

Baker Brownell Will Conduct Writing Classes

Baker Brownell, professor of Philosophy at Northwestern University, best known for his lectures on "Contemporary Thought," will lead the five week term of the North Shore Creative Writing Group opening Jan. 15 at the Highland Park Y.W.C.A.

The writing of poetry much of which has been published in "Poetry" Magazine has long been an avocation of Mr. Brownell whose creative writing interests are proved in his many books, "Earth Is Enough," "Art in Action," "The New Universe" and other titles listed in "Who's Who in America" including co-authorship with Frank Lloyd Wright of "Architecture and Modern Life." Mr. Brownell's "The Philosopher in Chaos" just came out last spring. Serving as a supervising editor for Harper and Brothers means that the new group leader has contracts with eastern publishing needs.

Listeners as well as those who wish to turn in manuscripts for anonymous criticism are invited to the sessions. The course will continue to be primarily a producing, writing group for those who find time to turn in copy with discussions by group members. The Education Committee of the Y.W.C.A. sponsoring the class is composed of: Mrs. Warren Danley, Mrs. Harold Wampler, Mrs. Earl Gsell, Mrs. Everett Fontaine.

Although the Jan. 15 meeting is lesson one in the five week term, visitors are invited and it is an open meeting. Phone Highland Park 675 for registration details.

Highland Parkers already enrolled include Mrs. Harold Rosenheim, Mrs. Eugene Hotchkiss, Miss Elizabeth Bird, Mrs. Robert Jeffries, Mrs. Lester Olson, Mrs. E. W. Sundell, Mrs. John Lemmon, Mrs. Fred Geiscke, Mrs. Bea Droste, Mrs. George K. Bowden, Mrs. Wirt Wright who has always attended the class from Libertyville will commute from her Chicago apartment, and Mrs. S. Tegay will come from the University of Chicago neighborhood. Mrs. Tegay is a refugee writer and has had articles in Coronet Magazine.

Dr. Kinsolving To Address Sunday Eve Club

Dr. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, former preacher at Boston's famous old Trinity Church, will speak at the Sunday Evening Club in Orchestra Hall next Sunday. Clifford W. Barnes, president of the Club, Edward Hall Taylor, a trustee, and the choir of 125 will take part in the meeting which begins at eight.

The informal service at seven will bring a novel program to the Orchestra Hall platform with a special performance of "The Ballad for Americans" presented by boys and girls from Longfellow School, Oak Park.

For the past year Dr. Kinsolving has been associated with Trinity Church at Princeton, where he works in close relationship with college students. He seldom leaves his parish, and the Sunday Evening Club is privileged to have him for his second visit. The music by the choir at this meeting will include the following numbers: "Blessed Be Thou" by Matthews, "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord" by Saint Saens, "The Prayer" by Marchetti, "The Lord is My Light" by Speaks.

Stanley Martin will play a short organ recital during the intermission. Admission is free.

Men 17 to 22 May Apply Now For May Exams

High school and college students 17 to 22 years of age who wish commissions in the United States Coast Guards may apply now for the examinations next May, Congressman George A. Paddock of the 10th District was advised today by Rear Admiral Russell R. Waesche, commandant.

Admiral Waesche's letter pointed out that the course of study at the Coast Guard Academy at New London now covers not only peace time enforcement of Federal laws in territorial waters, but service with the United States Navy under the executive order of 1 November 1941. For the duration of the war this course, as at the Naval Academy has been concentrated to three years, although requirements and graduation credits are the same.

Leading to a Bachelor of Science degree and the Commission of ensign in the Coast Guard, the New London course is basically engineering in character, although with great emphasis on law, maritime economics, communications, and aids to navigation. There is no specialization at the Academy toward engineering or line duty, selection being made after graduation at the needs of the Service.

Requirements for admission are heavy in mathematics and science; college credits are not necessary, although high school students may lack some of the material. Congressman Paddock will send a booklet describing these requirements and carrying instructions for formal application to the commandant to anyone addressing him at House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Ann Tamarri Takes USO Course In Washington

Miss Ann Tamarri, assistant director of the National Catholic Community Service - USO recreation center in Highwood, has been taking a course conducted by the USO in Washington, D. C. to study the activities and conduct of centers. She returned to Highwood Wednesday to resume her duties at the club.

N. S. Real Estate Board To Meet January 12th

The January meeting of the Evanston-North Shore Real Estate Board will be held Monday evening January 12th at the North Shore Hotel in Evanston. A program of particular interest to salesmen has been arranged by George S. Dalgety, vice president. The speaker will be Stewart B. Matthews, vice president of Baird & Warner, Inc., in charge of sales. His subject will be "Effective Salesmanship." Mr. Matthews is a former president of the local Board and is a member of the Executive Committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. In 1936 he was chairman of the Brokers Division and since that time has edited the bulletins prepared by this Division. His home is in Evanston.

CAMERA CLUB

The first meeting of the Highland Park Camera Club for the New Year will be Jan. 14th at 8 p.m. at the Highland Park Community Center. "Lighting" will be the subject under discussion, the demonstration being under the leadership of Charles W. Layne. Anyone interested in photography is invited to attend this meeting as well as to join this group in the study of their hobby.

Lions Pledge Support In National Defense

Four thousand Lions clubs in the United States will stage a nation-wide series of demonstrations from January 4 to January 10 to symbolize their united will to victory and their support of the President, according to an announcement issued by the International Headquarters in Chicago.

All American Lions Clubs have been supplied a special program for their meetings that week, and have been asked by George R. Jordan of Dallas, Texas, Lions International President, to participate in this demonstration. The week will be known as "Every Lions Club United For Victory" week.

The program will be based on the civilian defense plans in each of these 4,000 American communities. Telegrams and resolutions of support will be sent by all participating clubs to President Roosevelt, governors and mayors.

The defense program of Lions Clubs has been active for some time. Immediate objectives include increased sales of Defense stamps and bonds, operation of "blood banks" in every community in the country, regular collection of salvage—paper, scrap metals, rubber, etc.—as part of a national conservation campaign, and all-out cooperation with civilian defense, with particular attention to civilian morale.

Men's Garden Club To Meet Jan. 13

The Highland Park Men's Garden club will meet Tuesday, January 13 at 8:15 at the Community Center. Six outstanding growers of the county will be featured as speakers for the evening. This program is a repetition of last year's "Meet the Growers" night.

The January safety poster pictured above, now being distributed to schools throughout Illinois and Indiana by the Chicago Motor Club urges children to "Teach Your Friends" to "Cross at Corners." Blue, black and white are the colors used.

This series of posters follows a plan of exaggerated proportion which makes children giants on streets and cars miniatures. Comments indicate that both teacher and pupils like them better than any in previous years.

Library

Those interested in sea shells will find the exhibit of shells in the lobby cases at the Highland Park Public Library worth while. All of the shells are native to the west coast of Florida.

"Behind the rising sun," by James R. Young. Mr. Young, thirteen years a newspaper man in Japan, believes that Americans can learn more about the Oriental by watching the vagaries of his every day life than through studying his foreign policies. He has filled his book with the significant, amusing and often macabre details of Japanese daily life.

"The Doctors Mayo" by H. B. Clapett is "an extraordinary book about three extraordinary men, the fascinating picture of a hundred years of medical progress, life on the American frontier as seen by a doctor on the job, and the revelation of how a small-town practice grew into an international institution."

"Latin America, a descriptive survey" by W. L. Schurz. Mr. Schurz is at once a stimulating writer and a distinguished historian, journalist and government official, with a wide firsthand acquaintance with Latin America. He gives us an expert account of our neighbor-culture to the South. North Americans will find his book a source book of reliable and exact information.

"In defense of children" by Bert L. Beverly, M. D. is a common-sense guide to rearing children from birth through adolescence. A wholesome faith in the child's human nature pervades the book and renders it an inspiring as well as useful guide.

A drive to collect books for men in America's armed forces is to be conducted on a nation-wide scale during January.

The Victory Book Campaign is sponsored nationally by the American Library Association, the American Red Cross and the United Service Organization, Inc., and bears the endorsement of the army, the navy and the Office of Civilian Defense.

Highland Park is participating in this campaign and Miss Mary Egan of the Highland Park Public Library has been named City Director.

The National Campaign will begin Monday, January 12, 1942, and will be conducted for several weeks.

Information of organization and procedure will be found in next week's Highland Park Press.

All good that ever was written, taught, or wrought comes from God and human faith in the right.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Did you ever keep your butcher waiting while you do housewife's arithmetic on how much meat to order? I'm no fortune teller but the amount you'll need per person of different cuts of meats runs about as follows:

- Chops—about 1 1/2.
- Steaks—1/2 pound.
- Roasts—bone in, 1/2 pound; boned, 1/3 pound.
- Stews—1/4 to 1/2 pound.
- Ground Meat—1/2 pound.

George Rector
 Food Consultant to Wilson & Co.

Consider all the contributions good bacon makes to meals. The zip and "come-on" it adds to breakfast. The goodness it gives toasted sandwiches. The grand, tasty, thrifty dinners it makes.

Such a jewel of a meat deserves to be bought with an eye to flavor. You'll like, I'm sure, the rich hickory smoke taste of Wilson's Certified Bacon. It comes in the piece, or sliced in pound or half-pound cartons, or in cellophane rolls or layers, and the economical Family Style 2-pound package.

HONEY THRIFT DINNER

Platter of Broiled Wilson's Certified Bacon
 Pineapple Spears and Sweet Potatoes
 Tossed Vegetable Salad
 Chocolate Pudding

If Bacon Slices stick together on a cold morning, put the required number of slices, unseparated, in a cold frying pan and start cooking. As they warm up, they can be separated easily, without tearing.

RIO GRANDE SPECIAL

Heat separately and serve together one can of Wilson's Certified Chili Con Carne and one can of Wilson's Certified Tomatoes. Serve with a salad of Avocado and Grapefruit. (I suggest you keep those two Wilson Certified Canned Foods on your Emergency Shelf.)

POLL REVEALS WHY MEN LEAVE HOME

"It's because," said 999 men out of 1,000, "we want richer flavored, thicker bacon."

And so Wilson & Co. slice bacon to be-man thickness, and leave the rind on. Result—all the fresh flavor of bacon in the piece—plus the convenience of sliced bacon! Ask for Wilson's Certified Sliced-on-the-Rind Bacon, with that real old-fashioned flavor.
