

Executive Officer At Great Lakes Leaves; Capt. Lowry Succeeds

Capt. T. De Witt Carr, executive officer at the Great Lakes Naval Training station for the last 15 months, will leave next week for return to sea duty with the United States fleet. Succeeding Capt. Carr will be Capt. Frank J. Lowry, 54 years old, a graduate of the naval academy.

Capt. Carr came to Great Lakes after giving up command of destroyer division 7, Pacific fleet. During the last World War he served aboard a battleship operating with the British fleet in the North sea. While at Great Lakes, he has had an important part in expansion of the station from a training center for 1,500 men to one with a capacity of 60,000.

This is Capt. Lowry's first tour of duty at Great Lakes, but not his first experience at training stations. During the last war he commanded the receiving station and training station at Mare Island, Calif., and from 1933 to 1936 he was training officer at the naval station in San Diego, Calif.

Armistice Day Commemorated By N. S. Sisterhood

The North Shore Congregation Israel Sisterhood, at its regular monthly meeting Monday, Nov. 16, at 2 p. m., presents its program commemorating this country's first wartime Armistice day, Nov. 11, a panel discussion entitled "Post-War Worlds We Make."

The symposium comprises Rabbi Morton M. Berman, of Temple Isaiah Israel, Perry Dunlap Smith, headmaster of North Shore Country Day school, and H. L. McCarthy, regional director of the Social Security administration for this area.

The speakers, active in community affairs in addition to their own special fields of professional interest, will dedicate Armistice day which the Sisterhood, through its study program of international relations and current affairs, conducted by Mrs. David H. Cahn, cooperating with organizations throughout the country, this year celebrates as "World Government Day."

Mrs. Milton J. Klee, president of the Sisterhood, invites community participation.

Three Homes Are Burglarized During Past Three Weeks

It has been reported by the police department that three homes have been burglarized in Highland Park since Oct. 20.

The first home to be entered was that of Oliver Heath, 305 Laurel avenue, when radio, rugs, and silverware were taken. On Oct. 30, H. E. Monk of 310 Roger Williams avenue reported that a large amount of silverware and rugs were missing. The latest burglary was last Friday night, when the home of Jay Thompson, 334 N. Sheridan road, was looted.

The home of A. O. Gilbert, 195 Lakewood place, was reported entered on the same night the Monk home was burglarized, but nothing was missing from the house.

Role Of Girl Scouts In Present Crisis Discussed

The role of Girl Scouts and their leaders in the present war effort, and plans by which this roll may be performed effectively not only as an aid in winning the war but in winning the peace which follows, were highlights on an all-day meeting of Girl Scout leaders, educators and community planners Friday, November 6, in the Presbyterian church, Laurel and Linden avenues.

More than 100 Girl Scout workers from communities in the north suburban area, including Glencoe, Libertyville, Deerfield, Bannockburn, Lake Forest, Highwood, Northbrook and Lake Bluff attended the meeting, at which members of the Highland Park Girl Scout council were hostesses. The general theme of the conference was "Girl Scouting in Wartime Community Planning."

Speakers emphasized the necessity of stressing, at all times, a world view in Girl Scout work and activities. "Girl Scouts must learn for themselves, through their leaders and through the work which they do, the value of breaking down international barriers and working and playing with the peoples of all nations. Barriers of race, color and creed must be eliminated," it was stated.

"Girl Scouts can contribute most effectively to such world accord by doing their jobs as effectively as possible in their own 'back yards.' By doing the work closest to home and by uniting to present a common front to the solution of current problems, Girl Scouts can set an example of purpose and sincere effort which will reflect importantly in world affairs. In the current situation, Girl Scouts must not look upon the work they do as merely emergency work but must plan constructively to keep pace with community life and movement after the war is over."

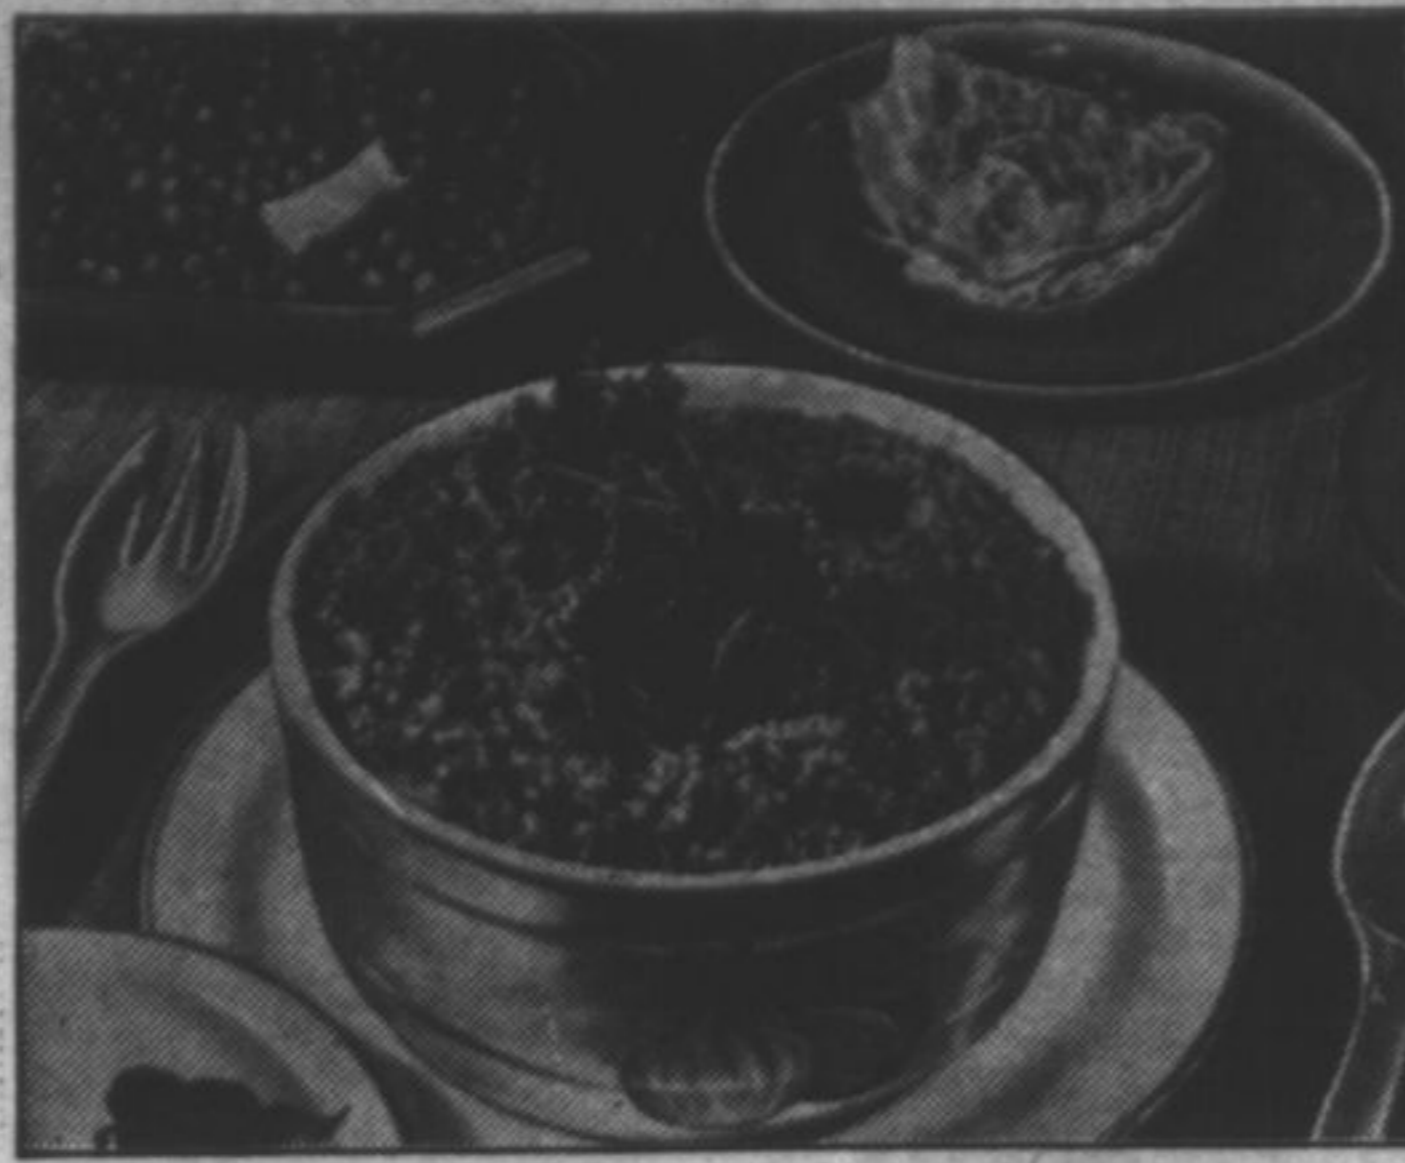

Concrete suggestions were given of means by which Girl Scouts may most effectively serve included keeping physically and mentally alert, learning the value of food and nutrition, participating in war bond and stamp sales, salvage drives, Red Cross work, Community Chest and other community activities, home nursing, first aid, child care, training for service in air raids, etc.

Presiding at the conference was Mrs. C. Eugene Pfister, commissioner of the Highland Park council of Girl Scouts, who welcomed the Girl Scout leaders and workers from other suburbs. Speakers included Mrs. A. Gordon Bradt, commissioner of the Evanston Girl Scout council, Paul J. Misner, superintendent of the Glencoe schools, Dr. Harold Spears, principal, Highland Park high school, Mrs. Charles Carey, commissioner of the Glencoe Girl Scout council, Mrs. Alfred Taylor, chairman of the Women's division of civilian defense, Glencoe; C. Edwin Jones; Mrs. Isabelle Reid Chevlin, assistant director, Chicago chapter of the Junior Red Cross, and Mrs. Glenn Thompson, organization chairman of the Glencoe Girl Scout council.

HOW TO LOVE A LEFTOVER

Camouflage it as a skillfully seasoned oven-baked Casserole

says Dorothy Greig

Left over meat and condensed chicken noodle soup are combined to make a savory hot casserole dish.

WHEN Dad matters deep distaste over leftovers it's usually because the leftovers have been weary looking and tag-endy. But set the Old Dear down to a dish that's hot, fresh and releasing zesty whiffs with every dip of the serving spoon, and he'll sail into it with gusto—never even thinking of it as a leftover.

Such a dish is the casserole made from left over meat and served as the main course in the supper outlined below. Let's consider that supper. It's the type of meal that experts mean when they talk of "good nutrition"—because it's well balanced and vitamin-rich. But we'll take it, thank you, because it's tempting from the first stimulating sip of tomato juice to the last forkful of spicy pumpkin pie:

FAMILY SUPPER

Tomato Juice

*Meat and Noodle Casserole

Buttered Peas

Hearts of Lettuce with Russian Dressing

Pumpkin Pie with Cheese Coffee — Milk

*Meat and Noodle Casserole

3 cans condensed chicken noodle soup

2 tablespoons butter

4 tablespoons flour

1/2 cup milk

1 teaspoon lemon juice

1 cup cooked meat (veal, pork, chicken or ham)

1/2 cup crushed buttered cornflakes

Strain the chicken noodle soup.

Melt the butter in a saucepan, add flour and mix well. Then add the chicken broth, strained from the soup, and milk; cook until thickened. Add chicken and noodles (strained from the soup), lemon juice and dried cooked meat. Stir well and turn into a buttered casserole. Sprinkle buttered corn flakes crumbs over the top and brown in a hot oven 400° F. for 15 minutes. Serves 4 to 5.

Complete Victory Garden Needs Cold Frame

The complete Victory Garden should have a cold frame. There seems to be no end to its uses. Designed principally for spring to hurry up the season, it makes a perfect seed bed for summer seedlings, as well as a late planting of perennials.

The frosts of late fall bring to mind problems of harboring perennial seedlings and the cold frame will provide additional protection. The best all-around method is to pot the plants, and set them into the soil of the frame. Such treatment assures them a few more weeks of growth, and will enable them to benefit from extra warmth in the spring and get an early start.

Timely Use

A more timely use for the cold frame during the cold weather is for rooting winter flowering bulbs. Hyacinths, early tulips, narcissi and daffodils are the principal ones which need a dark, cool situation to encourage early root formation.

Two lovely perennials which are difficult to grow without protection are the foxgloves with their stately spires, and the canterbury bells. Although they are perfectly hardy so far as cold weather is concerned, they are very susceptible to wet weather, and thawing and freezing. There is only one safe way to grow them in cold climates and that is by wintering them in a cold frame, where they will be safe from wet and the changes in temperature will be tempered by the glass of the frame.

School Teacher to Address Local D. A. R.

Dr. Frederick Juchhoff, former dean of the College of William and Mary and as present a member of the faculty of Aurora college, will speak today (Thursday) at a meeting of the North Shore chapter of the D. A. R. at the home of Mrs. Frederick A. Watkins, 29 Dale avenue.

Dr. Juchhoff will speak on the subject, "Changes in Our Constitution by Judicial Interpretation."

Here are some tips on cleaning your lamp shades... to make them look new and bright

American housewives, restricted by scarcities and more interested in putting extra cash into War Bonds, are making old things about the house do double duty. There was a time when a dirty lamp shade meant a trip to the store for a new one, but now the picture is changed. Modern American housewives now look for a way to repair and renew the nice things they have, to keep their homes bright and shining at minimum expense.

One direct way to a bright, cozy home is to have clean lamp shades. Read these easy rules on cleaning them up safely, as recommended by our Home Lighting Advisors.

FIRST: Most fabric shades which are sewed are washable. Shades which are glued on, painted or made with materials that shrink when wet are not washable. Shades which are held with glue can be dry cleaned.

SECOND: Before washing remove all loose dust with a soft brush, and tie a cord on the wire at the top long enough for hanging the shade. Then make a sudsy solution of warm water and completely dissolved mild soap flakes. If the top or bottom is especially soiled, dip a soft brush in the water and brush lightly. Then dip the entire shade up and down in the soapy solution a number of times.

THIRD: After removing shade from soapy water, immediately rinse thoroughly in clear warm water (which has been prepared beforehand) by dipping up and down. Large tubs such as basement laundry tubs or bathtubs are ideal for shade washing.

FOURTH: Dry by hanging shade from clothes line by means of cord. Fast drying is essential to prevent the metal frame from rusting. Do not hang in sunshine or near artificial heat. Wind blowing through the shade will dry it quickly and evenly.
