

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
Consolidated Features—WNU Release.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Lillian M. Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., is the mother of 12 children, holds six college degrees and is a distinguished engineer. In the various Living Proof That Women Can Be Great Engineers moves to bring women into war work engineering, including the present forum of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at Rochester, Mrs. Gilbreth is busy and prominent. Her sixth child was born when she was getting her Ph.D. at Brown university. I asked her a few years ago if it wasn't quite an engineering problem, running a house with 12 children. She said that was proof enough for anybody that women could be, and were, good engineers.

Her degrees, in literature and engineering, are from the University of California, Brown, Michigan, Rutgers and Russell Sage college. She shared the study and practice of her husband, Dr. Frank B. Gilbreth, an eminent engineer, and when he died, in 1924, picked up his work as well as her own, chiefly in the field of industrial motion study, and in combatting drugery, inefficiency and waste in factories. She believes that tools are liberating instruments if used intelligently and the frankenstein of modern machinery can be neatly and nicely domesticated. Women, she thinks, can be a great help in this—as well as in winning the war.

She is a brisk and personable lady, 63 years old, born and reared in Oakland, Calif. As a consultant in factory processes and organization, she stresses the fact that her methods involve no "speed-up" plans.

WE ONCE knew an illustrious and talkative citizen, an authority on nearly everything of public interest, who came to grief when his ghost suddenly up and died on him. Intruder there never really had been any such person as he was supposed to be. He was a synthesis of this hired alter ego and when the ghost died the great public man became quite inarticulate and helpless. Before long he was utterly forgotten.

Henry J. Kaiser, the cargo plane and ship wizard, has a ghost but need have no such worries. He can say his say effectively and it is merely in the interest of his famous super-efficiency that he has Philip H. Parrish, editorial writer of the Portland Oregonian, writing his speeches and statements for him. It might mean a loss of a half dozen ships if Mr. Kaiser took time out to write speeches. Mr. Kaiser can lay the keel of a sentence or a speech as simply and soundly as the next man. Mr. Parrish, one of the best wordsmiths in the business, assembles the various parts and brings through the superstructure, all shipshape and in jigtime, and it's all authentic Kaiser.

As to transportation, Mr. Parrish started away back of scratch, several years ago, with a book, "Before the Covered Wagon." He is a fast worker and moved on handily into the cargo plane era, with Mr. Kaiser and, in charge of the editorial page of the Portland Oregonian, made his typewriter crack steam-riveter blows in the build-up of the master shipbuilder. Everybody out that way knows him as Phil Parrish, turning in a professional talent of high order to help win the war. Having started newspaper work in Olympia, Ore., on the Morning Olympian he catches in nicely the quite uniformly Olympian stride of Mr. Kaiser.

Mr. Parrish is 46 years old, a native of Constantine, Mich., educated at the Oregon State college and the University of Wisconsin. In Portland, he worked first as a reporter on the Journal and then worked on through virtually every editorial post on the Oregonian. He takes the long view of Oregon and the nation, as disclosed in another successful book of his, "Historic Oregon." He is married and has one daughter.

SIR EDWIN L. LUYTENS, venerated and distinguished British architect, takes over the job of putting London together again, under the mandate of the Royal academy, of which he was elected president in 1938. Not only will he restore the bombed areas, but he will tear up the old hang-overs of his-or-miss development and bring through a modern city, along that old line of Roman, Saxon, Norman, modern growth. He designed the British embassy at Washington and many other great government buildings.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 11.

The Golden Text was, "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy blessing is upon thy people" (Psalms 3: 8).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawyer, the Lord is our king; he will save us. And the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick; the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity" (Isaiah 33: 22, 24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Do not believe in any supposed necessity for sin, disease, or death, knowing (as you ought to know) that God never requires obedience to a so-called material law, for no such law exists. The belief in sin and death is destroyed by the law of God, which is the law of Life instead of death, of harmony instead of discord, of Spirit instead of the flesh" (p. 283).
