How World War Affects Illinois Income and Outgo

CHICAGO.—How the war-time economic upsurge has increased Illinois' state revenue and decreased its emergency relief expenditures, is illustrated in the above chart comparing income and outgo in the 1942 and 1941 fiscal years, prepared by Barcus, Kindred & Co., specialists in Illinois municipal bonds.

Illinois income exceeded expenditures by $42,587,073 in 1942 and by $12,149,187 in 1941. As a result, the state had a record-breaking surplus of $53,444,229 at the beginning of 1942.

Study of other war-time trends in income and outgo based on analysis of state finance department figures, reveals that: Emergency relief expenditures decreased by 41 per cent in 1942, compared with 1941.

"Thy going out and thy coming in"

THE world's youth, going out from their homes or from accustomed and peaceful occupations to give all they have and all they can be trained to give in militant service for the preservation of freedom for mankind, need to know something of the profound truths which can sustain them through every ordeal.

The Scriptures, which show the long human search after God and the spiritual idea which expresses Him, abound with promises of protection to those who look to Him and actively accept the spiritual facts. In the one hundred and twenty-first Psalm (7, 8) is given this assurance of constant protection: "The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil. . . . The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

This promise, however, admits of a wider application to the going out and the coming in connected with all the interests of human experience. As one goes out in the morning and returns safely later on, guided and shielded by Spirit, Love, so in the present day those who are going out to face the grim warfare for human rights may confidently look to God, the heavenly Father of all, to bring them safely through the victorious struggle for right and justice, and to enable them to prove safety in the midst of apparently grave dangers.

Christ Jesus, in his unparalleled triumph over evil, repeatedly proved the ever-present power of God, infinite good, to direct and preserve his going out and his coming in. On one occasion, as recorded by Luke (4:28, 30), certain ones, "filled with wrath," attempted to destroy him, "but he passing through the midst of them went his way." Through his understanding of God as ever present and available, he was enabled to still a storm at sea, to heal all manner of disease instantaneously, and finally to overcome for himself the supposedly fatal effects of crucifixion and burial, and to rise superior to all the false claims of life in matter. Having done all these things through his understanding of God and of the real man in His likeness, he became for others the Way-shower, so that all might follow his example and overcome the ills that troubled them; and he not only promised but directed that those who should follow his example of complete reliance on God should prove the power of God in all their needs in their going out and their coming in. . . .

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, says (p. 387), "The history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering."

This faith in God increases as one learns the true nature of God as divine Principle, Infinite Mind, and of man in God's likeness, as His perfect, imperishable idea, inseparable from his source. . . .

All that God has made remains as harmonious as the Mind which formed real being. These spiritual facts, being scientific, are demonstrable, and when clearly and sufficiently understood, and utilized, prove the powerlessness and unreality of that which is unlike God, in whatever service one may be engaged. . . .

And long ago the Psalmist said of him who looks to God, seeking righteousness and wisdom (Psalms 37:31), "The law of his God is in his heart; none of his steps shall slide."—The Christian Science Monitor.

TO NORTH SHORE LINE RIDERS -

He's the Man Who Realizes...

Rush hour Traffic is a Problem!

He rides before or after rush hours whenever possible. He knows that thousands upon thousands of war workers, soldiers and sailors are being transported on the North Shore Line . . . and consequently trains are sometimes crowded, particularly during rush hours.

Frankly, wartime conditions have made rush hour traffic a problem. Cars frequently are filled to capacity; loading and unloading is tremendously slowed up with resultant delays to trains. And we cannot buy new cars because critical materials are needed for guns, tanks, ships and planes. By avoiding morning and evening rush hours whenever possible, riders can help get faster and more comfortable service for themselves, other civilian riders, soldiers and sailors.

The next time you plan to take a North Shore Line train during rush hours, ask yourself "Can I travel at another hour?" In any event you will find the same regularly established peacetime frequency of service. Your thoughtfulness will be appreciated.

Your cooperation NOW is a wartime necessity!

1. Travel before or after morning and evening commuter hours whenever possible.
2. Schedule your trips so as not to conflict with the heavy Army and Navy through traffic out of Chicago and Milwaukee on Saturday and Sunday nights.
3. Do your shopping between 10 A.M. and 4 P.M. or in the early evenings.
4. Board and leave trains as rapidly as possible so as not to slow up service.
5. Purchase tickets before boarding trains. Buy a 10 or 25 ride ticket—good for one year before the station you select. Help to prevent delays caused by the necessity for making change and cutting cash fare receipts. If there is no agent on duty at your station buy your ticket in advance at any of the numerous North Shore Line stations most convenient to you.
6. Help us keep cars clean. Do not throw trash or rubbish on floors. Help us keep cars clean. Do not throw trash or rubbish on floors. Help us keep cars clean. Do not throw trash or rubbish on floors.
