along on a much smaller force.

For the sake of the record, Commissioner Sharp wanted it made clear that in his opinion Mr. Lewis had misconstrued the intention of the press in its critical comments. The press, he stated, was simply reporting the discussion of the matter as it arose at the regular council meetings.

Commissioner Sharp, in this writer's opinion stated the case for the press to the proverbial "it." The criticism appearing in this column was simply a reflection of the attitude of the council, and as a matter of fact, of the police department, itself.

Again, this writer feels that a city of 15,000 population in a non-metropolitan part of the state cannot be accurately compared with a so-called commuter city like Highland Park adjacent to a densely populated area such as the city of Chicago. Highland Park has problems involving traffic and all the troubles associated with the dense movement of population not usually connected with a city of twice its size in any other section of the state. We grant that the expansion of the police department is a subject that merits wholehearted and wide discussion before any definite action is stated but we beg to point out to Mr. Lewis that the question is not as one sided as his communication to the council would make it appear.

Commissioner Swanson again brought out the lamentable fact that much of the equipment in his department, like the fabled one horse shay, is ready to collapse at a moment's notice, and in substantiation of this statement cited one or two cases of embarrassing breakdowns. It was unanimously agreed by the council that something would shortly have to be done about remedying this situation.

After adjournment Commissioner Swanson introduced Mr. Madden of the Midwest Tree Service Co. of Elkhorn, Wisconsin, who addressed the council on the advantages of employing a private tree service company to preserve the city's ailing trees. He stated that in municipal work his organization could do the job much cheaper and more efficiently than the city could. The council was favorably impressed by Mr. Madden's remarks and instructed him to submit his proposition in writing for possible future action.

"Christianity or Chaos" Vanderbilt Tells Womans Club

Urging American unity behind a giant and speeded up defense program, now that the elections are over, Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. talked in dramatic terms to a record attendance at the Highland Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.

Park Woman's club on Tuesday afternoon. He said "I am often asked if America is going to join this war. My answer is based upon my evaluation of Hitler's extraordinary intentions and the genius of his ability gained through my 44 interviews with him in the last 15 years for newspapers and magazine articles. My answer is we are not going to this war any more than Finland, Poland or Norway went to war. This war is coming to us, to these shores, brought here by the Axis as soon as it can defeat England. The only thing that will keep them from invading America is defeat. They think they can over-run these United States in a short time, principally by terrorists within our borders and through the establishment of South American and Mexican bases, many of which are already in existence.

The greatest armed might the world has seen is now dedicated against Christianity; the Axis powers and their subservient allies represent a force so large, so vast and so well directed that, with all the aid we can give Britain and her few allies, the war is destined to be long enduring and heart breaking before it ends, Mr. Vanderbilt said.

Germany and her allies will never be easily set back, he also stated, with the possible exception of Italy. Serious blows to Italy might cause the people's natural dislike of war to become upper most. He foresees a time not far distant when Italy might revert to a monarchy, with this kind of State and their beloved church placed on the highest plane these have enjoyed for some time.

Mr. Vanderbilt opened and closed his address by stating, "we are facing Christianity or Chaos." Outlining the implications of Nazism as destructive of democracy and christianity alike, Mr. Vanderbilt drew the moral that if these crash under the iron fist of the new ideology, it would be a chaos for the United States and other democracies who had so long been accustomed in their daily routine thoughtlessly and automatically to work and live in the calm shelter of these gentle, protective twins. Mr. Vanderbilt urged ever greater speed in rearmament and other protective measures such as better F.B.I. supervision of our borders.

The two most interesting men Mr. Vanderbilt has interviewed, he says, are Stalin and Pope Pius. Incongruous as it may seem, Mr. Vanderbilt admitted, they, the great diplomat and Christian and the man of steel and asserted infidel, have strangely alike ideas in their fundamental hope for mankind's ultimate social end. Mr. Vanderbilt was quite conscious of their sharp differences, too, and pointed out that even as he spoke, Japan was possibly withdrawing from the northern take it as well as all of Finland under a probable agreement with Germany; all in accord as to the eventual division of the world among them—carrying the turkey. "Christianity or chaos," Mr. Vanderbilt again warned his audience.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Released November 22, 1940 Services will be held in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Thanksgiving Day. The services include the reading of the Proclamation of the President of the United States, and a period devoted to testimonies of gratitude by members of the congregation. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Thanksgiving."

The Golden Text, "Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness" (Psalms 97:12). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Praise ye the Lord, O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever" (Psalms 106:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "We admit theoretically that God is good, omnipotent, omnipresent, infinite, and then we try to give information to this infinite Mind. We plead for unmerited pardon and for a liberal outpouring of benefactions. Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech" (p. 3).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 17. The Golden Text was, "He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal" (John 12:25).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and if it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal man was and is God's image of idea, even the infinite expression of infinite Mind, and immortal man is co-existent and co-eternal with that Mind. Immortal man is not and never was material, but always spiritual and eternal" (p. 336).

"Birds of a Feather"—: Yes, and they'll be flying together, these United Air Lines stewardesses and their turkeys, on both Thanksgiving Days. The only catch as far as the turkeys are concerned is that they'll be part of the Thanksgiving menu aboard the planes. Because some of the states which United serves are observing the Thanksgiving holiday on November 21st and others on November 28th, the airline will serve turkey on both days. The young ladies, who hand-picked their birds, are (from left) Eleanor Miller, Ellen McGowen, Roseann Sedlock, Sylvia Van Antwerp, Josephine Dargis, Teresa McCarthy and Mildred Askew, all of United's Chicago-New York-Pacific Coast route.
