

Spring Party May 3 At Evanston Country Club, Benefit Affair

One of the most important benefit parties of the Spring season will be the dessert-bridge and fashion show which the Alumnae of Northwestern university will hold at the Country Club of Evanston on Friday afternoon, May 3, at 1:30. Proceeds will be added to the furnishing fund for the Associate Alumnae room in Scott Hall.

Plans were formulated last week when Mrs. Paul S. Cummins, general chairman of the affair, entertained the committee chairmen at tea at her home in Evanston. Mrs. Thomas B. Singleton of Glencoe is president of the Associate Alumnae. A book review by Mrs. James S. Harvey, one of Evanston's favorite entertainers, who is an alumna of the College of Liberal Arts and of the School of Speech of the university, will be the attraction for non-bridge players. The book review and bridge games will follow the style show.

Some of the most glamorous of Northwestern's girls will model in the fashion show which is being planned by Mrs. James L. Allen of Highland Park. Three bridal parties will climax a showing of sport clothes, afternoon and evening gowns.

Mrs. Herbert E. Mueller is organizing a large ticket committee this week. Mrs. Richard G. Breeden heads the patroness committee; Mrs. Paul L. Morrison will select prizes; Mrs. Hubert L. Hardy is in charge of club house arrangements; and Mrs. Robert C. Suhr will supervise bridge arrangements. Mrs. William Soule heads the refreshment committee.

Money to Spend But Nobody to Take It

In 1829 an Illinois traveler with $1.00 in his possession received board and lodging during part of his journey because no one could change his money.

An account noted by the Illinois Writers' Project, W.P.A., says that he came down the river from Galena to Quincy in a skiff, and from there set out on foot for his home in Edwardsville. He travelled as far as Carrolton in Greene county before he found a person with enough money "to break" his dollar.

Another early traveler who had settled in Adams county in 1829 once related that he had made the round trip from Quincy to a point in Kentucky on 75 cents, "and didn't sponge or beg."

Though a comedy, this play presents a universal problem—to wit: Is it possible to live one's social life entirely divorced from and completely disregarding one's husband's business? The Sisterhood invites everyone in the North Shore Community to hear Mrs. Kuper present and solve this pertinent problem. Everyone is invited to remain for tea and the social hour following the reading. There will be a nominal charge.

Large Draft Leave Training Station For Duty at Sea

According to the statement of Rear Admiral W. C. Watts, Commandant of the 9th Naval District, the largest draft of men to leave the United States Naval Training station at Great Lakes since the days of the last war will depart Saturday, March 23. Six hundred sixty young men, all recruits, will entrain at the Chicago and Northwestern siding at the training station. Two complete 14 car trains will be spotted early in the day and will depart at 3:15 and 3:45 p.m.

Having completed their recruit training under the command of Admiral Watts, the sailors leave the serenity of the midwest for the fleet and their first taste of salt spray. Most of them have never seen the sea and their new assignment to deep water will be approached with mingled anticipation and apprehension.

Eight to 10 weeks of intensive instruction and shake-down training at Great Lakes has equipped each man with elementary knowledge of his duties in the service. He has gained a very definite idea of discipline and regulations. His assignment to the fleet will give him additional opportunities for training where he can equip himself further to accept the responsibilities and do his share to uphold the traditions of the Nation's first line of defense, the U. S. Navy.
