Dr. Charles Brown To Address Sunday Eve Club

Dr. Charles R. Brown, "the layman's favorite preacher" and a model for the student minister will give his 30th address before the Chicago Sunday Evening Club next Sunday night. Coming from New Haven, where he was for many years dean of the Yale Divinity School, he will speak on "The Ladder Which Reached the Sky" at the eight o'clock meeting in Orchestra Hall.

Dr. Brown began preaching in the 90's in Oakland, California, and now as he approaches 80 continues to hold a top place among America's vigorous and dynamic preachers. For years he has been popular in England and Scotland as well as this country, and has made 66 coast to coast trips to address college students. President Clifford W. Barnes will preside and introduce Dr. Brown, and preceding his address the choir of 125, with Charles Sears, soloists, will give a program arranged and directed by Edgar Nelson. Among the selections which they will sing are "By Babylon's Wav" by Gounod, and old Moravian "Evening Hymn," "The Lord is King" by Stevenson and "Then Shall the Righteous Shine Forth" by Mendelssohn. Mark Love and Louisa Hoe Moller will also take part. Anthony L. Michel will read scripture.

At seven o'clock Dr. Charles T. Holman, University of Chicago Divinity School, will give a short Bible talk. Congregational singing, in which choir and audience will join, will be a feature of this meeting.

Doors open at 6:45. Admission is free.

John W. Carr Graduates From Great Lakes

John Winfield Carr, 31, of 916 Lincoln Avenue, Highland Park, was graduated Friday with the largest class in the history of the Hospital Corps School at the U. S. Naval Training Station here.

Carr, a member of a class of 472 men from 37 states, completed basic training in anatomy, physiology, hygiene and sanitation, first aid, weights and measures and materia-medica during the six-week course.

Now rated as hospital apprentice, second class, he will be sent to a Naval hospital for additional training and then assigned to general duty at sea or ashore.

Men entering the Hospital Corps School are chosen by special selection examinations. Eventually the men in the corps become pharmacist's mates.

Captain E. A. Lofquist, chief of staff of the Ninth Naval District, and Captain F. H. Lash, senior chaplain on the station here, spoke at graduation exercises held at the school. Captain W. E. Eaton, medical officer in command, presented certificates of graduation.

Miss Myrtle Walz has returned from Vallejo, Calif. where she visited her brother, Raymond, who is stationed there.

RED CROSS CALLS FOR NURSE'S AIDES

The Red Cross in Chicago needs 1,500 more volunteer nurse's aides, women who are between 18 and 50, American citizens, high school graduates, and in good health. Above, Miss Lura Keogh begins the 40-hour lecture course required.

Upon completing her lecture course, Miss Keogh goes to St. Luke's Hospital for 45 hours of practice work in the wards. Graduate nurses give the training. Women who wish to be nurse's aides should apply to Red Cross headquarters, 616 South Michigan avenue, telephone Wabash 3250.

Seven weeks are required for the training, at the conclusion of which Miss Keogh receives her cap and becomes a full-fledged member of the Volunteer Nurse's Aide Corps, a joint activity of the American Red Cross and United States Office of Civilian Defense.

As a nurse's aide, Miss Keogh is pledged to give 300 hours of volunteer hospital service yearly, assisting graduate nurses care for patients, thus helping to relieve the shortage of nurses caused by the demands of the Army and Navy.

The show is sponsored by the Chicago Rockford College club and is looked forward to each year by thousands of antique-lovers. The entire Woman's Club is divided into individual "shops" where one may browse or buy in the most attractive and convenient surroundings.

Early American glassware, furniture, china, buttons, and knick-knacks will be there in abundance. The items represented will range from "one-of-a-kind" historical museum pieces to small inexpensive ones which appeal to the amateur collector. One dealer is featuring a collection of decorative lamps adapted from antique vases and urns.

Dr. Mary Ashby Cheek, president of Rockford College, will be guest of honor at the annual dinner meeting of the Chicago Rockford College club, to be held Thursday, May 21, at the Orrington Hotel in Evanston. Four Bouts at Stadium May 20th

If present plans materialize there will be four ten round bouts on the next Chicago Stadium boxing show in the west side building on Wednesday night, May 20. Already promoter Bill Rand and matchmaker "Scotty" Strachan have lined up three to go that distance and should make the fourth one Monday, May 11.

In the main bout Johnny Colan and Anton Christoforidis will be fighting for the lion's share of the proceeds and their fisticuffs will be supported by Booker Beckwith of Gary, Indiana, and Billy Nichey of Buffalo, New York two other light-heavyweights and Tony Motise of the C.Y.O. and Harry Teaney of Cleveland, the two fighters between the lightweight and welterweight class who fought a draw in the first meeting on the last Stadium card.

Altus Allen, the south side Negro who fought such a gallant fight against Johnny Colan in the Coliseum his last bout, will be one of the principals in the fourth ten rounder. His eye that was cut by Colan's rapier like thrusts has healed completely and he has been drilling for the past couple of days. Who his opponent will be wasn't known today, but a suitable foe should be found shortly. Allen asked for the fight on the 20th, because he doesn't want to stay out of action and feels that another fight will put him right in shape for a tough summer campaign that has been planned for him by his managers Dr. Allen and George Halas.

In addition to the four ten round bouts there will be two four rounders scheduled making it one of the strongest fight cards of the year.

officers are Mrs. William S. McDowell, 4875 North Paulina, Chicago, president; Mrs. Donald E. Dean, 6151 North Hamilton, Chicago, vice-president; Mrs. Carl W. Dowling, 1433 W. Farrago Ave., Chicago, Secretary; Mrs. Gus N. Mastrogany, 7346 North Hoyle, Chicago, treasurer.

WARNER Brothers' "Heroes Without Uniforms," a story of the American Merchant Marine, will be the first of a group of films telling us things that the government wants us to know. Lowell Mellett, co-ordinator of government films, recently submitted to industry leaders a list of 30 topics about which the government wishes the public to be informed. Originally it was planned to use his ideas as material for short subjects, but it now seems likely that some of them, at least, will be developed into feature-length pictures.

"Parachute Nurse" has what might be termed an All-Starlet cast, virtually an all-feminine one. When Charles Barton, the director, counted noses he found Marguerite Chapman, Shirley Patterson, Alma Carroll, and eight other beauty-contest winners.

Now it's Priscilla Lane who's having to learn card tricks. Jan Grippo, who tutored Veronica Lake for her slight-of-hand role in "This Gun for Hire" is doing the same for Priscilla, for "Silver Queen," in which she plays opposite George Brent.

Three of the cast of Columbia's "The Invaders" have signed rather unusual contracts. Glynis Johns, Eric Portman and Anton Walbrook have agreed to appear in Hollywood within three months after the war is ended; won't leave England till then.

When you see Paramount's "Wake Island" you'll see a setting that's absolutely authentic. The contracting firm which made the actual defense installations for the Wake Island marine garrison before the Japanese attack is in charge of construction at the Salton Sea location for the picture. It is recreating on the shores of the California inland sea an exact duplication of the Pacific atoll establishment. John Farrow is directing "Wake Island," with a cast including Brian Donlevy, Robert Preston, Albert Dekker and Barbara Britton.

"Crossroads," the Hedy Lamarr-William Powell picture, brought up a slight dilemma at Metro. Powell, Basil Rathbone and Felix Bressart all had mustaches, and all were loath to part with them—but three was just too many for one film. Powell is a suave diplomat in the picture, Rathbone felt that a villain must have a mustache. Bressart couldn't bear to part with his. You'll have to see the picture to find out who lost out.

That's Ginger Rogers' mother whom you'll see as Ginger Rogers' mother in "The Major and the Minor"; she'll be making her screen debut. She had been a drama editor and a dramatic coach, she's been in charge of the younger players at RKO and this past year she's been installing a dairy at Ginger's 1,100-acre ranch in Oregon—but never before has she been an actress.

The famous musicians of the future may find themselves forming a "Those Who Were Helped by Major Bowes" association. For instance, take the Aquaviva brothers, Anthony, 17, a clarinetist, recently on the Major's program, said that if he won a prize he'd help his younger brother, Nicholas, to get the kind of tutoring he was getting. Anthony won $100, second prize. The Major suggested that he have Nicholas audition for the program. Nicholas, 14, won first prize. So Major Bowes, with the help of everybody who voted for the lads, helped them along.

ODDS AND ENDS—Returning to the lot where she was an important star, Evelyn Brent reported to Paramounts to play a role in "Wrecking Crew"; Richard Arlen, Jean Parker and Chester Morris co-star in it... Harry Sherman may reunite several famous western stars in "Buckskin Empire"... William S. Hart, Hunt Gibson, William Frawley, Jack Holt and Richard Dix... Vivian Leigh is being sought for the lead in "Frenchman's Creek"... William Frawley is in London during an air raid in his new "Love Wolf" comedy thriller; last time he was actually there was during a supposed raid during the last war.
