The Board of Health recommends that all parents instruct their children so that they are able to recognize this plant growth, and to cooperate further in locally destroying as much of the growing ivy as possible.

The city attempts to destroy all poison ivy on city property, but the greatest bulk must be handled by private property owners, particularly of vacant lots, as a civic and humanitarian duty.

Young Man About Town

By WHITT N. SCHULTZ

At a Ravinia Festival

8:15 p.m.—Long, black, sleek limousines slowly pulling up to the East gate... Ladies in formals... Orchids pretentiously drooping from fur jackets... A vivid cross section of the people of Chicago and the North Shore... Women in slacks—of all places for a woman not to appear in those ugly things!... Sub and post-debutantes... Photographers... Society writers... Sailors... Ensigns... Army men... Ministers... Crew hair cuts... Bow tires... Eastern accents... The fragrance of lovely flowers... Picturesque settings... Everyone looking at everyone else... Critics Edward Barry, Cecil Smith and Claudia Cassidy... 8:30 p.m. ... SILENCE—Sir Thomas Deecham conducts... Intense, audible leading... Beautiful music under the stars... Persistent applause... INTERMISSION... Fleeting glances... Listeners making their way to the Refectory... Mrs. Green instructing her capable assistants... Sports-announcer, Bob Elson... Mrs. Charles W. Jones and daughter, Carol... Kieth Shay... Ted Ruwitch... Strikingly attractive Marjorie MacDonald... Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Burwell... Lady Cunard... Refugee children... Pat Lewis... Mr. and Mrs. Leon F. Harris... Red-haired Dick Hirsch... Coke bottles... Marilyn Lautmann wearing an Aid-To-Britain button... Louise Lyman and Robin Gourley... Regular concert-goers, the James O. Clarkes... Rosemary Schiff... The incessant hammering of typewriters in the Press room... The telegraphers wiring in the music criticisms... Mr. and Mrs. David Levinson and eldest son, John... THE BUGLER... The listeners reconvening... SILENCE... The finest of music... Gate-man Tom Simpson listening intently to Selections from Carmen... Stately Mr. Lowrie unobtrusively surveying everything... The last selection... Thousands up in applause... The nervous chatter as the music lovers leave the park: "Isn't that a gorgeous formal?"... "Weren't those Carmen selections beautiful?"... "Sir Thomas got five curtain calls!"... "Over 4800 people were here tonight!"... etc. ... Tranquility again... The moon shines brightly through the trees... The crickets, inspired, chirp louder than before... The last sleek limousine has pulled away... And another gay evening of beautiful music under the stars ends.
