Olympia Circus to Open In Chicago Saturday

Terrell Jacobs, the wild animal and lion tamer from Peru, Ind. who has had his winter quarters just south of this city for the past several years found good use for his elephants this past week for the rolling stock to transport his 67 head of circus stock to Chicago for the 11th annual Olympia Circus that opens at the Chicago Stadium this coming Saturday, April 24.

While waiting for the flat cars he owns to be shunted to his loading platform Jacobs put his farm tractors in the barn and used two of his elephants "Moduc" of runaway fame and "Sally" to supply the motive power for the plowing on his farm. It was the first time either of the pachyderms has been hitched for plowing although they both had been used to haul heavy circus wagons around the lot for the past couple of years.

"Moduc," the elephant that terrorized the countryside last fall showed no inclination of running away during the plowing adventure and Jacobs does not anticipate any trouble from him or his mates from now on. The big "Bull" is noted for being one of the finest trained elephants in the circus world and is handled by Dolly Jacobs, wife of the lion tamer, and is a well known animal handler and horse-woman.

Chicago Symphony Orchestra Holds Final Concerts

The historic 62nd season of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra comes to a close this week with Hans Lange conducting the final Milwaukee concert on Monday and the Thursday-Friday afternoon, April 29-30, in Orchestra Hall.

The death of Dr. Frederick Stock stunned the music world shortly after the season opened. Hans Lange took up the baton and carried through a successful season which was marked by the appearances of several distinguished guest conductors, among them Desire Defauw, who was selected to take over next season as musical director and conductor, with Mr. Lange continuing as his associate.

Two Chicago "firsts" distinguish the Thursday-Friday program planned for the week. They are the Poot overture "Joyeuse" and the Villa-Lobos Toccata (The Little Train to Caipara). Both composers are modernists, Poot being a Belgian whose works have been presented by the Chicago Symphony during previous seasons, and Villa-Lobos, the outstanding composer of his native Brazil, whose work was presented earlier this season.

In addition to the two new works, two familiar works the Brahms First Symphony and the Respighi symphonic poem, "The Pines of Rome," are programmed for the concluding concerts.

Collect 500 Books For Victory Campaign

Over 500 books have been deposited in the box at Woolworth's, according to the Kiwanis club's Victory Book committee. The books are taken to the public library, where they are distributed.

Books are being sent to soldiers and sailors in bases all over the world. The slogan for the campaign is "Give the books you would like to keep for yourself."

A second depository has been placed in front of Fell's store for the Victory books.

Skokie Players To Present Two Skits April 30

An evening's diversion from war news will be offered by the Skokie players on Friday evening, April 30, at West Ridge school. As a curtain-raiser Ruth Gould, Kay Kieding, Betty Robinson and John Robinson will solve the problem of a neurotic mother who's been spoiled by her husband and who is tired of all six of her cars. The play, "Let There Be Light," will be directed by Rose Marks.

Then, changing to farce-melodrama, another cast will do A. A. Milne's "The Man In The Bowler Hat," complete with guns and mysterious lights and screams in the dark. Bea Johnson has charge of this play. The actors are Billy Arden, Chuck Arden, Russell Clark, Dorothy Dunham, Lew Jones, Art Haven and Ray Naegele.

The net proceeds will be donated to the Highland Park U.S.O. Other features of the program will be announced in next week's News.
