"NO FUN"

"DOING the washing at home is never any fun, is it? But right now, when we are in the depth of wintry weather, it is actually dangerous, particularly when hanging clothes out to dry. It is dangerous to your health, and bad for the clothes."

1. In going from a warm, damp basement or kitchen to the cold outdoors, you run the risk of chills and doctor's bills.
2. You invite chapped face and hands; you sap your disposition and your strength.
3. Wet clothes hung out-of-doors now get covered with soot that dirties them again, and without the bleaching effect of sunlight they become gray and dull.
4. Cold, stiff-dried linens are harder to iron and take longer to do in winter. Ironing is the most tedious labor of all.
5. You lose at least a full day from the things you really want to do.

"Why not let us take this work and danger off your hands. In our Family Finish Service, we wash carefully to retain the pure whiteness and gleaming color of your linens and apparel; we take care of all the ironing—the mending, button-sewing and darning, too. May I take your bundle now?"
