Tree Writes Letter Dear Children: Young and Old Short and Tall Skinny and Fat

This is the first letter I have ever written. I am writing you because pretty soon it's my birthday and I want you all to come to my party. I've been living on the corner of St. Johns and Laurel Avenue for a year now. Can you guess who I am?

I always wear green summer and winter. Some children always look at me on their way to town or to the Library and say "hello" sorta friendly-like. And I think they notice how I wave a little at them. That's the way I say hello. Have you guessed yet?

Well, I guess I'd better tell you who I am. I'm the Children's Christmas Tree. Last year each of you brought a penny to school and when all the pennies were put together some big folks chose me to be your tree and planted me where everyone could see me the year around. You had a nice party for me last year. Remember?

I like living here. I've been growing bigger and taller all year like you. And now I'm having a party for you. It's going to be next Sunday evening at 6:00 o'clock on the corner by the library where I am planted. I'm inviting everyone in town but especially the children. It's going to be a singing party and we're going to sing my favorite Christmas carols. I heard that Santa Claus was coming too but don't tell anyone I said that because maybe it's a secret. I can hardly wait for Sunday to come when I will see you all again. Don't forget Sunday at 6:00. I'll be seeing you and Merry Christmas.

★ Navy Announces Modification Of Physical Requirements Navy Applicants Rejected in Past May Re-Apply for Examination A relaxation of physical standards for enlistments in the U. S. Navy and the Naval Reserve was announced this week by the Navy Department. In commenting on this action, the Navy Department announcement stated that numerous men who in past months have sought to enlist and have been rejected on the basis of minor physical defects will, because of the modification of physical standards, be encouraged to re-apply for enlistment in either the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve for the duration of the emergency. The Navy Department has requested that any person knowing of young men who had been barred from enlistment in the Navy of the Naval Reserve because of minor physical reasons should bring this modification in physical requirements to the attention of these young men. Applicants with varicose veins will be acceptable under the changed standards, this varicose condition to be corrected, if the condition is painful, at the Naval Training Stations to which the new recruits are sent. Hydrocele, another defect that formerly ruled out numerous applicants, will be corrected, if necessary, after enlistees arrive at Training Stations. Applicants suffering from hernia will be accepted provided their I. Q.'s are 75 or better. Recruits suffering from hernia will be treated at the Training Stations and will be enrolled for schooling during their periods of convalescence. Other physical defects which formerly prevented men from being accepted as recruits, but which now are waived, are seasonal hay fever; correctible nasal deformities or nasal deformities of such a degree as not to interfere with duty; undernourished and underdeveloped applicants, provided the condition is not due to organic disease; and minor surgical defects which can be corrected within a month. Applicants who possess 18 natural serviceable teeth, with at least two molars in functional occlusion and not more than four incisors missing, will be acceptable. Dental treatment will be given at the Training Stations. Any applicant who has been rejected because of any of the defects noted above is urged to re-apply for enlistment in the Navy or Naval Reserve immediately. All applicants accepted with defects requiring correction will be hospitalized. After correction of these defects recruits will be returned to their Training Stations at the earliest practicable time. These modified physical standards will apply for all applicants for enlistment in either the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve with the exception of applicants for enlistment in classes for prospective commissioning.
