The petition estimated the estate of $75,000 personal property. The widow, Mrs. Mary Merritt Easton, of 1875 Groveland ave., Highland Park, a brother, Wallace Easton of Everett, Mass., and five nieces and nephews are named in the petition as heirs of the estate.

Happy life sentence for the gentleman bandit. When the prison gates opened this time to free the dashing real-life "Raffles," he didn't rush back into crime but married the girl who waited all those years believing he was just a fool—not a villain. Read of this unique romance in the American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Chicago Herald-American.

Deerfield Bethel Variety Show To Be Held Friday

"Coming Attractions of 1941" is the title of the second annual variety show sponsored by Deerfield Bethel, No. 56, O. J. D. The curtain will rise at eight p.m. with a host of young singing, dancing and instrumental artists performing in back of the "limelights" of the Deerfield Grammar school auditorium.

The show takes place on a stage set for rehearsal. The distraught producer has just had his original cast walk out the day before the premiere. In the producer's hour of need Ted Scanlon, as master of ceremonies, asks an audition for his troupe. The show is the "smash hit" of the season and saves the day.

Among the many brilliant acts of this show is a clever skit by several members of the Lake Forest College Dramatic class. The singing stars of the production have a repertoire of many popular, semi-classical and ballad selections. Other artists will do unusual instrumental capers. The cast will be accompanied by a well known local band and featured pianist.

A large audience is anticipated. Everybody is welcome! The proceeds will go to the charity and educational work of the Order of Job's Daughters.

Initiation rites were performed for the induction of five candidates into Job's Daughters, on last Wednesday evening in the Deerfield Masonic Temple. Betty Van-de-Velden was received as a member of Deerfield Bethel and the others as Daughters of Waukegan Bethel, U. D. Miss Winifred Root, honorad queen, was assisted in the ceremony by officers of Deerfield and Jefferson Park Bethels. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Edward Bingham (Clara Pyle), Mrs. Ray D. Reeds (Irene Hutchison) and Mrs. Roy Hutchison (Laura Flettcher) of Chicago were guests at a bridge luncheon last Friday at the home of Mrs. Alex Willman. All are former Deerfield girls.

British War Relief Seeks Equipment For "Home Guards"

Those of us who were fortunate enough to hear J. C. K. Marshall speak at the Bannockburn school learned of the "Home Guards," a civilian organization whose name is self-explanatory. This most necessary group is badly in need of equipment, particularly tin hats.

We remember that, among other things, many of the "Yanks" of the A.E.F. brought home "tin derbies" as souvenirs of the last war. If there are any of those whose owners have no further use for them or who wish to donate them to a very good cause, the shop will be glad to receive and re-paint them and to pack them off to the "Home Guards" whose need of them is urgent. We understand about 20 out of every 60 men have them. Perhaps the Legion members can give us a hand in this.

We are also requested to ask for beach or air mattresses or pillows for use in air raid shelters. These do not take up much room and are easily packed. We would like to get our boxes packed and shipped before Christmas. Mrs. Emil Zettler was greatly pleased at the response to her call for warm clothing. Many excellent articles were given us and we hope many more of the same will be forthcoming. Shoes are in demand.

Mrs. Zettler is calling a meeting of the Clothes Collection committee on Friday at 10 a.m. at the shop.

Mrs. Bruce Mateer advises that doughnuts will be on sale at the store on Mondays and Thursdays. These are of a particularly delectable kind, with an assortment of frostings, or plain, to suit your taste.

The proceeds will, of course, go to the War Relief. Mrs. Friedel Fuller's group of "knitters" is growing rapidly. We are indebted to Mrs. Wm. Alexander for our attractive window display, and to Mrs. J. P. Condon, for her painting of the British insignia which hangs in the shop.

Don't forget the store is next door to the post office. The telephone is Deerfield 580.

If you have something to give us and cannot bring it in personally call 580 and a car will pick up your donation.

Grace Nosek, publicity.
