

League School Told How To Prevent Child Delinquency

"Preventing a child from getting into trouble cuts crime at the source. Money spent on prevention is saved on jails and criminal procedure," said Dr. H. J. McKean, head of the Big Brother association of Waukegan, member of the state Delinquency Prevention commission, and chairman of the Civilian Defense Youth Activities of Lake County, at the Highland Park League of Women Voters' school on December 7.

Mrs. Walter E. Neisser, chairman of the Social Welfare department was in charge of the meeting. Reports were presented by Mrs. Lawrence M. Stein, Mrs. Elwood Hansmann and Mrs. D. W. MacCorquedale. Chief of Police Martin Kopp, representatives from the schools, churches, scouts, service clubs and recreational agencies were part of the large and enthusiastic audience.

A natural reaction to an unnatural situation was the definition for delinquency given by Dr. McKean. "Patience, understanding, and perseverance are needed to develop the right kind of character in a child. Preaching and pointing out faults succeed only in deepening his sense of inferiority, which is usually at the seat of the trouble. He becomes an expert at deception, while he despises himself subconsciously, and seeks compensation in anti-social acts." In its first year the Big Brothers saved sixty boys from going before the County Court.

"Prevention is the keynote of any delinquency program. All community resources must work together," said Dr. McKean. "Community house, park board, and recreation agencies of churches and schools must make their plans jointly, with each knowing just what the others are doing. Adequate probationary services, and expert psychiatric workers are a vital part of the program."

The need for raising the age of criminal responsibility from ten years to eighteen was clearly shown in a chart prepared and explained by Mrs. MacCorquedale. Established at ten years in 1827, it still stands the same, although it was raised in 1905 to seventeen for boys and eighteen for girls. This results in a conflict of laws, as the original act still stands.

The court getting original jurisdiction keeps it. Often a race between Juvenile and Criminal Courts for control of the child results. Most states have raised the age, as the Juvenile Court offers a greater opportunity for rehabilitation. But in Illinois the Criminal Court may still take any child over ten.

The League school, which has met every Monday since October 5, will take a vacation until Monday, Jan. 4.

Ravinia Women Collect Presents For Chicago Children

Toys and clothes are being collected at the Ravinia school for children of the Chicago Commons. A committee of the Ravinia Woman's club and the Ravinia P. T. A. are working on the project. Mrs. Franklin Bickmore, chairman of the philanthropy committee of the Woman's club, and Mrs. F. Harold Bennett, social activities chairman of the P. T. A., are in charge.

Toys, books, clothes and games will be accepted at the school any time before Dec. 16, when they will be taken by truck to the Chicago Commons.

Mrs. Bennett's committee will repair broken toys before they are sent to the children.

U.S.O. Clubs Serve Wassail Bowl At Christmas Time

The official Christmas drink of the United Service organizations is "The USO Wassail Bowl." This beverage will be served at Christmas in more than 1,000 USO clubs and units in this country and in off-shore bases.

The Wassail is an English drink representing "a wish for health and happiness." Wassail means "be thou well." It is drunk with friends with the toast—"Love and joy come to you—and to you Wassail too."

The recipe for the USO Wassail Bowl is as follows: 1 gallon cider, dash of grenadine, 6 egg whites separated and whipped, allspice, cinnamon, crushed cloves, pint of milk or cream. Heat and serve hot.

Adult Education Offers Course In Math For Young Men

The Adult Education department will offer a course for young men planning to enter the army or navy air corps. Charles S. Stunkel of the high school faculty will be the instructor in this course. Mr. Stunkel has contacted the air corps departments and will use the same text books that are now being used by the army and navy. Both departments emphasized the fact that such preliminary training would be invaluable for applicants and would make their training period much easier.

This course will start on Wednesday evening, Jan. 13, and registrations can be made on any Monday or Wednesday evening until Dec. 16. After that, in case the class is not filled, registrations will be received on Monday or Wednesday evenings, Jan. 4 and 6.

In addition to this offering, a beginning class will be offered in typing during the second term. This class will start on Monday evening, Jan. 11, and will be held on both Monday and Wednesday evenings during the term. Registrations can be made at the same times as listed for the math course.

Training Program for Civilian Defense To Be Completed

The training program for civilian defense workers in first aid, fire and gas defense will be completed under George Scheuchensflug (Mr. X) as co-ordinator of training with an advisory staff of instruction consisting of Chief Edward C. Hoskin of the fire department, Chief Martin E. Kopp of the police department, William F. Einbecker, instructor of chemistry of the Highland Park high school, Vallee C. Appel, and Ray Sneed of the fire department. Official civilian defense text books of instruction will be distributed by the instructors to the classes.

Office hours will, until further notice, be from 9 a. m. until 12 noon on each week day.

Frank J. Ronan, General Chairman.

Report Given By Christian Science Relief Committee

The Christian Science War Relief committee of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, which was established in September, 1940, has recently released its second annual report. This shows that it now has more than 1,500 branch units active in the United States of America besides many more in Great Britain, Canada, Australia, and the Union of South Africa.

The committee has assembled since Pearl Harbor over 66,000 pounds of durable clothing and bedding, in waterproof, mothproof, wooden cases, at convenient locations on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, ready for instant use should emergencies arise because of local enemy action.

More than 32,800 garments have been distributed, through military distribution centers, to men in the United States forces. A large British transport vessel which had arrived from tropical waters and was being repaired at Boston received 100 overcoats for officers. Folding cots have been given to overcrowded seamen's clubs. Civilians arriving in the United States suffering because of war conditions or action have been provided with clothing and other forms of relief. Among them are refugees from the Far East, who landed in California; and merchant seamen rescued from ships torpedoed along the Atlantic coast have been similarly cared for. This work is carried on by the committee without regard to creed or race.

Aid Refugees

One of the most impressive branches of the work from the start, before America entered the war, has been the distribution of clothing and comforts to bombed-out people in Great Britain and to refugees from Holland, Norway, Russia, Poland, Belgium, and other European countries. Clothing has gone direct from Boston to Russia, and knitted goods have been sent there from branches of the Committee in England. One example is the preparation, within six weeks, of 1,820 knitted garments for the Russians.

Throughout the entire Christian Science movement workers are making and collecting clothing of all kinds and sending it to the depots, where it is carefully inspected, sorted and packed in waterproof cases for shipment. One of the most recent of the committee's activities has been the sending of weekly food packages to British prisoners of war in Germany and Italy. This can be done according to the Geneva Convention. Only an occasional package has gone astray. Correspondence has been started with many of the prisoners and with their families in England. Some packages have been sent to civilians in Occupied France. It has not been possible to reach prisoners in the Far East.

Figures presented for the two-year period ending the first of October, this year, include over 1,600,000 pounds of clothing and bedding sent to the British Isles, more than 8,700 pounds to Russia, and more than 10,500 pounds to Finland, previous to that country's alliance with the Axis.

The committee is ready to aid in relieving human suffering caused by war wherever it can; and it cooperates with many other official relief agencies when sudden needs arise, readily contributing whatever of its supplies are available.

THE ROMANS HAD A WORD FOR IT

There is no restriction on many of our most tasty meats. There are such meat delicacies, for instance, as oxtails, lambtails, sweetbreads, tongue and the variety meats, hearts, livers, and kidneys. Europeans have made them famous with epicurean artistry. The trick in cooking these "delicacies" is to season with imagination. The ancients used to say that heart gave one courage. Today we say that heart contains vitamins necessary for health. It's the same thing. Why not treat the family with one of these little known but unrestricted delicacies, Oxtails Jardiniere, with today's meal of the week?

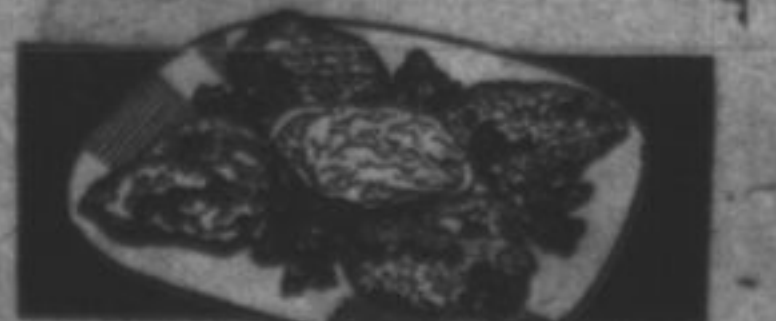

Meal of the Week

- OXTAILS JARDINIERE
BAKED POTATOES
GRAPEFRUIT AND LETTUCE SALAD
WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

a bit of camouflaging technique. It goes just as well on the home front as on the battle front.

ANOTHER DELICACY DE LUXE

Have your dealer slice a beef heart, then cube like a steak. Let stand several hours in a mixture of 2 tablespoons salad oil, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 3-4 onion slices, a cut garlic clove, a bit of parsley, half a bay leaf and pepper. Turn occasionally, rub mixture into meat. Lift out, drain and dry. Dredge with seasoned flour, brown on both sides with Bakerite, add the mixture and simmer until tender and nearly dry. Serve smothered in pan gravy.

"Camouflage" Enters the Kitchen

There's kitchen glamour in many of these unrestricted meat "delicacies." Their flavor, nutrition and good eating in a serving of tongue, brains, ox-tails or pork feet. They aren't counted in your voluntary meat ration of 2 1/4 pounds of meat per person each week. If your family isn't accustomed to eating these meats, then educate them with

Yes friends, learn to use more of these famous meat delicacies. They are so rich in minerals, vitamins and high quality proteins as any meats. Enjoy meat and most flavor at its best—there is none better than those that bear the proud name of Wilson's Certified.
