Call For More Donors For Mobile Unit Visit Aug. 26-8

One hundred more volunteer blood donors must each sign up to give a pint of "Victory" blood within the next week or the three-day stay of the mobile unit of the Red Cross in Highland Park August 26, 27 and 28 will fall 20 per cent short of the goal set for the community.

More blood plasma than ever before is now needed because more American victories mean more wounded Americans, according to a statement of the Red Cross Blood Donor service in asking for increased blood donations from every community.

Approximately 400 men and women of Highland Park and surrounding towns have already signed to contribute blood at the next visit of the mobile unit at the Highland Park Woman's club next week. Ninety-one persons have volunteered in the past seven days. Their names are:

Local USO Unit Aided By Over 1,200 Volunteers

Residents of Highland Park cooperate in the operation and support of the U. S. O. at 21 N. Green Bay road. More than 1,200 volunteers serve in various capacities at the club. Men and women share equally in this service.

Perhaps the largest group of volunteers make up the Girls' Service organization. Divided into seven groups of about 30 members each, these girls are on duty at regularly specified times to serve as dancing partners, table tennis, pool or bridge partners. Much of the program carried on at the U. S. O. originates with this group of girls. They plan for and supervise many of the special activities—horseback riding, hayrack rides, archery, etc.

Highland Park had the first formally organized G. S. O. group. The name "G. S. O." originated in Waukegan, but Highland Park was the first community to organize a group of girls under this name.

Buy War Bonds And Stamps For Close View Of Jap Sub

The two-man Japanese submarine captured at Pearl Harbor will be on display on Central avenue between Green Bay road and the Chicago Northwestern railroad tracks on Thursday, Aug. 26, between the hours of 2 and 3 p. m., following a parade through the business section.

Escorted by police, under the direction of Chief of Police Martin Kopp, the sub will travel from County Line road to Central avenue.

In charge of advertising for the event is Niels Clausen. Arthur Swanson is in charge of street arrangements and building of catwalks.

War bonds will be sold at five booths, which are being handled by women's organizations under the direction of Mrs. Morris Loving and Ralph Davidson. The issuing of the bonds are under the direction of William Pearl. Ticket-takers will be Boy Scouts, under the supervision of George Hartman. Harry Eichler will man the loud speaker system.

On the night before December 7, 1941, this 81-foot submarine tried to sneak into Pearl Harbor to launch its two torpedoes at an American warship and then blow up its 300-pound charge of nitroglycerine against another. However, this little pigboat did not get to market; it lost its way, supposedly because of a faulty compass, and was captured intact on a reef.

Now the U. S. Treasury has borrowed it from the navy and is using it to spark war savings sales across the country, to raise money; to buy torpedoes to fire at Tojo and ships to shoot them. The Japanese sneak boat started on tour at San Francisco last Navy day, October 27.

Until last September the stripped hull of it was sitting on concrete blocks in the yard of the submarine base at Pearl Harbor, a silent reminder of the American navy's worst hour. When the Treasury asked to borrow it for a bond tour, it was transported to Mare Island Navy yard, California, in the foredeck of a big freighter, and there refitted, in lighter materials, so that it looks ready to sail again on its lethal mission.

The block in which the submarine is on exhibit will be barricaded and closed to traffic and parking during that time.
