

Lieut. Knoblock, of Fort Sheridan, Cited for Bravery

Lieut. Richard A. Knoblock, 23, of Fort Sheridan, was cited Tuesday by President Roosevelt at the White House, Washington, D. C., along with 78 other flyers who participated with Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle in the air raids made on Tokio and other Jap cities on April 28. He was awarded the distinguished Service Cross.

Lieut. Knoblock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Knoblock of Fort Sheridan. His father is the chief operating engineer at the post, where the family have lived for the past fifteen years.

Enlisted in Army Air Corps

He graduated from the Lake Forest High School in 1936, and then attended the University of Wisconsin for 3 years. In 1939, at the end of his junior year, he enlisted in the army air corps. A dental defect almost ruined his army career, but after oral correction, he began his air training on December 1, 1940. He was commissioned at Kelley Field on July 11, 1941. Lieut. Knoblock was one of the top six men in his class of 307. He is an expert horseman and boxer. After the declaration of war he was sent abroad. His family had not heard from him since March 23, until they received news of the citation from Washington.

He has one brother, William, who attends the University of Wisconsin and a sister, Mrs. Clarence Bohn, whose husband is with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Lieut. Knoblock will observe his twenty-fourth birthday on May 27.

H. P. Public Library

In this day of "Information Please" and other popular quizzes, how many questions could you answer in regard to your Highland Park Public Library.

Are you conscious of the beauty of the building? Do you know that people come from a distance to see the murals, the one by Rudolph Ingeric, the other by Frank C. Peyraud.

Do you know that the library has a collection of local historical material? Research students have come from a distance to consult the material in regard to Elisha Gray and his inventions. If you have any information of local historical importance, call the library.

Looking to the future, the library is now trying to collect information in regard to all of the men serving their country in this war.

During the past year the library has increased its book stock by adding 1,737 new books. In addition to good substantial books, giving information, every year a few unusual books are purchased. As a result some of the best basic books of design are to be found here. It is not necessary to go to the Ryerson library for these books.

In an effort to supply technical information for men engaged in war production industries, radio, an unusual number of new technical books were purchased.

Gives Information

Perhaps the most important work of the library is to give information. Many of these questions come by telephone and can be answered quickly, others take more time. Not only residents of this community, but also men from Ft. Sheridan come for information. The high school students use the magazine files constantly for the themes on current topics which they are required to write. For this material the library subscribes to 100 magazines and newspapers.

The children's department has a well-rounded collection of the best juvenile books. For the children who live too far away, to come to the central building, stations are maintained in the Braeside and West Ridge Schools.

Every Saturday morning a story hour is conducted from 10:30 to 11 o'clock. Many eager children never miss this treat of stories.

At Christmas time the children's librarian is often consulted by parents in regard to books suitable for purchase.

Rooms in the building have been used by classes corollary to war needs: U. S. Foreign Policy in the Far East, Home nursing, Food and nutrition, Navigation, Citizenship.

For the present no more books are needed for the soldiers and the sailors. When transportation to distant camps has been worked out, another call will be printed in the local newspapers.

'My Sister Eileen' Returns to the Harris Theatre

"My Sister Eileen," the smash hit laugh show which enjoyed a run of eight months at the Harris Theatre, Chicago, recently, has returned here for a bargain engagement which began Saturday night, May 16. The same cast and production that was seen at a $2.75 top will now be made available to the folks who like to sit "downstairs" at only $1.65 top. Matinees are priced at only $1.10 for the orchestra, instead of the former price of $2.20.

"My Sister Eileen" is the madly funny adventures of two sisters, Ruth and Eileen Sherwood, who come to New York from their home in Columbus, Ohio, in search of careers. Eileen, the beautiful, wants to be a great stage actress, while Ruth, who is plain but witty, seeks to be a successful writer. They pay a month's rent—in advance—to Mr. Appopolous, a Greek landlord, on a basement studio in his house in Greenwich Village, the Bohemian section of New York.

The former occupant of the apartment is a fancy woman and Ruth and Eileen are soon beset by a series of would-be admirers, ranging from a professional football star to six romantic cadets of the Brazilian navy. Their lone window fronts-on the pavement level of a typical Greenwich Village street. Through it, the audience can see the parade of unique characters going by.

Under the clever direction of Broadway's master of comedy, George S. Kaufman, it adds up to a great evening of hilarity. In the original cast of thirty, are beautiful Marcy Wescott, playing Eileen, clever, wise-cracking Effie Afton as Ruth, Guy Robertson, pleasantly remembered as the leading tenor in "The Great Waltz" and "Rose
