YOUR CITY GOVERNMENT: WHAT IT IS DOING

By Elmore M. Murphy

Monday evening's council meeting was largely confined to routine affairs but there was one item of official business that could not be passed over without something more than the usual comment. Reference is made, of course, to the official resignation of City Marshal

Andrews who is leaving the service of the city to join the Army.

The citizens of Highland Park have known for some time that Rex was to leave them but not matter how everyone was prepared to meet the official parting of the ways, it still came as somewhat of a shock.

It has been something less than two years that Chief Andrews was appointed to head the police department of the city under circumstances that perhaps would have been too tough for a less stronger man. He came into office at a time when the morale of the department and the confidence of the average citizen in its personnel was perhaps at a new low. Since that time by diligent work and straight forward thinking he has built the department up to a point where it is truly representative of the city government of which it is so important a part.

I suppose the usual procedure in such cases is to give the honored man a luncheon or dinner and shower him with verbal bouquets and perhaps a watch or a piece of silver plate, but somehow I think that Rex would appreciate it far greater if the City Fathers would make a special point to see that the good work he has started be carried on in the future. It is so easy to follow the line of least resistance and I honestly believe that it would hurt Rex grievously to see the department through either indifference or preoccupation with other affairs be allowed to run down like an unwound clock.

These comments are made with no lack of faith in the ability of his successor, Martin Kopp, to carry on the program inaugurated by Rex. If given the full support of every member of the community I am sure he will measure up to every expectation. However, it will not be an easy job. Sometimes I wonder why anybody in their right minds ever takes that first fatal step into public service, either in the occupancy of an official or a public employee. It must be either a sense of patriotism or the urge of that devil-may-care attitude that is inherent in all of us that drives them to it. The pay is usually as poor as the responsibility is great. You rarely get any credit for doing anything right and you always get it in the neck when something goes wrong. In the case of the public employee he usually has a dozen would-be bosses that insist on running his department as well as their own. The life of a public servant is indeed not a merry one. Getting back for a parting comment on Rex, I am sure that he all knows we are sorry to see him go and it is only the fact that he is going into the armed services of his country that makes the idea at all palatable. He leaves Highland Park with the best wishes of all those who knew and appreciated the fact that all times he had the best interests of the city and its citizens at heart.

It appears that while the song of the recent blackout is ended the melody still lingers on. Commissioner Swanson reported that someone sent his department a wire complaining of the apparent permanent blackout in certain parts of the Deere Park area. Mr. Swanson went on to explain that several short circuits were suspected in this district and that the trouble should be cleared up by the time this column is in print. He went on to say that many of these shorts were caused by the installation of drives and pathways without the benefit of official permission, or deference to the wire that were consequently exposed to the elements.

The Green Bay Road project was officially approved by the council as received from the Board of Local Improvements. The matter of appointing someone to spread the assessments for partial payment of the improvement was deferred until a later date. While the project has been approved and all subsequent machinery of procedure put into motion, the actual completion of this improvement is undoubtedly many months if not years away. The priority situation in the steel industry is the fly in the ointment at the moment. However, it was considered expedient by the council to take up the project step by step at this time feeling that the city by so doing would be in better position to get the necessary steel.

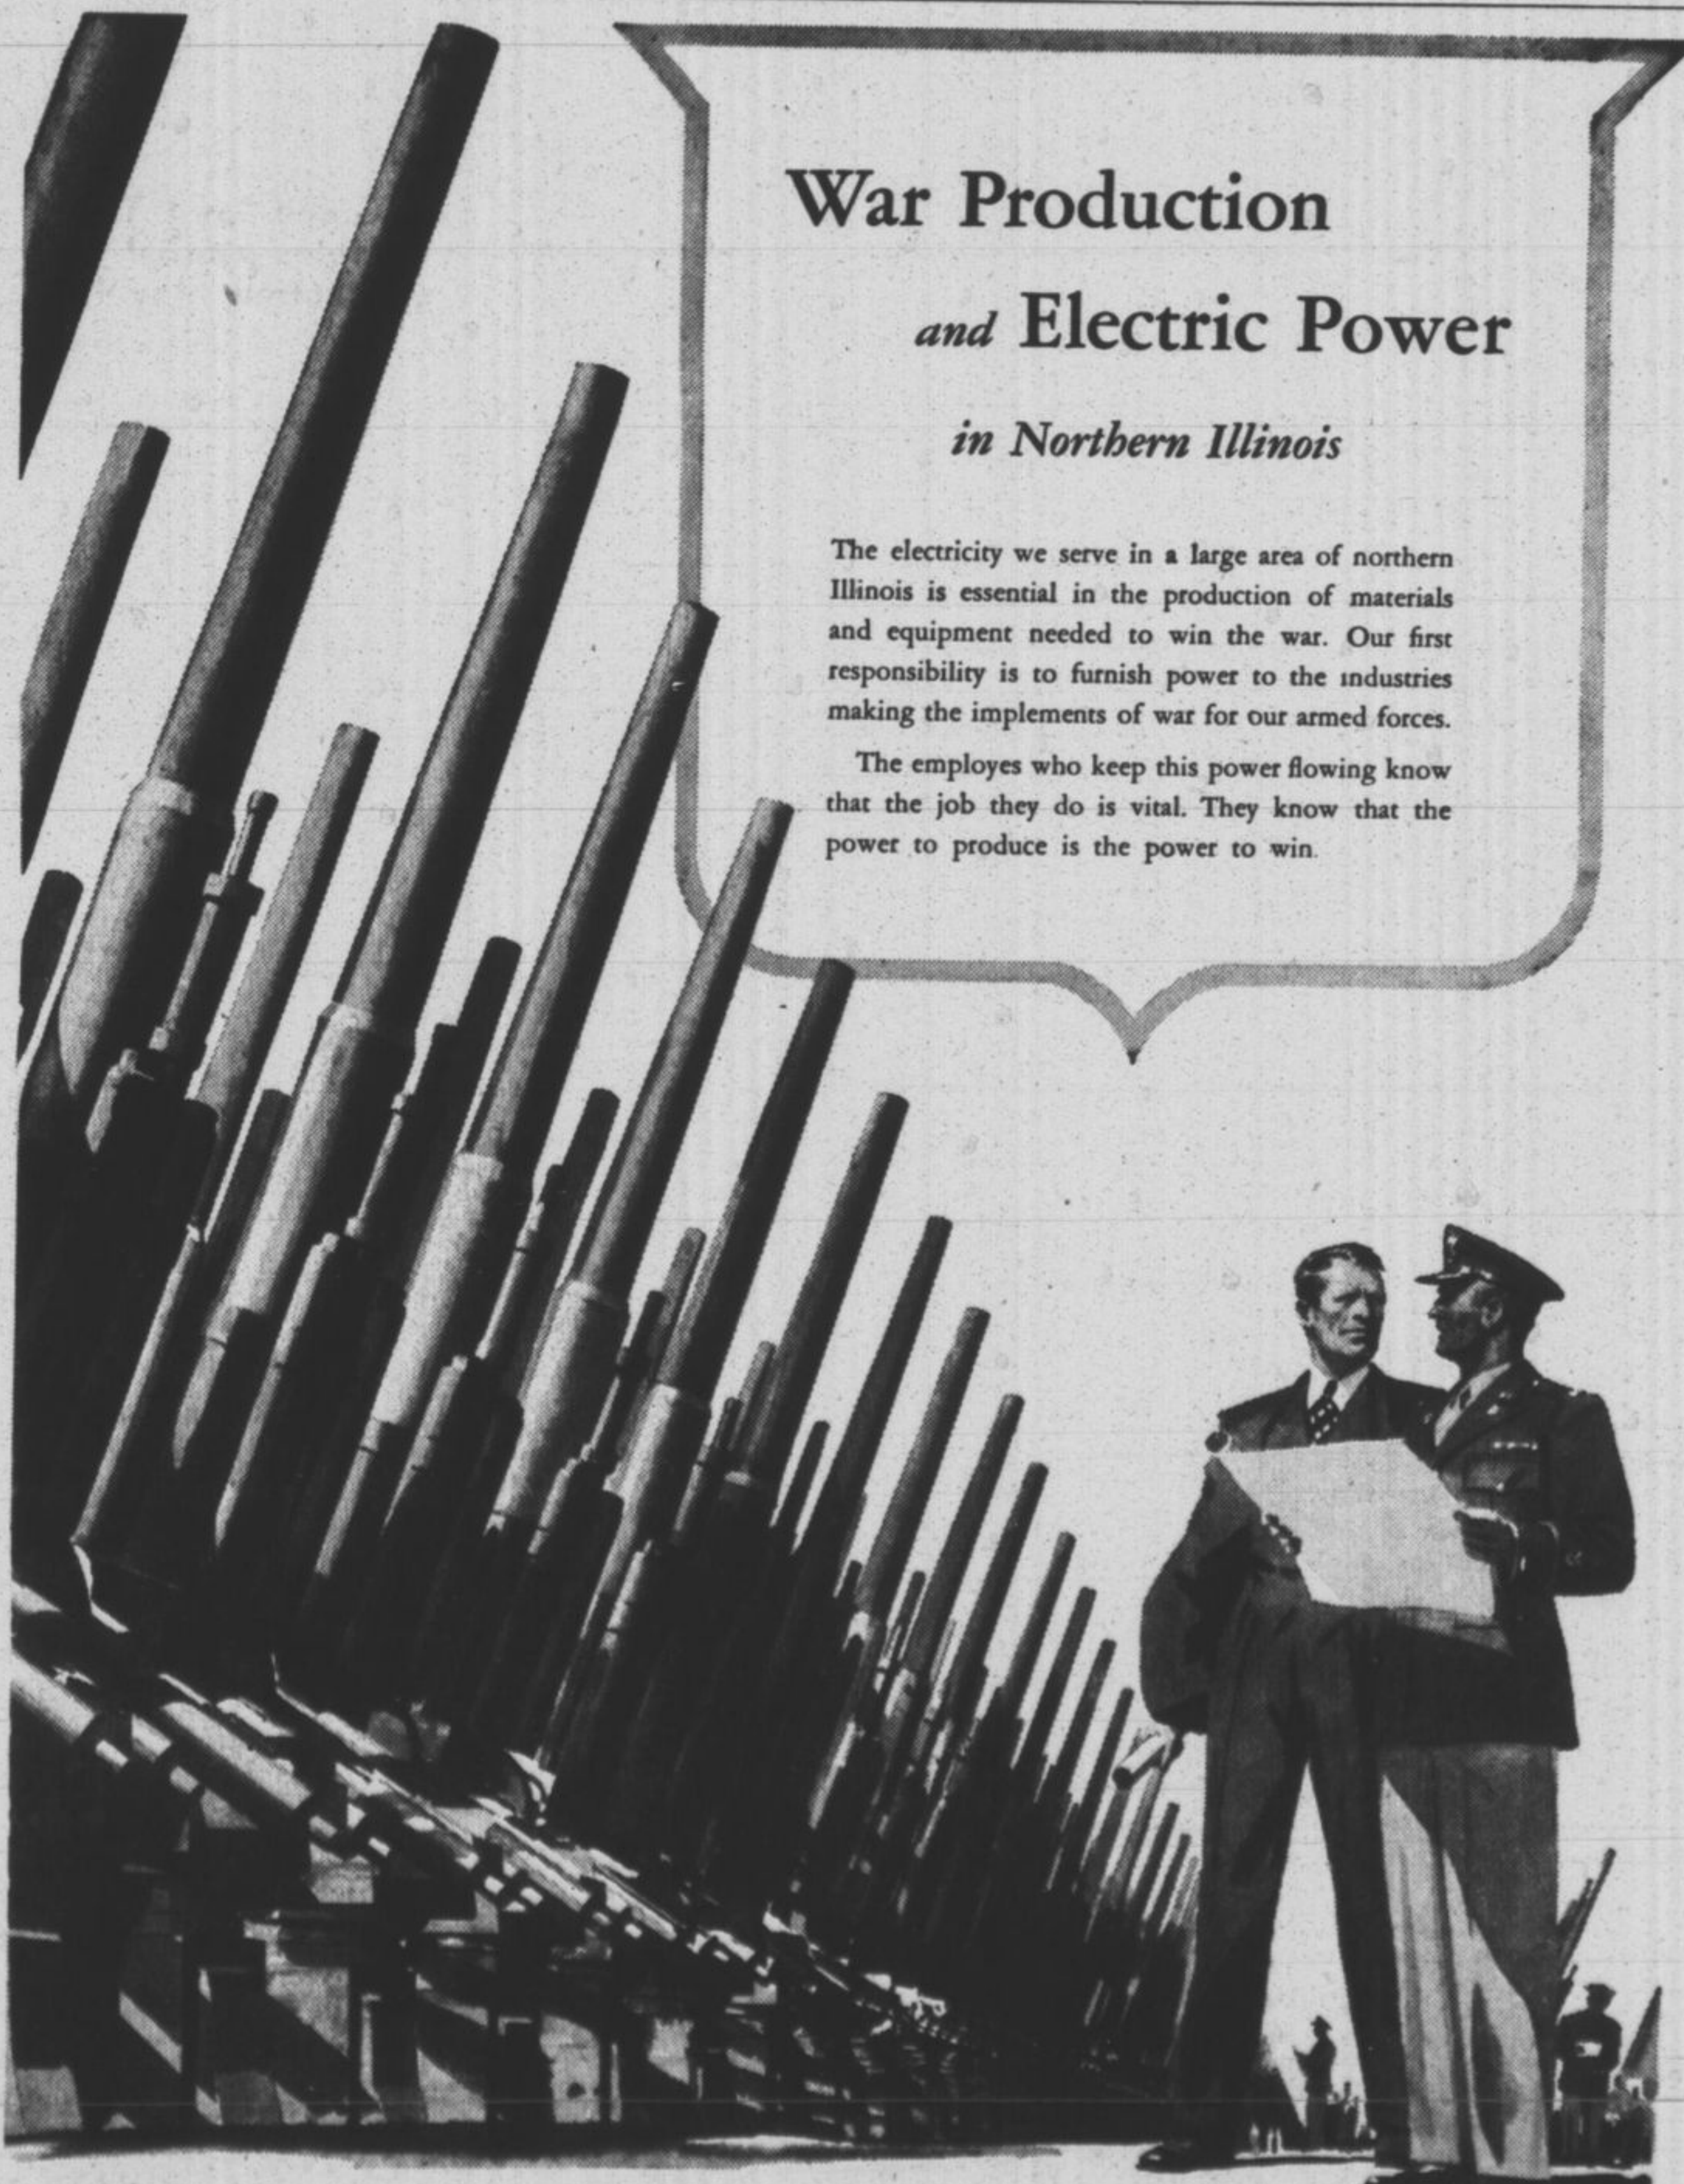

Commissioner Swanson stated that approximately $13,000 would be required to resurface Central Avenue, east of Green Bay Road to the Alcyon theatre. A meeting of the property owners in this area will be held shortly to further discuss the matter. Commissioner Bows submitted the annual report of his department and called the council's attention to the work of its extra curriculum activities including the training of auxiliary firemen and instruction in first aid. The annual headache concerning the operating budget for the year is receiving the council's attention. With growing expenses and lessening income this knotty problem will require considerable going over before a solution is reached.

War Production and Electric Power

in Northern Illinois

The electricity we serve in a large area of northern Illinois is essential in the production of materials and equipment needed to win the war. Our first responsibility is to furnish power to the industries making the implements of war for our armed forces.

The employees who keep this power flowing know that the job they do is vital. They know that the power to produce is the power to win.

SOUP as Mainstay for meal

Dorothy Greig

WHEN days are more-than-busy and yet hot food must be ready right on the dot, why not serve deep brimful bowls of hearty soup? It can be the hot mainstay of the meal.

Use such nourishing soups as condensed chicken gumbo, vegetable, clam chowder, Scotch broth, pepper pot and beef—soups rich of stock and crowded with meat, chicken, vegetables, rice, noodles. Or pin your faith on the thick vegetable purées—tomato, pea, celery and asparagus—to which milk can be added. Soups like these belong in wartime meals. They help maintain vitality and strength. Here, for example, is one delicious and energizing soup:

Highland Vegetable Broth
1 can condensed Scotch broth
1 can condensed vegetable soup
2 cans water (using soup cans as measure)
Combine the soups. Add the water and heat. Serve 5-7.

REPORT OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 17.

The Golden Text was, "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit" (Romans 8: 5).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ. For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men? And every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labour. For we are labourers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building" (I Cor. 3: 1, 5, 8, 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The likeness of God we lose sight of through sin, which beclouds the spiritual sense of Truth; and we realize this likeness only when we subdue sin and prove man's heritage, the liberty of the sons of God" (p. 315).
