Comedy Hit at Harris Theatre

Now entertaining large audiences nightly at the Harris Theatre in Chicago is "Junior Miss," the smartest and liveliest stage comedy that has come west from Broadway in many seasons. After this delightful play had enjoyed ten solid months in New York, its producer, Max Gordon, organized a special cast to present it in Chicago. Now entering its fourth week there it undoubtedly will remain at the Harris until Thanksgiving and beyond.

Cecil Smith, critic for the Chicago Tribune, said of "Junior Miss," the morning after its opening at the Harris: "It is such a typhoon of merriment that it is an automatic smash hit." Wolfe Kaufman in the Chicago Sun declared: "I laughed long, loud and frequently at 'Junior Miss.' And I intend to see it again soon and laugh some more. I loved it." Robert Pollak in the Chicago Times added: "'Junior Miss' has the wallop of howling comedy. It should run until the dogwood blossoms." (That means May). Lloyd Lewis in the Chicago Daily News pronounced the comedy "amazingly humorous": while William Leonard in the Journal of Commerce declared it to be "a happy, saucy, rewarding show, refreshing and resourceful."

These press opinions have been endorsed by every audience which has seen the bright, breezy comedy to date. "A riot of fun and laughter" has been their nightly verdict.

The comedy revolves around a girl, Judy Graves, whose movie fed imagination causes her to dramatize everything she sees or hears in terms of motion pictures she has attended, thereby getting her family and friends into difficulties at once serious and ludicrous. Lenore Thomas, who plays the title character, has made one of the biggest hits that a youngster ever achieved in Chicago. Among the other well known players in the large and talented cast are Lois Wilson, Eddie Nugent, Harry Elberbe, Loring Smith, Adrienne Marden, Doro Merande, Eileen Clarence and Sandra Holman. Performances are given nightly including Sundays and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Government In Wartime Subject of Council's Lectures

The North Shore committee of the Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. Harry L. Canmann, chairman, has planned a program for the coming season. There will be two open meetings, one in November and one in May, at which time, programs of interest to women in the world of today will be presented.

Mrs. Eugene Weinberg has arranged for three members of the Illinois League of Women's Voters, Mesdames, Walter Fisher and Edward Nix of Winnetka and Mrs. Marc Law of Highland Park, to give the A.B.C.'s of government in wartime. Mrs. Law is state chairman of government and its operations; Mrs. Nix is state chairman of government and economic welfare, and Mrs. Fisher is national treasurer.

During the winter season, Mrs. Helen Adams will conduct a course on "Personalities in Government." These lectures will be given the first Wednesday of each month beginning with December, through April, in the temple lounge. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

During the summer, the North Shore committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Canmann of Highland Park, Mrs. Nathan Bederman of Winnetka and Mrs. Abraham Freiler of Glencoe, has collected funds to pay for the milk used at the council camp at Wauconda. If there are any milk bottles still outstanding in the community, they should be sent to Mrs. Freiler. This project will be repeated next year.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SLOW, SHARP AND STEADY

Everybody has heard of the three "R's," but the photographer who took this picture knew the three "S's" of successful photography—Slow, Sharp, and Steady—and applied them to his work.

READIN', 'Ritin', 'Rithmetic—the three "R's"—are familiar to all of us. But have you heard of the three "S's" of photography—Slow, Sharp, and Steady? They're the basis of many a fine picture, even though most of us never think of them often enough.

Consider "Slowness" for instance. Nobody likes to be thought of as a slow worker. Everybody likes to be right up on his toes when taking pictures . . . getting the job done fast and efficiently . . . and that's fine under most circumstances, but when you're just getting started photographically, it often leads to unnecessary mistakes.

So before making any snapshot, take the time to think things through and check up on yourself. Make sure your focus, exposure, and composition are right. And remember that the second "S" in successful photography—Sharpness—depends upon correct focus. So don't guess. If you aren't certain, either measure the distance from your camera to your subject, pace it off, or use a range finder, unless your camera is fixed focus. That's the way most experienced photographers work.

Finally, remember that the "Steadiness" which helps you avoid blurred pictures means holding your camera absolutely still. If you can't do that, place it on some firm support such as a tripod, a table, or a fence, and don't jar it when you are making exposures. With the camera empty, of course, practice releasing the shutter with a smooth, even "squeeze" until you can make your exposures without jarring the camera at all. That's the Slow, Sharp, and Steady way to photographic success.

A large number of new as well as the old members of the Highland Park League of Women Voters will congregate together for their first monthly meeting Wednesday, Oct. 21, at the Moraine hotel, gathering at 12:45 for luncheon. Mr. Bairstow, a resident of Waukegan, is corporation counsel for that city.

Pre-School Children May Be 'Checked' At Writers' Meetings

Pre-school children may be "checked" during the Thursday morning meetings of the North Shore Creative Writers and several mothers of first graders leave class early in order to be home for an early lunch, but the group that the education committee of the Y. W. C. A. is finding must be provided for. Miss Bonnie Bennett, eight months old whose mother Rowena Bennett is the leader of the group, and the five-months-old baby of Mrs. Allan Pither on Prospect, one of the newcomers in class, feel that they must start their own nursery school.

Perhaps a carriage row for morning napping can be maintained in front of the "Y" on Thursday mornings instead of the automobile row that has previously been there. While one mother is watching her child she could give others an opportunity to submit her manuscripts on baby problems which have a real market in the women's magazines or short poems that children inspire.

One of the youngest members of the class from the point of view of enthusiasm and energy in turning in stories is Mrs. O. L. Olesen, original founder of the Mothers' club at the "Y" almost thirty years ago. The Service Men's Mothers' club has several talented representatives in the writing class.

Among the local people who dropped in last Thursday morning were Hazel Crow Elwell, Mildred Haessler, Mrs. Fred Giesecke, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. John Lemmon, Mrs. Lester Olson, Alice Marks, Miriam Stevers, Mrs. Arthur Vyse, Mrs. Charles Rodgers, Mrs. D. W. MacCorquodale Elizabeth Fontaine and Mrs. A. E. Jenkins. The Service Men's Wives club was represented by Betty Hicks and Mrs. Glen Rounds, wife of the author, Miss Sally Marks of the University of Chicago education department, Edith Lovejoy Pierce of Chicago, a group from Libertyville with Mrs. Wirt Wright, two Oak Parkers, and a Russian writer from Kenosha, Wis., were among the long distance class attendants.

Since some class members ride many hours on the train to get to Highland Park, local people are being reminded of this opportunity in their own home town by Mrs. Warren Danley, president of the Y. W. C. A.

Successful Party Given By Mothers

The victory party, given by the Service Mothers' club on Wednesday evening, Oct. 7, was a success, socially and financially. Mrs. Joseph Cameron, Mrs. Joseph Peddie, Mrs. Elmer Clavey and their assistants were in charge of the arrangements. The purchase of a $100 war bond is assured, with a margin for financing other plans of a patriotic nature.

The residence on 306 No. Green Bay road prepared by Mrs. H. A. Jenkins and her corps of workers for the housing of servicemen with small children is now ready for occupancy. Open house will be held here for the members of the club on Wednesday, Oct. 14, and for the public on Sunday, Oct. 18, from 3 to 5 o'clock.
