A Tribute To Mrs. John Christensen
Written on Mothers' Day

It seems fitting, on Mother's Day, to be writing a tribute to a Highland Park mother, Mrs. John Christensen, who passed away at the Highland Park Hospital on Saturday, May eighth.

Mrs. Christensen was the mother of five children: John, Robert, Jennie, Alfred and Emma. She came to Highland Park with her husband when the children were small and when employment was difficult to find even for the most deserving. The Christensens took a house on the outskirts of town only to discover that the well on the property did not produce adequate water for proper living conditions. Other inconveniences made occupancy of this farm equivalent to a pioneering venture. However, Mrs. Christensen had the true spirit of the pioneer mother. She kept house, gardened, raised her brood against the greatest economic odds.

She took time to be a good neighbor, too, as those of us who were her neighbors can attest. I shall never forget the night she came and looked after my own children when I was rushed off to the hospital, nor the Thanksgiving Day when she left at our back door a tender, wild rabbit prepared for roasting. This last was done after she learned we had been kept home from the usual family party by a sudden diagnosis of measles in our household.

These are only two neighborly stories. I could tell many more and other neighbors could add to the list. But suffice it to say here that those of us who knew Mrs. Christensen were better for the contact. We are happy that she lived to see her husband come into his rightful place in the painting business and to take pride in the accomplishments of her children. The two older boys, John and Robert, are both serving their country; John with wings; Robert, afoot and overseas. One daughter is married and holding a useful place in the community. (Mrs. Kenneth Wilson.) Another daughter, Emma, and son, Alfred, are doing conscientious work at high school.

In spite of all the difficulties of her life I never saw Mrs. Christensen when she was not cheerful. I shall never think of her without being reminded of what Emerson says about cheerfulness, that it is "the end of culture and success enough."

Rowena Bennett.

Lecture Given By W. D. Kilpatrick on Christian Science

A lecture on Christian Science entitled "Christian Science: The Truth about God and Man" was given by William D. Kilpatrick, C.S.B. of Detroit, Michigan, member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, Thursday evening, May 6, at Elm Place auditorium.

Times like the present must give pause to the man who is inclined to think and weigh events in the light of intelligent analysis. One cannot look upon a world torn with strife, war, hatred, and all the baser passions of men, without some contrasting or contradictory emotions. The question is bound to suggest itself to the thoughtful as to just where the onus of guilt must rest for the mental and moral upheaval which seems to be tearing down and destroying the spiritual and intellectual building of the Christian era. Where, one might ask, does Christianity fit into this picture of moral desolation? What, in the light of present-day savagery and unrestrained rapine, has the Bible accomplished in the hundreds of years it has been looked upon as a guide and manual for the conduct of Christian men and nations? One might be tempted to question within himself—Is there a God? If so, why all this murderous destruction, this strife between Christian peoples, this cancerous growth of hate, jealousy, and revenge?

These inner questionings of the human consciousness, these doubts which stealthily and insistently steal into thought, these suggestions of pessimism and skepticism, are not without justification; and except for the explanation and light which Christian Science throws upon the Bible and the teachings of the prophets, Jesus, and the apostles, I am doubtful whether a convincing reconciliation of the present with the unequivocal promises of Holy Writ could be evolved. However, through the revelation of the spiritual significance of Bible teachings which Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has given to the world in her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," vided through the study of Christian Science these present-day events will reveal themselves as purifying processes, and when this self-eliminating experience has accomplished the destruction of certain evils in human thinking, we may then look for a better world to live in. And I beg you, have no doubt. That day will come when there will be no more war on earth and men will live together in the holy bonds of Christian brotherhood just as certainly as there is a God. Ezekiel prophesies the subjugation of all evil where he voices the divine assurance: "I will overturn, overturn, overturn, it: and it shall be no more, until he come whose right it is."

Periods of Human Progress and Regression
History not only repeats itself but it provides an interesting, instructive, and reassuring background from which to evaluate the present-day enigma. If you will follow the footsteps of mankind from the earliest records of human endeavor down through the ages, you will see that the advancement of the human race from the lowest plane of human thought to its present mental and spiritual level has been accomplished through a series of progressive steps or periods, with each period of progression followed by a period of regression. As human thought, through the influence of the invisible Christ, has emerged from its lower and baser levels it has risen to heights of spiritual consciousness which have brought a degree of freedom, happiness, and prosperity theretofore unknown to men.

Unfortunately, these periodical attainments of mental and spiritual freedom have not been accompanied by the perception and realization that the relief and prosperity thus achieved have been due to spiritual forces operating in the human consciousness, and as a result of this blindness the spiritual cause of these seasons of progress has been lost sight of by men. They have attributed their growth and accomplishments to personal ability and individual self-sufficiency and power.

Through this failure to perceive the true spiritual background responsible for their emancipation from their self-imposed bondage, men have completely lost their guiding star—the Christ operative in human consciousness—and through their egotism and sense of self-sufficiency they have attributed their achievements to their own human ingenuity, forgetting entirely the spiritual impetus through which their progress has been made possible.

Thus, after each period of advancement, has the race drifted back into sin, strife, war and, at times, heathen idolatry, and retrogression has taken the place of progress. Then, after long periods of suffering, bitter experiences, and repentance, the light of Truth has again been permitted to shed itself on the human consciousness, and the return to spiritual peace and physical freedom has been begun. The encouraging feature of the history of these periods of human advancements and recessions is that after the cessation of each season of retrogression and the ascent back to positions of security abandoned through these backslidings, men have found themselves a little higher spiritually than ever before.

The world today is suffering from one of these periods of human retrogression and spiritual stagnation. Just when the awakening from this ghastly dream will come and the return trip up the long road of spiritual regeneration will begin, no one can foretell; but the tide of human error cannot long resist the forces of God, and when the return to sanity and spiritual rectitude is accomplished it will be found that this period in world history has advanced men much farther in the line of spiritual achievement than any other like experience. This superior achievement of spiritual regeneration and progress in the history of mankind is made possible today only because of the light of Truth which Christian Science has brought to the world and which has never before been present on the occasion of any like period. Is it too much to predict that the world's present state of moral deficiency will prove to be the last fateful step backward in the history of mankind?

Mother of Mrs. Corrough Dies

The mother of Mrs. Dana Corrough, Mrs. Anne Wallace Gehring Jones, died Saturday night in the Highland Park hospital. She was 74 years of age. Mrs. Jones resided with her daughter at 163 Clifton avenue.
