Offer Diversified Entertainment For Women's Club Groups

In addition to the general program for this year announced by the Highland Park Woman's club last week, the departments of the club are offering the members many additionally interesting and instructive hours.

Fine Arts Department The Fine Arts department again has the leadership of Mrs. Bennett K. Goodman, chairman; Mrs. Wilford C. Shipnes, vice-chairman and Mrs. Wilson L. Kline secretary and treasurer.

The morning of November 5 at 10 o'clock Mrs. Bentley F. Ramsdell will give a talk on "The Charm of Early Pennsylvania Handicraft";

Mrs. M. Cornelia Stone will lecture on "Early American Weaving" on Dec. 3; On January 7 "English Porcelain and Staffordshire Figurines" by Catherine Gordon Balmer;

The full programs of the other groups of the Fine Arts department, while matured, are not quite ready for announcement. The Art group, which last year brought a most interesting show to the club in the collected works of many Lake County artists, associated in the Lake County Art league, has announced that a different group of paintings will be hung each month in the club house.

Mrs. Robert M. Jeffries, chairman of the Drama group, promises the club her usual talented program. The only performance ready for announcement so far by Mrs. Jeffries is a dramatic reading by Hope Summers on November 5.

Mrs. Herman Zischke, chairman of the Book Review group, and Mrs. Eugene F. Englehard, chairman of the Music group will announce their programs shortly.

Home and Education Department The Home and Education department is headed by Mrs. Baker A. Hamilton this year who is well versed in the ways of this important department, having served as vice-chairman for several years previously.

One of the outstanding events sponsored by the Education group with Mrs. Mason Smith, chairman, and Mrs. Herbert R. Smith as vice-chairman, is an all day's outing on October 25. The morning will be spent by a conducted tour of Oriental institute beginning at 10 o'clock followed by luncheon at the International house of the University of Chicago, then the afternoon will end with a visit to the Harding museum.

The Home and Education department will conduct a special hand-work instruction class at 1 o'clock November 7 followed by a talk on "Flags that Have Flown Over America" by Mrs. Erastus Phelps. On January 14 is a Kensington tea and on February 11, Mrs. Sylvanus J. Lee will speak on "Color Co-ordination, Traditional, Colonial, and Modern."

The Civics group headed by its chairman, Mrs. Ben Buckmaster and its vice-chairman, Mrs. Mark Brown; the Legislation group with Mrs. Paul Behanna, chairman and Mrs. William V. Briddle, vice-chairman; the Radio group under the direction of Mrs. Jess Halsted, chairman and Mrs. Ellery Harvey, vice-chairman; the Home group under Mrs. Robert Timm assisted by Mrs. Charles F. Baker; all with their committees are contributing to the board activities of the Home and Education department.

The energetic Garden class, a division of the Home and Education department, has already sponsored its annual barbecue at the home of Mrs. O. R. Hogue on September 24. This social occasion, which launched the Fall season of the Garden class, kept the business of its members interestingly before them by having a display of floral arrangements for which ribbons were awarded according to merit.

Games were played by the 40 members attending. Among the absorbing events for the year planned by the Garden committee, headed by Mrs. O. Lawrence Olesen, chairman and Mrs. William Guyot, vice-chairman, is a lecture on Oct. 22 by Mr. Rudolph Mohr of the Garfield Park Conservatory. His subject will be "The Distribution of the Orchid" which is to be followed by a tour of the conservatory in November when the chrysanthemums are at their best.

Social Service Department The Social Service department committee, which is Mrs. Grover Q. Grady, chairman; Mrs. Raymond Flinn, vice-chairman and Mrs. Claburn E. Jones secretary, is planning a charity ball for late November. The funds earned by the ball, as well as one-tenth of all club dues, go to philanthropy and are apportioned by this committee.

Some of the administrative standing committees are also planning social events. The Finance committee, Mrs. Arthur H. Swanson, chairman, will have a rummage sale at the club house on Thursday, October 24, and is giving a benefit bridge party on November 12. The proceeds will be applied to reducing the small indebtedness remaining on the club building. The Social committee, Mrs. Tom Leeming, chairman, will have a bridge luncheon after New Years.

Other administrative standing committees are: hospitality, chairman, Mrs. A. L. Berg; House and Grounds committee and Furnishings committee with Mrs. Carl T. Anderson and Mrs. George B. Dana, respectively, as chairmen. The Budget committee and the Press and Publicity committee with Mrs. Edwin F. Richardson Murphy, chairman of the former and Mrs. Frederick Olmsted Toof, chairman of the latter; Revisions committee, Mrs. Harry G. Pertz, chairman; Year Book, Mrs. Deforest S. Colburn, chairman; Program, Mrs. David T. Sanders, chairman; Elections, Mrs. Deforest S. Colburn, chairman. Mrs. Herbert R. Smith is board member without portfolio.

Murray, president; Mrs. James A. Davis, 1st vice-president; Mrs. C. Eugene Pfister, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Tom Leeming, recording secretary; Mrs. Deforest S. Colburn, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Karl E. Wagner, treasurer and Mrs. Lyle W. Maley, financial secretary.
