ATTEND VASSAR CLUB MEETING

Following a 12:30 luncheon on Tuesday, March 18 at the Arts club, the Chicago Vassar club had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Scott McKeown talk about the "Valley Vagabonds."

As Nancy Wolcott, she was one of the group of eight girls at Vassar college who last year organized this amateur theatre group.

After three years in the Experimental theatre at Vassar college, under the direction of Mrs. Hallie Flanagan formerly national director of the Federal theatre. This group of eight girls formed a company and last summer trouped up and down the Hudson valley between New York and the Lake George region in the Adirondacks with the idea of stimulating interest, among the people of the Hudson valley, in their own historic background and regional drama.

The group had access to the state records at Albany for authentic documents, and from these they wrote their own plays and, in fact, the entire production was their own all the way through.

Many times they had the interesting experience of playing to the descendants of the people from whose lives they had drawn the incidents they dramatized.

Among those who had reservations were: Mrs. Carl Bingham, (H. P.), Mrs. Evertt Van Nice, Mrs. Spencer Keare (H.P.), Mrs. Lawrence Y. Crump, Miss Mary Louise Burgess, Miss Kathleen Kelly, Miss Patricia Wilson.
