The WPB is calling attention again to the vital necessity of old nylon and silk hose for use in the war effort. Since last fall, Highland Park has been cooperating in this effort and approximately 600 pounds have been shipped. As quickly as the hose are beyond mending, they should be turned in for reprocessing into parachutes and gunpowder bags.

The navy is asking for old, outmoded, obsolete and discarded radios and radio parts for instructional purposes. These radios will be used in laboratories and class rooms for several purposes such as, circuit analyses, parts analyses, laboratory practice in repair and maintenance. The cabinets are not wanted.

The navy is hoping that a sizeable collection of this equipment can be furnished for their technical school, as it will eliminate the necessity of using new and modern radios for training purposes, as new ones are needed for installation in equipment for combat areas and not for training areas. Those with old radios and radio parts and willing to give them to the navy should call Civilian Defense office, H. P. 1400.

Last fall such a request went out for the army air force technical school and met with good response.

Summer Sessions At High School Open June 14

Summer sessions at the Highland Park high school open June 14 and continue until Aug. 6.

Three different types of programs will be offered this summer. They are program of pre-induction training and war courses, program of practical and recreational courses and program of review and make-up courses.

The swimming pool will be open as a part of the summer school and swimming lessons, as well as open swims, will be included. As was the practice last year, the high school athletic field will be open for summer recreation.

Tom Wilder Presents Paintings To School

Tom Wilder, Ravinia artist, presented four oil paintings to the Ravinia school in memory of his wife, Mrs. Edna Wilder, who passed away several months ago.

The paintings were given to the school at the Memorial day exercises. Included in the group were an elm tree in Ravinia, a scene in Mexico, the Grand Canyon and Crater Lake. Mrs. Wilder was an active member of the education committee of the school many years ago. Their daughter, Elizabeth, is a Ravinia school graduate.

Registration Blanks Given Children For Summer Recreation

Four mimeographed sheets filled with descriptions of opportunities for "Fun in Highland Park" were given to each child in the 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th grades in town this week under the supervision of the Steering Committee on Recreation of the Co-ordinating council.

On each of the sheets is a registration blank to be filled out by the child and signed by the parent, indicating which of the many recreational activities the child is interested in. These registration blanks are to be returned to the room teacher at the school, who will in turn give them to the organizations sponsoring the particular programs. These registrations must be returned as soon as possible, as the development of the summer program depends upon how many young people are interested in each phase.

Although the recreation tax for Highland Park was passed, these additional funds will not be available until next year. During that interim the special steering committee on recreation has worked out a co-ordinated program for this summer on existing financial resources and with volunteer help.

In the case of the day camp, to be held in Sunset park on seven Wednesdays beginning June 16, several groups have pooled their resources. The co-ordinating council meeting May 26 voted a sum, up to $50, to help with the running of this day camp.

One sheet gives the summer program of the children's department of the Public Library and also the summer activities of the Y.W.C.A. A second sheet gives the details of the summer swimming classes and recreational swims at the High School Pool—this being the first summer that this pool has been opened to the younger children of the community. The Community center fills a third sheet with their plans for the vacation, including shop crafts, art club, junior first aid, drama club, airplane club and table games club.

The summer day camp to be held at Sunset park on Wednesdays explains its program on the fourth sheet.

Volunteers to help with the day camp are being enlisted and they will be given a special training class by Mr. "X" of the Community Center and Miss Eleanor Schmidt of the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Harry J. Van Ornum, Mrs. Barton Pope and Miss Mary Thompson of the high school physical education department form the committee in charge of securing volunteers. Any one who has a special skill to offer and free time to give on Wednesdays is asked to contact Mrs. Van Ornum, H. P. 4047.

Highland Park Estimates Damage In Mock Air Raid

According to a summarized report by the chief air raid warden's office of Highland Park to Donald Trumbull, coordinator, covering the mock air raid incident drill, conducted Sunday, May 23, more than 500 ton bombs were reported by the 600 air raid wardens who took part in the test and patrolled the 428 blocks of the city, together with 50 members of the auxiliary police.

An estimate of possible damage based on written reports from the city wardens covering each of the block blocks which were turned in immediately after the test and which followed telephone reports to the air warden's office, as prepared by Robert Fattor, assistant chief warden, indicates that while the usual average of 15 per cent of the incendiary bombs fell on buildings, the number of fires resulting would have been more than could have been handled by the fire department, who would have been directed to the more serious fires.

In consequence, the report adds much of the estimated fire damage was limited due to the immediate presence of the air wardens and the value of their training was demonstrated. The report states that only in these cases of smaller fires started, where there was no stirrup pump or other equipment on the premises was the damage estimated as being extensive.

H. B. Aiston, chief air warden, states that while the damage would have no doubt been limited, due to the fine performance of the air wardens and the efficient organization of trained auxiliary fire, police, utility, public works and medical aid units who stood by in case of actual emergency, nevertheless Highland Park would have suffered serious loss of life and property had the raid been real.

An indication, he adds, Division Warden Lawrence A. Mills reported over 75 fire bombs fell in the immediate vicinity of the high school and Warden F. S. Wichman reported a large part of the school would have been destroyed. Warden A. E. Patton reported an explosive bomb evidently intended for the city hall made a direct hit on the Christian Science church. Warden Fred Coleman reported a direct hit of an explosive bomb on a home with six occupants on Deerfield road. Another home with several occupants on Ridge road was reported as receiving a direct hit by Warden J. Jordan. Warden M. C. Hart reported the Evangelical church as receiving a direct hit and other reports indicate considerable damage would have been done to utilities, communications and other services to the community.

Old Settler of Highland Park, George Bock, Dies

Mr. Bock died in Dunville, Ontario, where he had been living with his oldest son, Herbert. Besides Floyd and Herbert, another son, Merle, and a daughter, Alice Markham of Canada, and two brothers, Frank and Robert of Highland Park, survive.
