Adult Education Classes To Start On October 12

N. U. Meets Purdue Oct. 10

One of the oldest and at the same time most evenly contested football series in the midwest will be renewed Saturday (Oct. 10) when Northwestern entertains Purdue at Dyché stadium in the 26th game of the series which finds the two teams deadlocked with 12 victories each. The only tie in the series which had its inception in 1985 occurred in the 7 to 7 standoff in 1932.

This year's game will find the Wildcats seeking revenge for the 3 to 0 setback suffered in 1939, the last time the two old rivals came together. Outplayed for three quarters, the Boilermakers unleashed a drive that surged to the Wildcat 14-yard line as a result of Mike Byelene's 35-yard run. Fred Montague then spun a field goal between the uprights for the only score of the game.

Probably the most famed game of the series occurred in the post season charity game of 1941 when Purdue scored a smashing 7 to 0 victory to deprive Northwestern of its first undisputed championship in history and dropped the Wildcats into a triple tie with the Boilermakers and Michigan.

Northwestern came up to the post season game at Soldier Field with an undefeated record and needed only a victory over the Boilermakers to round out the first undefeated season in the school history. Purdue had lost but one game as had Michigan. After staving off several Wildcat scoring threats, the Boilermakers struck swiftly in the fourth quarter after an intercepted pass put them on the Purple 30-yard line. Jim Purvis pounded across from the 11 for the only score.

The Northwestern-Purdue series is unique in that it provided the only night game in Big Ten History. In 1935 the game was played under the flood lights at Dyché stadium because of conflict in the afternoon with the World Series between the Chicago Cubs and the Detroit Tigers. The Boilermakers won that one on Tommy McGannon's 53-yard return of a punt for the only score.

The Adult Education classes for this year will get under way on Monday evening, October 12, at 7:30 o'clock. The advance registration and numerous inquiries about the classes indicate that there will be a large final enrollment. It will be possible for those persons who did not register this week to enroll in the various classes on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings next week.

Two hundred and sixty persons registered for classes on Monday evening indicating that total attendance will be over 600, as this was the largest registration since the beginning of the classes.

The advance registrations indicate that most classes will be continued for the whole first term. At least twelve people must be enrolled in each class in order to keep the class going.

The welding and upholstery classes are already filled and the typing classes nearly filled. All persons who intend studying badminton and woodwork should register soon, as these classes will be closed in the near future.

The registration fee for all the offerings will be the same as last year, with the exception of the welding class.

Registrations may be made at the main office of the high school on Vine avenue. There will be no refunds made because of the added expense of running the program this year. However, it will be possible for persons to transfer from one class to another in case the classes are not filled.

All persons who drive to school are asked to park their cars in the space provided north of the auditorium. Any cars parked on Vine or N. St. Johns avenues are liable to be tagged by the police department.

The book store will be open on Monday evening for the students to obtain the necessary books and other supplies used in the various courses.

Guides will be stationed throughout all the buildings to help everyone locate the rooms where his classes will be held.

Everyone is urged to attend his classes regularly each week. Some classes will be crowded and individual instruction will be difficult, but every effort will be made to give the students individual attention in those classes where such instruction is necessary.

Several classes which have been scheduled for one evening each week may be held on two evenings if the class so desires. This extra evening should be utilized in such courses as typing and shorthand.

Any further information that may be wanted can be received by calling A. N. Thurston at the Highland Park high school, 4300.

The regular meeting of the Service Men's Mothers' club on Wednesday, Oct. 14, will not be held in the "Y," as usual, but will take the form of an open house, at 306 N. Green Bay road. This is the house operated by the service mothers for the accommodation of service men with young children. Three young families are now installed, and by the end of the present week the remaining three rooms will be ready for use. Open house for the public will be held on Sunday, Oct. 18, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The response for furnishings for this establishment has been overwhelming, according to the committee. The house is now equipped, and the excess furniture is being passed on as need arises. One article still lacking is an electric washer. Possible donors may contact Mrs. E. A. Jenkins, H. P. 1560.

The services of a registered nurse, Mrs. Romaine Martino, have been offered, gratis, to residents of the house when needed.

The Fort Knox Armoraiders will defend their goal posts, as will the Camp Grant Warriors in the best American tradition—inch by inch yours in sports.

The ticket office is located at U. S. O. building, 21 N. Green Bay road. Tickets are also being handled by luncheon clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Gell's Drug Store, in the "Fly for Navy" booth, American Legion and Highland Ten Pin.

COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY

Fall is the best of all seasons for color photography. Get a roll of color film, and start your fall snaphooting now.

WITH all the beauty and drama that can be packed into photography, it's still very difficult to find any black-and-white picture which measures up to a good natural-color snapshot. And without doubt that's one of the main reasons why color photography is becoming ever more popular these days.

Another reason, of course, is that it's just as easy to make fine color pictures as good black-and-white snapshots. So, now that fall is here, why don't you load your camera with color film and take full advantage of the brilliant seasonal coloring.

Technically speaking, you have just a few simple things to do. First you should read the instruction sheet that comes with your film. That's important, even if you've taken color pictures before because the two major types of color film have different reactions and characteristics—and color film differs radically from black-and-white.

Next, watch your exposures carefully. Correct exposure is absolutely vital to good color photography, so follow all exposure recommendations implicitly. With 35-mm. or sheet color film of the regular or outdoor type, the correct exposure for a crisp, clear, sunny day is 1/50 second at f/8.3, or 1/25 second at f/8. But, with roll type color film of the type that gives you a color negative, the basic exposure is 1/50 second at f/11.

Finally, watch the lighting. The best possible light for color photography is midmorning or midafternoon sunshine on a bright, clear day. Front or "flat" lighting when the sun is behind the camera, as in our illustration, will give you the best results.

Color photography is really fascinating. Try it once—I'm sure you'll be quickly convinced.

All Civic Leaders Cooperate in Promoting North Shore Army Day

The energy and spirit with which civic leaders in all the North Shore towns are getting behind North Shore Army day is a revelation, according to the committee in charge. It will be climaxed with the only All-Army football classic of the season -- that between Camp Grant and Fort Knox at Dyché stadium on Saturday, Oct. 31.

Each of the twelve towns along the lake from Evanston to Zion has now opened ticket offices, and will be striving to put their town over the top in support of the Army day celebration, the receipts of which are going to the athletic funds of the two camps who are being honored.

Praise from Captain

Captain Paul Heverly of Fort Knox expresses enthusiasm for the spirit that is animating the towns in helping to make an epochal day of Oct. 31 for the boys in the army. Says Heverly:

"We of the United States take pride in our athletic achievements, we are a sports-loving nation, there isn't an open field in this country that doesn't have the crossbars representing a football field, or a diamond, representing baseball. Our youth are developed here—mentally and physically.

"The Fort Knox Armoraiders will defend their goal posts, as will the Camp Grant Warriors in the best American tradition—inch by inch yours in sports."

The ticket office is located at U. S. O. building, 21 N. Green Bay road. Tickets are also being handled by luncheon clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Gell's Drug Store, in the "Fly for Navy" booth, American Legion and Highland Ten Pin.

Opera Season to Open in Chicago On Saturday, Nov. 7

"Music as a Stabilizing Force, a Patriotic Influence, an Inspirational Morale Builder" will mark the opening of the Chicago Opera company on Saturday evening, Nov. 7, with a non-subscription performance at the Civic Opera House. The regular five week subscription season will follow from Nov. 9 to Dec. 12. Subscriptions may now be purchased at the regular seasonal discount.

Fortune Galle will again serve as general director. The Illinois Opera guild is responsible for the sale of subscription tickets and coupon books, and the revenue of these sales will go toward one of the main supports of a recreational fund for men in the armed service.

Reservations may be placed with Mrs. Oscar H. Plotkin of 2751 S. Deere Park drive, chairman for Highland Park of the Illinois Opera guild. On the committee in charge of the operas are Mrs. Albert Kidd, Mrs. Louis Trenton, Mrs. Victor Imig, Mrs. A. C. Tenney and Mrs. Hamilton Winston.

Plaque Awarded To Great Lakes

Rear Adm. John Downes, commander of the Great Lakes Training station, has received word from Rear Adm. Ben Moreell, chief of the naval bureau of yards and docks in Washington, that the station has won the naval public works competition for 1942 and that a silver plaque will be forwarded when completed.

It was stated that tripling the size of the station with the construction of 500 new buildings was an outstanding accomplishment and that buildings had been completed more rapidly than at any other station in the country, despite handicaps in obtaining men and material.

Officers of Fort Sheridan and enlisted men alike were in the audience of 1,000 that witnessed the presentation of the comedy, "The Family Upstairs," at the Highland Park High school on Friday. Pfc. Bob Umans, producer-director-actor, formerly on the stage, played Willie and supervised rehearsals at the U. S. O. club, 428 Railway ave.

Pfc. Umans did the same role on Broadway and appeared in "New Faces." He was scheduled to be in "Best Foot Forward," musical comedy now playing in Chicago, before he entered the army.

Pvt. Arthur McKinnie, ex-teacher at New Trier, author himself of "Orchid Flaming," enacted Father Heller. As a member of the Winnetka Drama club, he was in "The Whiteheaded Boy" and "Family Portrait." As a member of the Repertory guild of Springfield, Ill., he was seen in "Ibsen's Ghosts," "Wings Over Europe," "The First Legion" and "Dangerous Corner."

Portraying the mother was Catherine Payne of Chicago, radio actress, and, in real life, the mother of Lieut. Catherine M. Payne of Ft. Des Moines, Ia., a W.A.A.C.

Police Pick Up Three Colored Boys

Three little colored boys were picked up by Highland Park police Friday when they were found milking goats in the yard at the home of Joe Siegle, 2141 Prairie avenue.

The boys were William Grant, 10, 4810 St. Lawrence avenue, Chicago; Napoleon Hartley, 9, 416 E. 37th street, Chicago, and Merwyn McCune, 13, 649 E. 47th street, Chicago. They told police they were on their way to Milwaukee and had slept in the woods. They were called for by their parents.

Temple to Feature Supper and Dancing

A supper meeting and dancing will be featured at the North Shore Congregation Israel, Glencoe, Sunday evening, Oct. 11, at 6:30 o'clock.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Rabbi Richard C. Hertz, and there will be entertainment and refreshments. Post confirmants are invited to attend.

TANK DRIVERS AVOID TRAPS

One of the most dangerous of pedestrian practices is pictured in the poster which is being distributed to more than 25,000 classrooms in the Illinois and Indiana territory of the Chicago Motor Club during October. This "tank trap" type of accident, which is caused by crossing streets in the parked car area in the middle of the block, accounts for almost one-third of all traffic injuries and fatalities involving children.

IF YOU want to laugh, want to stop thinking about the war for just a little while, be sure to see "The Major and the Minor." It's one of the most delightful pictures that has come along in many a moon. Ginger Rogers, as the young woman who dons little girl's clothes in order to ride half-fare on a train taking her home, gives an expert performance, establishing herself firmly as one of our leading comedienne. Ray Milland is excellent, as is the rest of the cast. It's a swell picture—don't miss it!

One of the best friends and former associates of Gen. Draja Mihailovitch, leader of the Yugoslavian guerrillas, is Tom Lincir, now in Hollywood working for Columbia pictures. Columbia has made a number of war pictures—"The Commandos," "Submarine Raider," etc. but Tom Lincir's been in none of them—he's a conga dancer in "My Sister Eileen," movie version of the stage play laid in New York, with Rosalind Russell and Brian Aherne.

About a year ago RKO bought a novel, "There Goes Lona Henry," and afterward gave up the idea of making it. Now it's being readied as a picture for Ruth Warrick. It's the story of an ambitious Washington society woman.

Richard Arlen and Arlene Judo certainly started something when, working in "Wildcat," they suggested that each time a player made a mistake in his dialogue he make a contribution to the American Red Cross; fewer errors mean fewer retakes, so the company profits, and the Red Cross makes money when somebody does blow his lines. With film companies cutting expenses, it's a swell idea.

Alexis Smith has been urging Warner Bros. to contribute all the metal from its numerous hoopskirts, weighted petticoats and the like to the nation's scrap metal drive. "I had to wear costumes like that all through 'Gentleman Jim,'" said she, "and now I'm doing it again in 'The Adventures of Mark Twain.' I've packed around enough lead and steel to make a dozen of those General Grant tanks! The studio would be doing the government—and me!—a favor if they'd just turn it all in."

Olivia de Havilland's learning to play the saxophone—brings the shiny new instrument to her dressing room and tootles between scenes of "The Princess O'Rourke." She played "Happy Birthday" for the sound stage doorman the other day, her first public performance. She also offered him three cigars, in case he didn't care for her music. He didn't comment on the music, but took the cigars.

Sergt. Gene Autrey used to think he was pretty busy when he was making pictures, running his own radio and his two ranches and doing his regular air stint. But now! He does the air show, also the regular work of an army sergeant, and he's picking up flying hours and burning the midnight oil, studying up on the book work needed for army flying examinations!

Lewis Milestone, directing "The Edge of Darkness," was worried when the company went on location on the Monterey peninsula, for fear that some of the cast might be shot on sight. It's a story of the underground movement in Norway, and green-clad Nazi troopers play an important part in it. "If a German soldier is seen around Monterey, he'll be an actor," was part of Milestone's warning to citizens.

ODDS AND ENDS—Clark Gable has lost 27 pounds since he joined the army... Picture celebrities are observing strict diets by going to Hollywood shindigs in groups, in station wagons... They're making work on "The Immortal Sergeant" so that Henry Fonda can report to the navy on time... Because Martha Scott went to New York to do a guest appearance on "Stage Door Canteen," her husband, Carlton Allon, got a permanent job at NBC as director of the city's "Alibi Irish Rose"...
