USO-SALVATION ARMY

346 Waukegan Rd., Highwood, Ill.
Maj. Ira R. Fitzpatrick,
Club Manager

The Wives' Craft class in the hobby shop in the basement is turning out many attractive products. During the busy sessions a variety of startling sounds drift upward. That shrill scream is not an indication that manslaughter or mayhem is being committed — it is merely the raucous protest of the buzz saw. No lions or hyenas growl about the hobby shop — that growl comes from the turning lathe, where some article of plastic or wood is being perfected and polished. The whine usually associated with the dentist chair means that the vibro-tube is being used to engrave initials or design on some souvenir destined, perhaps, for some far point in the country. The mechanical skill of slender hands has proved one of our country's most valuable assets.

A feature of this week's program worthy of special mention is a lecture and demonstration by Dr. Frank Q. Brown, writer, educator and world traveler, of Chicago Technical college. His subject on Thursday night, Jan. 7, will be "Liquid Air." This lecture proved so interesting, before, that he has been asked to repeat it, due to the change of personnel among the servicemen in the meantime.

On Tuesday of this week Mr. Kaj Agaard, tenor, of Evanston, was the attraction. He was, as always, well received. Wednesday was games night.

Mrs. A. W. Knaak Graduated To Nurse's Aide Corps

Seventy-six women who work in war plants and offices by day and who took their nurse's aide training in the evenings, were graduated and capped at ceremonies held at Wesley, Mercy and St. Luke's hospitals in Chicago on Saturday, Dec. 26, it has been announced by Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, chairman of the Red Cross volunteer nurse's aide corps.

Induction of this group into the Red Cross-OCD nurse's aide corps brought the number trained in Chicago during the first year of the war up to 1,600. However, demands by hospitals for assignment of nurse's aides are still growing due to the departure of large numbers of Chicago area nurses for the armed forces, Mrs. Spiegel said.

Two thousand more nurse's aides will be needed to furnish enough for Hines hospital in Maywood, one of the nation's largest veterans' hospitals, and enough for emergency OCD duty with rescue squads and casualty stations in event of enemy action or disaster, according to Mrs. Spiegel. Block captains, OCD community offices, or Red Cross headquarters, 529 S. Wabash avenue, can give full information.

Mrs. Alvin W. Knaak, 538 Central avenue was graduated and capped at Saturday's ceremony at St. Luke's hospital.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin
By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.
WISDOM OF YESTERYEAR

"Waste not, want not"—is a wise, old maxim. It was never more vitally true than today. Sharing is our job—yours and mine—and we all know that meat is a "must" on the sharing list. But whether we share it, or stretch it, we must be frugal and foresighted in buying and using meat for family needs. Waste not today, and we'll want not tomorrow, so I give you here a meal that follows this wisdom to the letter.

Three-Dish Meal
(Serves Three, Food, Money)
WILSON'S CERTIFIED PORK SAUSAGE LINKS (Creamed-In-Coriander Ring)
GREEN SALAD
CRANBERRY TARTS

with 1/4 cup of confectioner's sugar. Finally fold in 12 quartered marshmallows and 1/4 cup walnut meats.

HERE'S HOW. For cornbread ring: Sift together 1 cup cornmeal, 1 cup flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add 1 beaten egg, 1 1/4 cups milk, and 4 tablespoons melted Bake-Rite shortening. Beat until light and thoroughly mixed. Pour into greased ring mold. Bake in hot oven (425°) about 25 minutes.

TO MAKE CREAMED SAUSAGE, cut into small pieces 1 pound Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links and brown in frying pan. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons fat, then make gravy by adding to the fat 3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 1/4 cups milk. Stir until thick and smooth. Serves 8.

CRANBERRY TARTS. Make pastry with Wilson's Bake-Rite, cut into 2-inch squares and tuck into muffin tin, with the four corners up like the petals of a flower. Fill with 1 cup heavy strained cranberry sauce (fresh or canned) mixed with one 3-ounce package of white cream cheese, or 1/2 cup sliced cottage cheese. Fold in 1 cup of whipped evaporated milk (strained first, then chilled). Bake in BAKED APPLES . . . rosy apples, stuffed with pork sausage and baked, give new glory to an old-time combination. Makes a pretty platter, too.

Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links smile on those most-restricted, budget-hampered meals for it's one of the most delicious things you can buy today . . . and one of the easiest to stretch.
They're mighty good eating all the way through, too. So even you get Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links ready packaged for your convenience—for the best comes to the ground, and the best eating to the ground.
Years for sharing.
