

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
Consolidated Features—WNU Release.

NEW YORK—It would appear that the blizzard of report forms with which war agencies snow under business isn't entirely pre-meditated and some body ought to do something about it, if anybody can. At any rate, the War Production Board co-operates with a committee of business men who will try to cut down the paper overhead, by evolving simplified systems of reporting and accounting. They are waist deep in government blanks and battling their way out. The government seems sympathetic.

Hearing the newly organized defense forces against the paper blitz is W. J. Donald, president of the American Trade Association Executives. He is chairman of a special advisory committee which will work with the WPB, a King Canute wielding a valiant broom against the paper inundation.

Possibly this is the "managerial revolution," which young Prof. James Burnham described in his provocative book of a year or so ago. At any rate, Mr. Donald is a fair laboratory sample of the oncoming men of management of the professor's discourse, a John the Baptist in the managerial wilderness for many years, urging the managers to shake a leg and do something on their own account before being swamped by the bureaucrats. He was director of the American Management Association from 1921 to 1932, scolding the managers, during this period for being "too smug" and not considering what might happen to them unless the metes and bounds between management and finance and management and government were more clearly defined and regarded.

Mr. Donald, Canadian born, naturalized in 1923, naturally will have to use up a lot more paper in his educational and explorative campaign among the individual members of 1,200 trade associations, whom he will consult. He wants comments and suggestions. In Sarnia, Ont., where he was born in 1890, he attended the Sarnia Collegiate institute, and later was graduated from McMaster university at Hamilton, Ont. He came here in 1911 as manager of the installation staff of the American City bureau, making his U. S. A. career in business economics.

NEWS values shrink like depreciated currency in time of over-issue. Col. Robert L. Scott Jr. caught eight or ten lines in the paper when he flew over Mt. Everest, clearing the highest mountain in the world by a full mile. For the young colonel, this was a detail of a work-a-day hop from India to China.

War reputations build like a coral reef. Off and on for the last few weeks there has been a dribble of news about the long, lanky, Colonel Scott of Macon, Ga., working himself as a "one-man air force" in Burma and China. On June 26 he succeeded Col. Caleb V. Haynes as chief of the India-China air command. That means that he and the 21st pursuit squadron, which he commands, are the heirs of the "Flying Tigers," or the American Volunteer group which bombed its way to glory along the Burma road.

Early in this month, Colonel Scott demonstrated what we have fondly supposed to be our national aptitude for quick and resourceful action. A troop of Japanese was moving steadily up the Chindwin river in West Burma. The colonel had only a small pursuit plane. He swung a 550-pound bomb in it, and with it scored a bullseye on the advancing troop. These and similar exploits won him a silver star.

He is a former West Pointer, 34 years old, indentured in rough and tumble flying, when, with Colonel Haynes, he flew the mails, in 1934. He later commanded the 78th pursuit squadron in Panama.

Colonel Scott celebrated his 34th birthday by plotting a Flying Fortress across the South Atlantic to India and making a quick jump to North Assam in a Tomahawk Fighter.

It seems to this onlooker that the new OWI would do well to piece together the stories of self-starters like the colonel and deal them as hot news. The necessity of planning and organization being what it is, the fact remains that these lads are the real spark plugs of our fighting forces and the public would like to receive more news of them.

Civil Service

The United States Civil Service Commission is seeking physicists and metallurgists for junior grade positions in the Federal war program, and also freight rate and passenger rate clerks for computing rates and auditing accounts of rail, steamship, highway, and air-line carriers.

Junior physicists will be appointed to positions paying $2,000 a year. Applicants must have completed a full course in a recognized college with 18 semester hours' study in physics. Senior students who will complete their course in 6 months may apply now, and may receive provisional appointments prior to graduation.

Metallurgists are needed for junior positions paying $2,000 a year. A degree in metallurgy or metallurgical engineering will qualify applicants. Major study in chemistry, geology, physics, or engineering, which included or was supplemented by courses in metallurgy or metallurgical engineering, two War Training courses in metallurgy, or 1 year of paid professional experience in metallurgy will also qualify. (College teaching in metallurgy is considered professional experience.) Senior and graduate students may apply and may receive provisional appointments.

Freight rate and passenger rate clerks receive $2,300 a year; or $2,600 in land grant work. Three years of appropriate experience in the employ of a carrier, commercial concern, or governmental agency requiring knowledge of classifications, tariffs, and rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission are required. Applicants for the $2,600 positions must show 1 year of special experience involving the distribution of earnings between carriers on interstate traffic and the application of land grant laws and equalization agreements. For the $2,300 positions, 1 year of special experience which included the quotation of joint rates or fares or the auditing of freight or passenger account bills or fares, or charges must be shown. Provision is made for the substitution of a college course in transportation for a part of the general experience.

There are no age limits for these positions. No written test will be given. War service appointments will be made to extend for the duration of the war and no longer than 6 months thereafter. Applications must be filed with the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., and will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

Information as to requirements, and application forms, may be obtained from Frank E. Carlson, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the post office or customhouse in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at first- or second-class post offices.

NEILD'S TROUCE GRAND BOWL AT SUNSET PARK
Neild's softball team extended its winning streak to four games Friday night when they trounced the Grand Bowl aggregation, of Waukegan, 9 to 4 at Sunset park.

Paced by the hitting of Becker Peterson, who chalked up a home run and a single, and Al Sordyl, who hit a triple and a double, the Highland Park team ganged up on their foes in the first two innings and put the game "on ice" by scoring six runs.

Tomorrow night at Sunset Neild's team will play the Great Lakes Naval hospital ten.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 9.

The Golden Text was, "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" (II Cor. 3:17).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God" (I Cor. 2:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Symbols and elements of discord and decay are not products of the infinite, perfect and eternal All. From Love and from the light and harmony which are the abode of Spirit, only reflections of good can come. All things beautiful and harmless are Ideas of Mind" (p. 280).

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SUMMER is the best of all seasons for informal outdoor portraits—and since pictures of people are among the most satisfying summer snapshots, it would seem foolish not to take advantage of our opportunities at this time.

Every good outdoor portrait should have two obvious characteristics. First, like our illustration, it should be a natural picture and a good likeness of the subject. Secondly, it should be good technically. Work toward those two objectives and you won't go far wrong at any time.

To produce a natural picture you should show your subject just as others know him. It can't be an obviously posed picture in which the subject appears stiff and uncomfortable. He should seem relaxed and apparently unaware of the camera although he may be looking directly at it.

Therefore, put your subject at ease. Don't fuss. Usually it's sufficient to tell him where you want him to sit, stand or work, and roughly what you want him to do. Then let him go ahead without any more interruptions from you than are absolutely necessary.

Of course, you should have a good setting for your outdoor portraits. For instance, an elderly lady would look right at home in a rocking chair; a farmer would seem at ease leaning on the handle of his plow or a weatherbeaten fence. For the more formal types of outdoor portraits the background should really be quite simple and plain, but there again you don't have to fuss and worry. If you can't find a plain or stuccoed wall, there's always the sky—and you couldn't ask for a better background than that.

Technically, just stick to good exposure, sharp focus, and good development and printing—and you won't find it any more difficult to make outstanding informal portraits than you would any other type of snapshot.

John van Gulder
