HOW TO STRETCH THE MEAT RATION

by Dorothy Greig

WELL, girls, here's the situation: Meat kite-high in price. Meat rationed, voluntarily now, rigidly later. Meat, some kinds, scarce. And the problem: How to make every pound seem as bounteous as two pounds. How to keep Pa and the youngsters contented with the meat part of the meal. It demands thought. It does indeed.

Here goes! First thought—call on rice, noodles, macaroni and bread crumbs to work their magic in stretching meat to bigger and better meat loaves, patties, and casseroles. Biscuit dough, atop a pie or as casing round a meat roll or sausage has its points, too.

But there are other extenders—and one of the best is condensed soup. A can of condensed vegetable soup, for instance, mixed with ground meat makes a larger and more nourishing stew, loaf or meat pie. Green pea soup, thick, just as it comes from the can, blended with mashed potatoes is rich filling for a meat roll—and has it flavor!

Or perhaps we just serve a hearty soup at the beginning of a meal as a substantial filler-in and bulder-up. Select a soup thick with vegetables and pieces of meat. Scotch broth, oxtail, vegetable-beef, chicken, clam chowder and the like are all savory and sustaining.

In the following we have used a beautifully seasoned stuffing to plump our flank steak into a generous dish, and a rich gravy to heighten its flavor.

Baked Stuffed Flank Steak

Stuffing for Steak:

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup onions chopped
- 4 cups lightly packed bread crumbs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 egg, beaten

Cook chopped onions in butter until yellow but not brown. Then add bread crumbs (made from bread at least one day old), seasonings, chopped parsley and beaten egg. Mix well.

Put the stuffing on the flank steak and roll meat around it. Fasten meat with skewers or tie with string. Melt the fat in a pan and brown the stuffed flank steak on all sides. Place in a roasting pan or Dutch oven and pour the mock turtle soup which has been mixed with the water and heated in the pan with the steak. Cover and put into a moderate oven, 350°F and bake 2-3 1/2 hours, basting and turning about every 45 minutes. The meat must be very well cooked and tender.

Serve "Baked Stuffed Flank Steak" on a platter and to the sauce in bottom of pan add 1 tablespoon flour mixed with 1 cup of water. Heat thoroughly and boil gently for about three minutes. Strain and serve. Serves 6 to 8.

Note: If flank steak is rather fat it may be necessary to skim off some of the fat before preparing the gravy.

Mrs. McDaniel will present a group of Christmas songs by Clokey, Rogers and Hehmann, and a varied group of piano numbers will be given by Mrs. Marjorie Cuthbertson, including Brahms G Minor Rhapsodie, Concert Etude by Liszt and Chopin's Polonaise.

The Music club chorus, under the direction of Helen Abbott Byfield, will close the program with chorus numbers and Christmas carols. Community singing will be led by Mrs. Byfield.

Arden Shore Boys to Have Holiday Dinner At Great Lakes

The boys at Arden Shore winter camp are looking forward eagerly to the annual high spot in their holiday season festivities — Christmas Day dinner at the U. S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes. Rear Admiral John Downs, Commandant of the station is their official host, but as in other years, it will be a generous and hospitable group of enlisted men who will welcome them, dine with them and take them on a tour of the premises.

This year's celebration will be held on the new side of the station, west of the railroad tracks, a section of the country that has a special significance to all Arden Shore campers because, until the recent expansion of Great Lakes, the boys have always used it as their own special playground.

The annual luncheon meeting of the Arden Shore board will be held Monday, January 25, at noon at the Chicago Athletic Club. Mrs. Robert B. Gregory of Chicago is honorary president of the board; Mrs. Proehl H. Jaktion of Lake Forest is president; Mrs. Richard Keibon is village chairman for Highland Park, and Mrs. Charles Bates for Ravinia.
