A Safe Bet

Milton Smith had drowned in the river, and a policeman was sent to his home to break the news to his wife.

"Don't scare her to death," his superior officer warned.

So the officer wended his way to the Smith home and knocked on the door. When Mrs. Smith answered, the visitor said:

"Is this where Widow Smith lives?"

"I am Mrs. Smith," said the woman, "but I am not a widow."

And the caller said simply: "What will you bet?"

Killed his four grandsons with kindness. The grandfather's will did everything possible to make them healthy, wealthy and wise, but instead they burned the candle at both ends and raced from boyhood to the grave. Read this interesting article in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

N. W. Settlement Meets

The Northwestern Settlement will meet at the home of Mrs. Howard F. Detmer, 555 Bob O' Link road, Wednesday, December 4, at 1 o'clock. This is always a very popular meeting as the group always fills stockings for the Settlement children for Christmas.

Hunter's Pride

Bill (as he caught up with Gus on the way back to camp); "Gus, are all the other boys out of the woods yet?"

Gus: "Yes."

Bill: "All six of them?"

Gus: "Yes, all six of them."

Bill: "And they are all safe?"

Gus: "Yes, they are all safe."

Bill (chest swelling): "Then, I've shot a deer!"
