Subdivision Asks Detachment from Wilmot District

Woodland Park, a subdivision in the northwest part of Deerfield, just south of the village of Bannockburn, is not satisfied with the Wilmot school, as evidenced by a petition signed by 35 persons, which is reported to be two-thirds of the legal voters of that locality, and their request is that they be detached from district 110 (Wilmot school) and annexed to district 106 (Bannockburn). The petition, bearing the 35 typed signatures, is signed by Clara Armstrong. It was presented to Christ Willman, of the Wilmot board of directors on Monday evening in the Deerfield Bowling Academy.

The petition will be turned over to school treasurer, William Dooley for action by the school trustees who are Henry Siljestrom and Herbert Lautmann of Highland Park and Ralph Peterson of Deerfield.

At one time all of Bannockburn was a part of the Wilmot school district and by their separation one-fourth of the school income was taken away. This new petition, if granted, will take away more revenue from the Wilmot school. Their reason for asking to be detached is that Bannockburn offers better facilities.

Deerfield Mayor Told to Cancel Tavern License

At a hearing before the State Liquor Control Commission on Thursday morning in Chicago, Mayor Willman was instructed to cancel one of the tavern licenses, and they recommended that the newest tavern be eliminated, in order to comply with the Deerfield liquor ordinance which allows but two taverns. The commission promised the village board of trustees and the village attorney the fullest cooperation in seeing that the village ordinance was upheld. A formal order is being sent to Deerfield by the commission this week, one to Mayor C. M. Willman and one to Attorney M. O. Olson.

The three tavern owners, Richard Kress, Cassius Easton and George Sticken, appeared at the hearing and heard the verdict that the village board had the right to limit the number of taverns, but that the Mayor, by virtue of his office, may select which two are to remain. However, as he had over-issued the licenses the commission instructed him to revoke the license of the newest tavern.

It is anticipated that a special meeting will be held shortly on the tavern question.

Deerfield Reduces Junk Dealers Fees

Reduction of junk peddlers' licenses from $50 per year to $15 was voted at the last meeting of the Deerfield Village Board and the ordinance is being changed for the lowered rate. The high license kept all junk dealers from Deerfield and many residents have complained that they were unable to dispose of junk and papers. The fee for the remainder of 1940 will be $5.00. Every dealer coming into the village for the day must report to the local police each day that he is here. Mrs. Florence Page Stryker, village collector, states that as yet no junk dealers have applied for licenses.
