Superintendent of the Water Works, George P. Prindle, Explains Fort Sheridan Sewage Situation-Engineer Cole Reviews Status of Green Bay Road Improvement by ELMORE M. MURPHY

With Mayor Ronan away in Buffalo attending the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police with Chief Rex Andrews, the chairmanship of Monday evening's City Council was taken up by Commissioner Sharp who served as Acting Mayor,

It was unfortunate that Mayor Ronan was absent at this week's council session as he missed one of the most interesting and important gatherings that have graced the council chambers in many a day.

The subject that received the lion's share of discussion was brought about by a letter from the League of Women Voters under the signature of Acting President, Frances W. Baker calling the council's attention to the contradicting rumors and statements from various local government officials concerning the safety of bathing in Lake Michigan. tached to the Thailand throne, one The letter pointed out that so many rumors had been broadcast about the current sewage disposal situa- high commissioner of the Philiption at Fort Sheridan that the aver- pines. age citizen in the community was totally unable to separate fact from casions, including the ornate recepfiction. The letter also added that tion given the former king of Siam, several attempts had been made to who as "Supreme Arbiter of the obtain definite information on the Ebb and Flow of the Tide, Brother subject from local government offi- of the Moon, Half Brother of the cials without much success.

who was in attendance at the meet- ington in the days of Herbert ing stated that the criticism of the | Hoover and was regally entertained. League did not pertain to any action or lack of action on the matter by terested in the Siamese. British the council itself but rather was advisers for a time ran the kingcalling the council's attention to the fact that apparently there was no one in authority to whom the average citizen could go for conclusive information on the subject. The League's representative pointed out that while some sources stated there was no danger in swimming in the lake, nevertheless the Park Board considered the matter serious enough to have, at least for a short time, posted its beaches against bathing.

After considerable debate Acting Mayor Sharp called upon Superintendent Prindle to report on his recent inspection trip to Fort Sheridan. Mr. Prindle stated that there was absolutely no truth to the rumor that raw sewage was being dumped promiscously into the lake. He informed the council that while for a short time, due to antiquated equipment, the treatment of the sewage was not up to what one might consider normal, it was now receiving more chlorine than at any time in the Post's history and that when the new plant is completed in October it can be considered letter perfect for all practical purposes.

This did not mean however, Mr. Prindle pointed out, that anyone may guarantee an individual from infection as a result of bathing in the lake. Because of contact with fellow bathers or from even selfinfection it is easily possible to become ill in perfectly sterile water.

In a word, Mr. Prindle stated that the bather who goes into the lake today is taking no greater chance than he did at any time since the current swimming season started. It was his opinion that the present scare was due more to hysteria than to any actual danger.

Acting Mayor Sharp reported that the Department of Agriculture was in hot pursuit of the dreaded Japanese Beetle in Highland Park and had finally located the local source of infection. The Department, he stated requested that the City of Highland Park donate some 5,000 gallons of water daily to be used in treating the soil with arsenic of lead to destroy this pest. Commissioner Gourley stated that the donation of the water was a small matter but that he was fearful of damage to the hydrant valves if an untrained individual was in charge of this operation. Commissioner Bowes came to the rescue by stating that he would see to it that some one from the Fire Department was on hand to do this part of the job.

Commissioner Bowes also announced the appointment of Ray Anderson to the post of Assistant Building Inspector to help out the currently very much over-worked Building Inspector, Sydney Morris.

Action on the installation of street lights in the Clavey subdivision was postponed pending the return of Mayor Ronan. It appears that Mr. Clavey and the Council have not quite come to a meeting of minds on this question and it was thought best to defer any action until a later

Commissioner Swanson stated that clean-up operations at the City Garage were progressing nicely. He also had City Engineer Cole explain lack of armored equipment. Althe delay in the Green Bay Road improvement project. Mr. Cole stated that specifications for the project were about ready to be submitted to the state authorities but | defect in their equipment is the lack that even under the best of circumstances the work could not be completed before Spring. In addition to the 60 or 90 days necessary to get the State's approval the public utilities using this thoroughfare still have a vast amount of work to do before the major part of the project is even started. The utilities also state that the national defense program will undoubtedly hold them up on their part of the work.

Washington, D. C. FAR EAST POKER GAME For perspective on the present South Pacific tug-of-war between Japan and Britain, it is well to remember that for years Thailand, then known as Siam, was a pawn in the power game of the bigger nations of the Pacific. In this game the United States had a hand. For years, American financial advisers have been atof them having been Francis Sayre, son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, now

The British were even more indom's government, trained its army, supplied the one or two ships for its navy.

But half a dozen years ago the Japanese began preaching the doctrine of Asia for the yellow man. and Siam for the Siamese. That was how the name came to be changed to Thailand, a nationalistic token of home rule.

Reason for Japan's interest in this small country was not nationalism, but the fact that a slender finger of land, about as wide as the Isthmus of Panama, called the Isthmus of Kra, is controlled by Thailand. A canal through this isthmus, connecting the Indian ocean and the Gulf of Siam, would give a new short route from the Pacific to India, render Singapore impotent, and cut three days from the trip between Indo-China and Burma.

Such a canal would leave Singapore's giant guns and expensive naval bases guarding an out-of-date sea highway, almost as unimportant as the Straits of Magellan after the Panama canal was built.

That is one reason the British are ready to fight to keep the Japanese out of Thailand.

BRITISH INVASION PLANS First British plan for an invasion of the continent (since the start of the Russian-Nazi conflict) was 9 landing in Holland. This, it was figured, would get sympathetic support from the Dutch; would create a second front requiring Hitler to divert part of his troops and airplanes from the Russian front.

The original British idea was to have the United States co-operate in a landing force. This, however, scarcely got beyond the informal suggestion stage. It was immediately and emphatically vetoed, first, for political reasons; second, because Roosevelt did not have the power to send troops abroad; third, because of the scarcity of shipping to transport and supply an American army overseas.

Since then, none of the proposals for creating a second European front has contemplated any American participation.

The second idea discussed was a British attempt through Spain and Portugal. This also scarcely got beyond the discussion stage, because it was figured, first, that the German army probably could take over Spain by the time British troops began to land; second, that even if a foothold could be obtained, a march across the Pyrenees to France would be too difficult.

The only part which the United States might have played in such a plan was to send food ships with which to help win over the Spanish

Norway Heavily Fortified. Since then another plan for possible British invasion of Norway has been discussed. However, this also is difficult. The Nazis now have 10 divisions in Norway; more important, they have been working feverishly with characteristic German thoroughness to fortify Norwegian ports and possible invasion points. The chief factor holding back the British, however, has been their though the British army is about 2,000,000 strong, only about 750,000 men are fully armed with modern equipment. And the most serious Vast numbers of tanks were lost by the British at Dunquerque, a loss which has not yet been replenished. And no invasion of the continent could be successful without a powerful tank force.

Also, despite the strength of the Nazi army on the Russian front, a total of 47 well-equipped German divisions are stationed in western Europe. This is approximately 700,000 men.
