Coast Guard Auxiliary Hold Weekly Meeting

At its regular Tuesday evening meeting held at the Sheridan Shore Yacht Club, Wilmette Harbor, 45 members of the Second Flotilla, United States Coast Guard Auxiliary worked on semaphore, blinker, buzzer, knotting and splicing. Examinations were held for more than 30 prospective members.

Wesley Bowman, who served in the U. S. Signal Corps during World War No. I in the A.E.F., is in charge of the signal communication work of the Second Flotilla. Bowman stressed the importance of each member being able to send and receive messages by semaphore, blinker and buzzer.

Rope-splicing and knot-tying are of prime importance in the Coast Guard Auxiliary and considerable time was given to these subjects. Demonstrations of various splices and knots were made by Chief Kimmerman of the United States Coast Guard and Captain Sam Clark, Commander of the 1st Division of the Coast Auxiliary.

Navigation, first aid, firearms and incendiary bombs are among the subjects scheduled to be covered by the Second Flotilla for future Tuesday evening meetings.

A Lecture on Christian Science

The present age is giving birth to much striving and much activity in various parts of the earth where human beings are reaching out, desiring to possess freedom, happiness, more of good. Right-thinking people are grateful for this activity of thought, because there is good to be had and enjoyed by all; and activity of thought may open the door for more human beings to a vision of the spiritual and perfect. Christian Science affords any man the opportunity, and provides him with the method of thinking, whereby he may rise above the disappointing experiences of material living and enter into the promised land of spiritual attainments and find his freedom and dominion.

A few years past the middle of the last century, when much of the thought in America was wrestling with the question of human freedom or human slavery, there came to Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, the consciousness that man has an inherent right to freedom. She had wrestled in her own thought and in her own person with the enslavements of poverty, disease, and sorrow. In her striving, she had turned definitely away from the accustomed material means for relieving the pains and heartaches of humanity, and had sought the divine plan of salvation as furnished in the life and work of Jesus of Nazareth.

Because of her desire to lead others to the revelation and unfoldment that had come to her concerning God and His available power, Mrs. Eddy saw the need of a permanent statement of her discovery. Accordingly, there appeared, as a result of her labors, the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." This book has brought to its readers and students a practicable and understandable concept of God and of Christ Jesus that is enabling men and women to rise quickly and permanently above the errors and pains of the flesh, and the burdens of poverty and sin. This message is enabling the followers of Christian Science to perceive the true value of the Holy Scriptures, and is making of them able readers of the Bible. The textbook of Christian Science is a real boon to earnest Christians striving to find in the Bible irrefutable evidence of God, enabling the Bible reader to perceive quickly the spiritual import and intent of the Biblical text.

Christian Science is offering a new chapter in the practical everyday living of humanity with an absolute faith that men can here and now be obedient to the all-time command of the Master, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." Compliance with this injunction will bring to men new vistas of thought and accomplishment and a new earth of health, happiness, and contentment, even as is voiced in the words of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science (Science and Health, p. 276), "When we learn in Science how to be perfect even as our Father is heaven is perfect, thought is turned into new and healthy channels,—towards the contemplation of things immortal and away from materiality to the Principle of the universe, including harmonious man."

Filipinos To Be Inducted Into the Army

Filipinos who, under the former regulations of the Selective Service System, were barred from being accepted into the armed forces of the United States, are now considered nationals of this country and thus are able to be inducted into the Army, according to a change in regulations just received by Col. Paul G. Armstrong, Director of Selective Service. "The Filipinos in this country," stated Col. Armstrong, "are of the same high patriotic calibre as their courageous brothers who are now fighting the Japanese invaders in the Philippine Islands, and those living here have many times evidenced their great yearning to be allowed to join in the magnificent effort of peace-loving peoples to crush the dictators who would impose slavery upon their own people and all others of democratic spirit. I do not know what the Filipino population of Illinois is, but I am confident that every able-bodied son of that gallant race who is able to go will not be found wanting in this great call to duty that confronts all real men today."

Selective Service Boards have been instructed to reclassify all Filipinos who are eligible for Class I-A and proceed to induct them in the same manner as is being carried out with American citizens. Also, Filipinos between the ages of 18 and 35 years, inclusive, can volunteer for induction.

There'll be more than one familiar face in the lineups of Great Lakes and Notre Dame when the Navy and the Irish tangle in the basketball game for the Navy Relief Fund at the Chicago Stadium on Monday night, February 9th.

Lawyers Meet At Palmer House All Day Friday

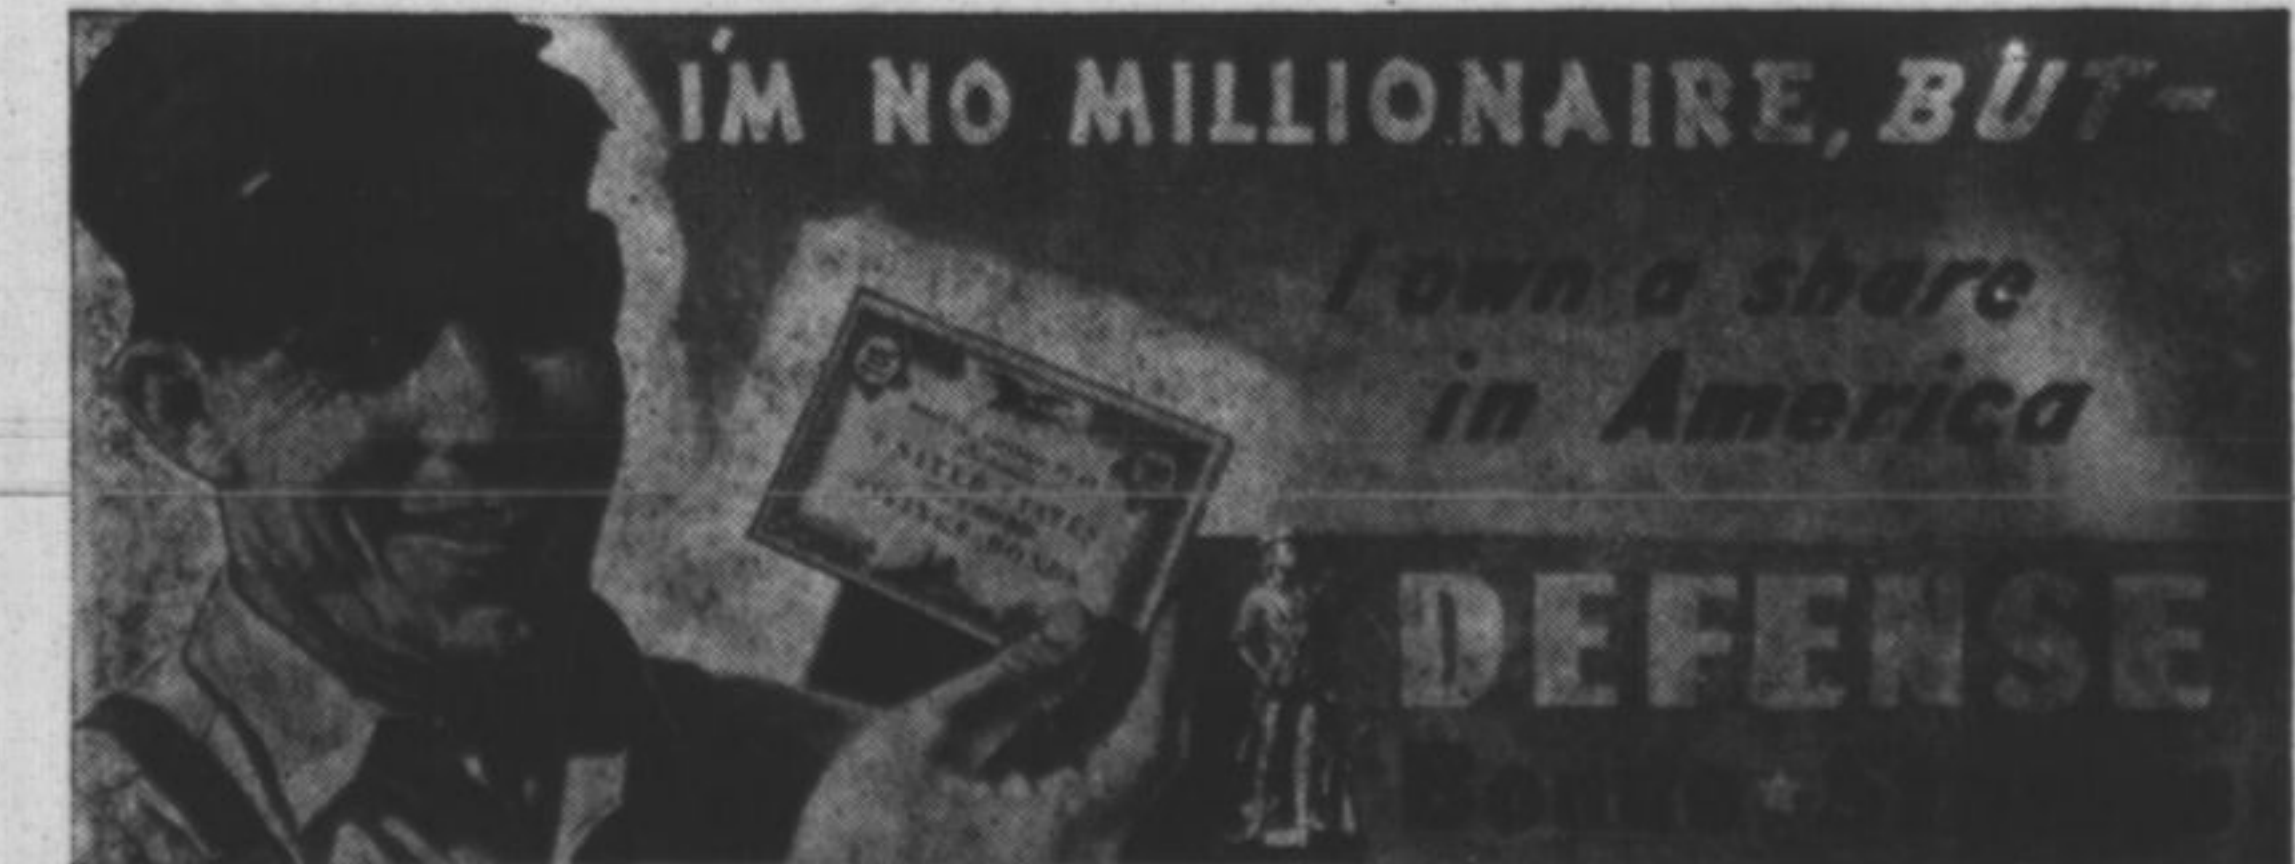

Lawyers from every county in the state will convene at the Palmer House in Chicago on Friday, January 30, for an all-day practice session on matters of general taxation.

The session is sponsored by the Illinois State Bar Association in line with its policy of keeping members abreast of new developments in the field of law.

The meeting will be concerned with the "how" of practicing before the various taxing bodies of county and state, according to Benjamin Wham, president of the association.

In addition to the all-day school of practical work, the lawyers will hear talks on Defense Savings by Norman B. Collins, state administrator of defense savings; and "The Civilian Defense Program" by Raymond J. Kelly, director of the Sixth Civilian Defense Region.

More than 1,000 members of the Illinois State Bar Association have offered their services to the state and local civilian defense organizations to aid the War program.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE RICH to help American Defense. That's the theme of the above poster, one of the newest of the Defense Savings promotional pieces now going up in storefronts, on bulletin boards, and at other public places. This poster emphasizes the point advanced by the Treasury Department that every American can—and must—pitch in if the United States is to have the arms and the tools necessary to protect her freedom.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

MOR QUICKIES ARE WINNERS FOR BREAKFASTS, LUNCHEONS, DINNERS
Here's an easy-to-fix MOR dish for a Sunday breakfast, a special luncheon or a family dinner. Easy on your food budget, too.

Start your Victory Drive now. Buy wisely, cook carefully, that your family may be well nourished for the task ahead. Serve nourishing vitality lunches as well as breakfasts and dinners. For lunches are all too often the "forgotten meal."

"Noon always comes too soon," declared three homemakers, who visited our Homemaker's Kitchen recently. "It generally finds us without any meat on hand for the children's lunch."

Said I, "Why not keep an Emergency Shelf, well stocked with appetizing canned meats?" (Wilson's Certified Canned Meats, I added, you may be sure.) Then I showed them how easy it is to make marvelous MOR "Vitality" sandwiches.

They were delighted, as you will be, with the deliciousness, and the economy of Wilson's marvelous MOR, "the meat for every occasion."

BALANCED SCHOOL LUNCH

MOR Whole Wheat Sandwiches
Cabbage Slaw Hot Cocoa
Apple Sauce
Oatmeal Cookies

Time-saving hint—cream Clear Brook butter ahead of time. It spreads more easily even when it is cold.

Slice the contents of one can of MOR into 8 pieces, saute in frying pan. Turn. Break 4 Clear Brook eggs into a saucer, one at a time, and slip one egg on each two slices of MOR. Cook gently till eggs begin to firm. Then add 1 tsp. cream for each egg, season, cover tightly, cook slowly about 6 minutes. Serve immediately—a meal for 4.

Delicious variations—add to the cream 1/4 tsp. of Worcestershire Sauce or dry mustard.

What's New in Meats?

Wilson's GelaSeal fresh beef, lamb and veal. Wilson & Co. takes choice, fresh meats and seals in all their juicy goodness with a thin coat of sparkling-clear, edible gelatin. This keeps meats juicy as you cook 'em and ends up by enriching the gravy. You can get any cut in Wilson's GelaSeal meats. Ask for them.

Doctor Recommends Wilson's Tender Meats. Comes ready to slice and eat. Meet you again—next week. C. E.
