Holy Name Holy Hour at Soldier Field

The Most Rev. Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch this week invited persons of all religious creeds, Protestant and Jewish, to join with the Catholics of Cook, Kankakee, Will Du Page, Lake and Grundy counties to participate in a mighty act of public worship and patriotism.

The occasion will be the Holy Name Hour at Soldier Field, September 13.

With the sky as a ceiling, the stadium will become a huge open-air cathedral in which thousands will pray for "peace in justice and charity through the victory of our nation."

Archbishop Stritch, spiritual director of the Union, will lead the pray-

One of the features of the religious and patriotic program will be a special prayer for the protection of the men in the American military services exposed to the horrors of war and the spiritual dangers which combat im-

The voices of 1,200 servicemen from the army, navy, marines, air forces, coast guard and state militia are to join in the prayer, while they act as a military guard of honor to the Blessed Sacrament and Archbishop

Military units are to take the field immediately preceding the solemn procession of Catholic ministry and form a living aisle to the altar through which the clergy will march.

A Holy Hour symphony orchestra of 65 pieces under the direction of Rev. Charles Meter, music director of the Holy Name Cathedral and Quigley Seminary orchestras, will accompany the combined choirs of the Cathedral, Quigley seminary and the Chicago Priests' chorus.

The record mark of 175,000 persons, who attended the 1941 religious event, is expected to be broken when a new record in excess of 190,000 persons is established.
