Mrs. Kenneth Weir of Deerfield seeing the end of many months of work with the publication on Dec. 11 of a book of war humor titled "Liberty Laughs."

Mrs. Weir served as chairman o the executive committee of the North Shore Alumnae chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, professional fraternity for women in journalism. Under her direction the membership of the group has worked for months selecting and editing the best war humor from countless magazines, newspapers, and radio shows. All royalties from the publication are to be turned over to Army Emergency Relief.

The checks from the first large printing of Liberty Laughs, totaling almost $1,000, are to be presented to Col. Walter R. Jeffrey of Army Emergency Relief at a book luncheon to be held in the Georgian room of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., at 12:30 .m. on December 12.

The idea of compiling a book of the best war humor as a morale builder and a means of raising money for a worthy cause, originated with Frances Cavanah, Evanston author, and friend of Mrs. Weir. Both Miss Cavanah and Mrs. Weir were recently interviewed over radio station WGN in connection with the publication of the volume.

"Liberty Laughs" will be on all news stands on December 11.

It is planned that the regular two week Christmas vacation will be held, but a special vacation may be necessary in the middle winter period or at such times when the temperature drops to low levels.
