Act of 1930 is used as an illustration of the illogical and wasteful process of unscientific tariff-making. This Act represented a year and a half of work by Congress, with 3,300 products involved, several hundred witnesses heard, proceedings filling 22 volumes, and in the end a reluctant signature from President Hoover who said, "a more scientific and business-like method of tariff revision must be devised."

"For the first time in the history of the United States," the fier comments, "a method of scientifically adjusting tariffs has proved successful. The Trade Agreements Program eliminates 'log-rolling' and minimizes vicious lobbying by special interests, in order that the general national interest may prevail."

As to world peace, the reasoning is that the raising of tariff walls causes nations to extend boundaries to get materials and markets. The fier concludes: "In a warring world, the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program should continue to operate in order to promote peaceful economic relations wherever possible. When wars abroad end, the Program should be ready to contribute to the rehabilitation of sane trade relations among all nations as a foundation for enduring peace."

Miss Bernice Isbit Harpist to Appear At Deerfield Vesper

The Bethlehem Evangelical church, 815 Rosemary terrace, announces that for the next vesper service to be held Sunday afternoon, April 7, they have been very fortunate in being able to secure Miss Bernice Isbit, harpist of the Northwestern University Symphony orchestra, to present a half hour musical program on the harp.
