CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Probation After Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 27.

The Golden Text was, "Let us not be weary in well doing; for in due season we shall reap. If we faint not" (Galatians 6:9).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures; and that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve: After that, he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once" (1 Corinthians 15:3-6).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus unchanged physical condition after what seemed to be death was followed by his exaltation above all material conditions; and this exaltation explained his ascension, and revealed unmistakably a probationary and progressive state beyond the grave" (p. 46).

LIBRARY

The "Ten years ago" item in the last week's issue of THE PRESS calls attention to the fact that a decade has passed since the laying of the corner stone of the present library building. The ceremony took place at 11 o'clock on the morning of October 24, 1930 and was attended by special guests, city officials, and delegations of school children.

The corner stone was fitted with a new copper box containing copies of the two Highland Park papers, histories and year books of the D.A.R., Ossoli club, Highland Park Womans club, and Ravinia Womans club, annual reports of the library and the banks, copies of school papers, colored pictures of other Highland Park buildings and many other valuable records. This new box was placed beside the corner stone box from the old building, still unopened.

The speeches at the ceremony gave the background for the new building which had first been talked of in 1914 but postponed because of the war. In 1927 the architects were consulted for the purpose of remodeling the old building but those plans were abandoned as impractical for such a rapidly growing community, and plans for a new structure were made.

Mr. Garnett, the present president of the library board, speaking at the ceremony as chairman of the building committee and vice-president of the library board, said that the new building was planned for a potential population of 30,000 and a book collection of 75,000 volumes. Present day figures show that the library board was right to plan for expansion for the 1940 census gives Highland Park the population of 14,332 and the book collection numbers 35,000 volumes.

While the library has expanded its book collection as well as its services to the public in many ways, the words of Mr. Garnett in the ceremony still hold true: "We wish you to know that this is your building. It is not the property of the staff or the board of trustees. It is being built with your money; the taxpayers money. If you are of Highland Park the library is yours. It must serve all ages and all classes and degrees of intelligence." The library board, the librarian, and her staff extend to each of you a cordial invitation to make use of the facilities offered at the Highland Park Public Library.
