

H.P. Hospital Gets Modern Equipment

Install Cylinder Washer, Extractor, and Dumb Waiter. Invite Inspection

Within the past few weeks the Highland Park Hospital has replaced three pieces of out-worn equipment with new and modern machinery. A washing machine, in operation since the hospital was built, finally wore itself out through 23 years of daily use. Now installed is a large double compartment cylinder washer. It has a direct-drive which eliminates overhead shafting and pulleys, and is of larger capacity than the one it supplants. An extractor has likewise been installed to take the place of the out-dated, uneconomical extractor formerly used. These new machines are of 40 per cent more capacity than the old and operate much more efficiently. The increased occupancy of the hospital with its attendant increase in laundry work make these two installations doubly important.

A new automatic dumb waiter, installed by Otis Elevator Company connects the kitchen on Level A with the diet kitchens on the first and second floors. The transportation of food is expedited by this modern, mechanical waiter. A hand-operated, 23-year-old dumb waiter, has been displaced.

You are cordially invited to visit your hospital from time to time. Inspect this and other new equipment which has been added in recent years. Miss Marjorie Ibsen, Superintendent, will arrange for your inspection. The Board of Trustees urges you to become acquainted with the modern facilities here maintained for your use.

Women Voters League Study Foreign Policy

With foreign affairs so spot-lighted these days, the Highland Park League of Women Voters will devote its regular monthly meeting day—Wednesday, April 16, at 1:30, at the Y.W.C.A.—to discussing the study program of the Department of Government and Foreign Policy. Mrs. Louis Haller, head of the department, will conduct the meeting with discussion covering the United States' responsibility in world affairs, mistakes made after the last war and reasons for the U. S. assuming leadership after this one, problems faced in world cooperation for peace and, finally, should the Department of Government and Foreign Policy change or modify its program in view of the world crisis.

Mrs. Walter Laves, past president of the Hyde Park League, will handle one aspect of the discussion. She is the wife of Prof. Walter Laves of the University of Chicago's Political Science Department, who so successfully spoke at the annual League meeting last year. He has been heard by many when he has participated in the University of Chicago Round Table of the Air.

The other departments of the League will be recognized this month by having separate days devoted to their respective programs. On Monday, April 14, Leaguers should go to the Highland Park Library at 1:30 to hear Mrs. Lee Supple leading the discussion on the Department of Economic Welfare's program, with particular emphasis on milk, housing, and consumer's interests. Then on Wednesday, April 23, Mrs. Marc Law will not only open her notebook to lead the discussion on the subject of "15,000 Taxing Units and Their Elections and Officers," but also opens her home at 27 N. Linden Ave. at 10:30 a.m. She will serve coffee to those bringing sandwiches, and continue the meeting following luncheon.

Hospital Provides Examining Rooms

For the past several weeks the Highland Park Hospital has been cooperating with the doctors of the local draft board by providing examining rooms for draftees. To date 85 young men, all from the full south portion of Lake County, have had their examinations at the hospital. A week ago last Sunday, 30 were examined; on Wednesday, April 2, 15 were taken care of, and last Sunday, 40 more draftees were examined. Drs. G. Q. Grady, J. H. Lundstrom, C. R. Sugden, and W. L. Winters comprise the group of examining physicians.

The Hospital is glad to place its facilities at the disposal of these physicians and the young men who are candidates for defense training, and provide another important community use of the institution.

The Center was opened Saturday for the enlisted men of the post, and the officers were invited on the preceding day to inspect the club rooms, and the various activities that have been planned for the young soldiers. It is being maintained by the Highwood Defense Commission, headed by Dr. N. C. Risjord.
