Treasury Center Boosts Bond Sales

Treasury Center is proving to be just that for Uncle Sam's fighting forces because every day an average of $800,000 in War Savings Stamps, Bonds, Corsages and Boutonnieres are being bought there to help finance the war. Located at 72 West Adams Street and covering some 9000 square feet of space donated by the Commonwealth Edison Company, the Center is host every day to thousands of men, women and children who are entertained by the best professional and amateur performers of stage, screen and radio.

The Center which has been established for the duration combines War Bond sales with a graphic display of many kinds of combat equipment. Visitors actually see the fighting equipment their war savings stamps and bonds buy, — jeeps, coast guard boats, guns and shells, that are temporarily loaned by the various military departments before being used in combat. There is a 500 pound aerial bomb, a seat-type parachute and a breeches buoy. Here you see the sturdy construction of American machines of modern war-making. Each piece is plainly price-tagged — you can see how many bonds it takes to buy a gun, a shell or surf boat.

Since its establishment on August 31, Treasury Center, which is sponsored by the Illinois War Savings Staff, United States Treasury, has sold $265,932.65 worth of war savings stamps, bonds, corsages and boutonnieres. Jimmy Cagney spoke at Treasury Center on opening day as a special guest artist. Each day thereafter a special broadcast and entertainment has attracted hundreds of visitors and purchasers. Among those who have contributed their talent to stimulate the sale of war savings stamps and bonds are: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Astaire, Hugh Herbert, Buddy Ebsen, Skeets Gallagher, Joy Hodges, Marty May, Ben Bernie, Pat Flanagan, Woody Herman, Lawrence Welk, Chico Marx, Griff Williams and the entire cast of Hellzapoppin'.

The special highlight of these noonday features are the radio broadcasts. On Monday October 19, WGN began a series of regular broadcasts, presenting three name orchestras and a special show three times weekly, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 12:05 to 12:30 P.M. Lee Bennett, WGN announcer, broadcast the special Treasury Center show written by Don Brinkley and produced by L. E. Jacobson, as their contribution to stimulate the sale of war savings bonds. On Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, WCFL broadcasts a noon-time program from 11:45 to 12 noon. Bob Purcell is Treasury Center announcer for station WCFL.

Organizations, clubs and community groups have contributed amateur talent to make the Center a popular place to buy war savings bonds. The St. George School for Girls Glee Club, a cast from the Chicago Academy of Theater Arts are among those appearing as guest artists of the War Savings Staff. Talent on these programs appear through the courtesy of the American Theatrical War-time Activities Committee and the American Federation of Musicians and receive no compensation for their time.

GREASE SALVAGE COMMITTEES HEAR CITY CHAIRMAN

A meeting of the chairmen of the Grease Salvage committees of Division 8, was held this week at the home of Mrs. John Coleman, Jr., of Lake Forest, grease chairman of the division. Mrs. Edward L. Cooley represented Highland Park, substituting for Mrs. Tom Wyles.

Mrs. Walter Kelley, chairman of the Chicago area, was present and spoke on the problems and solutions of grease salvage. "There are many key women who consistently save and sell grease from their kitchens," she stated. "There is almost an equal number of women who do not. Those who do not salvage their waste fats are women who could not be reached by the regular channels of meetings and newspaper notices."

Mrs. Kelly suggested that each woman who is now a consistent saver of waste fats, undertake to secure one friend not now saving grease, for the salvage effort. In this way, the amount of grease would practically double.

Germany's Shortage

"Many experts tell us that one of the major contributing factors on Germany's loss of the last war was the acute shortage of fats both edible and for explosives," she continued. "It would be far better for us as consumers to use fresh fats, both vegetable and animal, and to turn over the used fats for the war effort than for our fat consumption to be curtailed. In curtailment we would necessarily have to use and re-use the greases."

The Suburban Waste Paper Company has gone out of business. The city trucks will now pick up the heavy scrap which cannot be put into the station boxes and other salvage depots. There will be no regular days for collection. Each person having heavy scrap should call the Office of Civilian Defense, H. P. 1400, and when sufficient scrap is listed in a district the trucks will pick up. The trucks will not make stops for quantities small enough to be put in the salvage depots. These may be given junior captains or deposited in the boxes. The city will not pick up waste paper. If householders wish to sell their scrap they must make their own arrangements. Names of scrap dealers may be found in the classified telephone directory.

POST OFFICE SCHEDULE

The Highland Park post office will be on Saturday schedule on Wednesday, Nov. 11, Armistice day. There will be one delivery of mail in the morning and the post office windows will remain open until 1 p.m.

Civilian Defense News

The Office of Civilian Defense has announced that a course in home nursing will be given as soon as a sufficient number of applicants have signed up. With so many nurses called from private practice to the armed services, there will be a need for home nursing instruction. The government has urged that there be someone in every home who has taken the course. Anyone interested should call the Office of Civilian Defense, H. P. 1400, and state a preference as to time for the class.

Applicants for first aid and nutrition courses should also call and sign up now. New classes will begin as soon as the registration is large enough.

The office has the following names on its list of Highland Park residents who have taken the nurses' aide training course: Miss Claire Beneke, Mrs. William C. Egan, Mrs. Herbert W.

Allan Loeb and Mrs. Edgar Heymann. All others who have taken the course should call 1400 and complete the list. Maintaining files of all activities classed under civilian defense is one of the principal responsibilities of the office, and they ask that all civilian defense personnel notify them of change of address or on entering the service so that their information may be kept up to date.

The office will be closed all day on Wednesday, Nov. 11, Armistice day. Hirsh, Mrs. J. A. Newman Jr., Mrs.
