TOLERANCE

Sometimes it seems as though we need less tolerance, less kindness.

Some of us go through the world putting up with things we don't like, giving the best that is in us to help others in their progress and growth. We sacrifice at our own expense for their benefit, in return for which we receive only abuse. These things we do rather than become disliked or conspicuous by protesting.

We try the other fellow's feelings as long as we can. When we can stand the strain no longer we make quite a vigorous assault. The assault is met by reproach, and we are branded

If conditions were met truthfully each time, tolerance would not be expended, and many of the unpleasant episodes which occur in life would be avoided, and we would not be forced to be less diplomatic and more dishonest.

kins' the size of apples from mashed, seasoned sweet potatoes, Baste in oven with syrup. Serve around Certified Tender Made Ham.

2 loaves stale bread minced onion

1 pound Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage (broken into small pieces and browned lightly)

1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 pound Clear Brook Butter

Remove crusts. Cut bread into 1-inch cubes. Cut butter into 14 inch dice. Toss ingredients together lightly. Enough stuffing for the average fifteen-pound turkey.

WHY DOES A SCOTCHMAN PREFER CERTIFIED TENDER MADE HAM?

Because it shrinks so little you get about 25% more ham to serve than with ordinary ham. And remember only Wilson & Co. makes Tender Made Ham.

Have your dealer cut thick, juicy center steaks from your ham and reserve for broiling. Fasten the butt and shank ends together with skewers and heat and glaze as you would a whole ham. You can buy a whole, half or family size Tender Made Ham in tins ready to eat or heat in double boiler on top burner while turkey roasts in the oven. And here are the rest of your week-end meals:

Thanksgiving Supper . . . Cold Platter of Ham 'n' Turkey Friday Dinner . . . Scalloped Turkey 'n' Ham

Saturday Dinner ...

Turkey Pie Sunday Dinner . . . Broiled Center Slices of Ham P.S... And delicious ham left-overs for lunches and suppers.

TO TELL IF TURKEY'S DONE If drumstick moves easily, turkey is done. Don't prick breast! To make sure of tender fowl, insist on a Certified Turkey or Chicken.
