

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—It appears that this week there is a lag in this war in issuing pencils and paper to song-writers and putting them on a full-time shift. We Out Song Writers made a fast singing get-away in the First World war, with that one about the little bit of the sunshine in the YMCA almost beating the first crack of the guns.

Possibly we are at least getting under way with Geoffrey O'Hara limbering up his writing-wrist with a ditty calculated to start a rush of bond-buyers to the neighborhood post office. Mr. O'Hara is a veteran song-leader of our 1918 singing and fighting days and the author of "K-K-K-Katy."

He has a copyright on "The Star Spangled Banner," taken out and duly recorded in 1929. This was his stepped-down version of the National Anthem. The copyright is a bit of a joke which, says Mr. O'Hara, will enable him to bequeath a singable National Anthem to his country in his will.

He scouted some interesting historical background in his professional study of "The Star Spangled Banner" and how we got it. In England and Wales, in the late Eighteenth century, it was sung by tavern roisterers as "Anacreeon in Heaven." They could reach the high notes easily. The explanation, Mr. O'Hara's researches disclosed, was that in a cold, foggy climate the larynx grows smaller, in order to keep out the weather. Therefore there are more tenor voices.

Mr. O'Hara probed still further and found that California had more basses and baritones than colder states. So he reset the anthem to a steam-heated singing range.

He came to the United States in 1904, at the age of 22 and worked four years as a clerk in the Canadian Bank of Commerce. All that time he was writing songs, surprised and happy when Caruso suddenly featured his "Your Eyes Have Told Me," and Al Jolson did the same for his "Tennessee."

Last month he was elected to membership on the board of the American Society of Authors, Composers and Publishers. He got his neutralization papers in 1919, and has been a diligent expounder of our democratic faith.

It is something to worry about, as with the Atlantic Charter millennium moving in after this war, there might not be any place for Al Schacht. His errant foolishness wouldn't do in such a perfectly ordered world.

But, in our present state of somewhat ostentatious imperfection, he still belongs, and today's good news is that the "Clown Prince of Baseball" is still clowning over in New Jersey just now, still touring the baseball circuits, making everybody happy with his durable pantomime.

We have an idea that if Al Schacht were shrewdly used he might be worth a brace of bat-tieships to this country. As we see it many of the invocations of democracy which come from the Washington founts of erudition do not quite get the public ear; that they need a bit of "corn," in the Broadway lingo, or at any rate a widened public appeal and a dash of humor. If Al Schacht should take to ribbing Hitler before the baseball mobs, with an appropriate anti-climax for Der Fuehrer at the finish, it ought to help a lot in getting over the news that there is a war on.

He was a top-bracket player, bought by the Giants in 1917, and can still put a hop on a fast ball. He was literally born in left field—in the left field territory of what is now the Yankee Stadium. He was a whirlwind pitcher in high school baseball and was three years with Newark before the Giants bought him. He and Nick Altrock formed their famous comedy partnership with the Washington club.

He is a born comic and one of the best pantomimists in the country. When "Cash and Carry" Pyle of Bunion Derby fame was staging Suzanne Lenglen in tennis matches around the country, Al Schacht's act was a part of the program. It was a burlesque of Suzanne which set the crowds wild. Suzanne didn't happen to see it for the first few matches but when she did:

"Meester Pyle, deescharge at once zees clown or deescharge me!" He had no trouble in making other engagements, his "take" rounding out about $50,000 a season.

5 Local Men Graduated From Purdue

One hundred and fourteen young people from the state of Illinois were among the 1081 candidates for degrees at Purdue University this year. The 68th annual commencement exercises were held Sunday, May 3, five weeks ahead of the normal time because of the war-time speed up program of the University. Under the war schedule of classes, the University will be in operation 50 weeks per year and a new term will start May 6 with registration having been May 4 and 5. Among the 1942 graduates from the state of Illinois were:

Highland Park: Charles F. Rietz, B. S. in Mechanical Engineering; Richard E. Spangler, B. S. in Chemical Engineering. Highwood: Anders O. Hustvedt, B. S. in Public Service Engineering; and also a B. S. in Civil Engineering; Geo. E. Olson, M. S. in Civil Engineering. Ravinia: Kent B. Wonnell, B. S. in Mechanical Engineering.

Hot Bacon-Tomato Dressing lends new interest to lettuce salad.

"DEAR me," said mother, "When I served you children so many vegetables and fruits I didn't know I was filling you up with vitamins and minerals." She added, "Come to think of it, that's probably why you were always such a bouncy crowd."

And it probably was. Fruits and vegetables, lots of them, in the diet, certainly help generate all round strenaous days, young or old, we all need all the strength and vitality we can muster.

But quite aside from their health building qualities, we gladly eat vegetables for their sheer deliciousness, too. Take lettuce, for example. Have you ever tossed a savory hot dressing over lettuce? Now, there's something you will like.

Garden Lettuce with Bacon-Tomato Dressing
2 quarts leaf lettuce (loosely packed)
Bacon Tomato Dressing
1/4 cup tomato juice
1/4 lemon sliced
2 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Pinch of pepper
6 slices bacon, sliced
Combine tomato juice, sliced lemon, sugar, salt and pepper. Bring to boiling and simmer slowly for 10 minutes. Fry bacon until golden brown, remove lemon slices from tomato juice and combine bacon (with fat) and tomato juice. Heat well and pour over lettuce. Toss thoroughly. Serves 5-6.

Note: This dressing is very good, also, with tender dandelion greens.

Asparagus is a vegetable that's here today and gone tomorrow. Let's eat it often, then, while we have it. And try it fixed in this stippy celery and cheese sauce.

Asparagus in Creamed Celery and Cheese Sauce
1 can condensed celery soup
1 cup milk
1/2 package or 4 ounces mild processed cheese
4 cups cooked asparagus (cut in 1/2 inch lengths)
Combine the celery soup and milk. Add cheese (yolts) cut in thin slices, then heat until the cheese melts in the sauce. Add cooked asparagus and heat well to blend flavors. Serves approximate 6 portions.

CHEESE IS GOOD FOR THEM
Cheese is a highly concentrated and nutritious food. To begin with it rates with meat, fish, eggs and milk as a muscle building and tissue repairing protein food. It helps promote growth. Thus we find that cheese dishes are often offered as a substitute for meat. Cheese is also included with the important calcium and phosphorus foods which we need for bones and teeth. Furthermore cheese is a source of Vitamin A and Vitamin G (B2) known as riboflavin.

Importance of Calcium
At a Red Cross Nutrition class recently, the women were horrified to discover that most of them were not getting enough calcium into their diets. Here's where such cheese, egg and milk dishes as this Cheese Souffle help.

CHEESE SOUFFLE
4 tsp. butter
4 tsp. all purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1 cup American cheese (grated)
3 eggs
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
Melt butter in saucepan, blend in the flour and salt, remove from heat, and add the milk. Return to the heat, and cook until thick (about 5 minutes), stirring constantly. Blend in the grated cheese, and stir until cheese is melted. Remove from heat.

Beat egg whites until frothy, add cream of tartar, and continue beating until egg whites are stiff enough to hold a point. With the same beater, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored, and slowly stir them into the cheese mixture. Fold cheese mixture into the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a well-greased 1 1/2 qt. casserole (8 inch in diameter), and set the dish in a pan of hot water (having water reach well up on dish). Bake 50 to 60 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F. The souffle will puff up and become golden brown on top. When done it is set so that a silver knife, thrust into the center comes out clean. Serve immediately—preferably with a Cream Sauce to which have been added sauteed mushrooms, shrimps, cut-up green or ripe olives or chopped chives.

To Add a Piquant Flavor
About 1/4 tsp. of mustard or Worcestershire Sauce adds a slightly biting flavor which gives the dish added personality and character.
Quick Cheese Sandwiches for Lunch or Supper
OPEN CHEESE AND BACON SANDWICHES
2 eggs
2 cups grated or finely chopped cheese (about 1/2 lb.)
1 tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
1/4 tsp. Paprika
Few grains cayenne pepper
5 or 6 thin slices bread
5 or 6 thin slices of bacon (about 1/2 lb.)
Beat eggs well. Stir in the cheese, Worcestershire Sauce, salt, paprika and cayenne pepper. Toast slices of bread on 1 side. Remove from toaster or broiler. Spread untoasted side of each slice with the cheese mixture. Cut slices of bacon the length of the bread slice and lay 2 strips on top of the cheese mixture on each slice of bread. Broil about 8 to 10 minutes or toast in a very hot oven, 500° F. until bacon is crisp and cheese is melted.

TOASTED CHEESE SANDWICHES
Place thin slices of cheese between 2 thin slices of bread—having cheese reach way to edges. Saute sandwich in butter in heavy frying pan until golden brown—first on one side, then on the other (having pan hot, but cooking the sandwich slowly) or toast under the broiler until golden brown on each side.

Multigraph Operators Wanted for Government War Jobs

Multigraph operators will be appointed to Government war jobs in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States, it was announced by the United States Civil Service Commission today. Both men and women may apply under the new announcement. Pay is $1,440 a year, although some vacancies at $1,260 will be filled by qualified persons willing to accept the lower salary.
Within the past 5 years, applicants must have had at least 6 full months of paid experience operating a power-driven multigraph machine, of which 3 months must have been in setting and distributing type and in the composition of complex forms. In filing application, they must clearly show that they can operate the machine without further instruction. Appointees in Government jobs will be required to set and distribute type for and to operate a multigraph machine in the printing of circulars, letters, and forms, and to read proof and make corrections.
No written test is required. Filing application is all that is necessary to be considered. Eighteen years is the minimum age limit, but there is no maximum. Applications must be sent to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., and will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

Family Living Association Meeting May 12

May 12 will be an important day for the many expectant mothers who will attend the all day session to meet their interests at the headquarters of the Association for Family Living, 220 S. State Street, Suite 930.
This is the fourth year that the Association has offered a program for mothers-to-be in which prominent doctors and child specialists discuss the business of adding a new member to the family from the viewpoint of the obstetrician, the pediatrician, the trained nurse and the family relations expert, and how best to make the new arrival healthy and happy.
The day's progress will begin at ten in the morning and continue until four in the afternoon with a recess for lunch from 12:30 to 2:00. In addition there will be adequate intermissions and refreshments served at strategic points.
The meeting is open to the public. Members of the Association are admitted free and non-members pay a charge of 35c for the day.
From the experience of the past four years it is estimated that a large crowd of eager expectant mothers will attend the meetings.

Full information as to the requirements for these examinations, and application forms, may be obtained from Frank E. Carlson, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the post office or customhouse in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners.
