Students' Work During War Stressed By Spears

"Today, when we are fighting to preserve a way of life that emphasizes self-direction, self-responsibility and participation in the government of one's group, we should certainly provide at every turn in our educational and home practices training in this American way of life. This year two study halls have been put in charge of the student council, and so far the plan has been successful. Curricular Changes Necessary

"Our young people are going places and they know it. More students now know what courses they want to take, and why. In their plans is apt to be a desire to help the war, which is met by subjects leading to specialized branches of the service; by participation in extra-curricular war activity sponsored by the school and adjustments in classes allowing for an out-of-school war job.

"While still holding to those values of the curriculum which need to be protected, the school is stressing applications in various subjects and adding subjects which seem to merit wartime emphasis. Social-English studies have been extended, and these elective subjects enroll 170 students.

Nursery School Omitted
"It is my personal regret that our nursery school which offers girls study in the care and development of small children has been dropped through lack of interest. Home making will no doubt continue to be the main occupation in America. A school of 1150 students should need more than two home economics teachers.

"In addition to analyzing necessary curricular changes, a second important consideration is the matter of students dropping out before graduation. A 20 to 25 per cent decrease is not unusual. Our drop-out has been insignificant.

"At every turn, the importance of the diploma is stressed. But in our anxiety as parents and teachers for our youth to work up to capacity for high marks which will qualify them for officers training, we must respect their capacities and limitations. A war time program that causes frustrations and tensions is worse than no war time program at all.

War Time Jobs
"A number of students last year," Dr. Spears believes, "tried to remain in school while carrying outside work that was too demanding of their time and energies. The school will do all it can to adjust the schedules of those who carry heavy war-time jobs. One thing that cannot be tolerated in the interests of the student as well as the school, is frequent absences from school in favor of this other work.

School Gets Good Start
"We feel that the school has got an unusually good start this fall," said Dr. Spears in conclusion. "Our schools and homes, working together will continue to do the best job we can in preparing our boys and girls for life. In trying to keep up with our boys and girls we need, always appreciate their sincere struggle to grow up into the adult world where they can be respected as responsible human beings having opinions worthy of a hearing from their elders."

The speaker discussed at some length the leisure time activities of the high school students, and the position of the school, the home, and other community agencies in meeting these leisure time needs.

New Members' Tea
An unusually large number of mothers of freshmen students and new members of the P.T.A. met the faculty during the tea hour which preceded Dr. Spears' talk. Tea and table arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Julius Laegeler and Mrs. N. S. Sickle, Elm Place district chairmen. Senior girls assisted during tea, and the following members of the board presided at the tea tables: Mrs. Aaron S. Bauer, Mrs. Arthur Goelitz, Mrs. Charles Grimes, Mrs. William T. Jones, Mrs. J. D. Pickett and Mrs. Earl Wallis.

Mrs. G. D. Stone, in welcoming members said "This wonderful attendance is most gratifying, as it indicates increased interest in the important tasks which confront the school, and the P.T.A. in time of war."

Mrs. Anna Molendy Dies In Home After 2 Years' Illness

Mrs. Anna Molendy died Sunday afternoon in her home at 104 Prairie avenue, Highwood, after an illness of two years. She was born in Italy, Dec. 8, 1875, and came to this country in 1915, living first in Chicago.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Irene Guintolo of Chicago, and four sons, Raymond of Highland Park, Peter and Leno of Highwood, and Marino of Waukegan, and three sisters and two brothers. Her husband, Joseph, died many years ago.

The body has been at rest at the Seguin Funeral home.

Funeral services will be held this morning (Thursday)—at St. James church, Highwood, at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in Mt. Carmel cemetery, Chicago.

Charles Youngdahl, Retired Bookkeeper, Died At Age of 78

Charles J. Youngdahl, 78, retired bookkeeper for construction companies, died early Tuesday morning in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Violet A. Carlson, 1220 Llewellyn avenue.

For the past three years, Mr. Youngdahl had been hoping to hear from his sister, Miss Arcadia Youngdahl of London, England, who he had not heard from since the Luftwaffe blitz on London in Sept., 1940. His sister lived with him until 1892, when she returned to London.

Since 1937, Mr. Youngdahl had lived with his daughter. He was born in Lund, Sweden, and came to Chicago in 1887. He was head accountant for Andrew Lanquist, who built the Wrigley building, and was employed by the Henry Ericsson Construction company that recently held contracts for the construction of barracks at Great Lakes. Mr. Youngdahl retired in 1931.

Surviving, in addition to his daughter and sister, are three grandsons, Pvt. Earl Carlson, who is at Syracuse university in the A.S.T.P., Donald and Ken Carlson.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at Rosehill chapel, Chicago. Interment will be in Rosehill cemetery.

To Explain Technique For Attracting Birds In Garden

Interesting points in the technique of attracting "Garden Bird Guests" throughout the year will be explained by Mrs. Theron Colton to the Garden class of the Highland Park Woman's club on Tuesday Oct. 26, at 2 p. m.

As an instructor in the Arden Shore nature study groups and former chairman of the Wild Flower Conservation society, Mrs. Colton has gained an enviable reputation in the field of nature study. In addition to discussing clever ways to attract birds to gardens, Mrs. Colton will also explain easy winter feeding methods. Her collection of bird specimens will add reality to her lecture.

Mrs. Colton's talk is the first in a series of study and program meetings arranged for members of the club who have found renewed interest and new-found talents in the realm of gardening. Mrs. Deforest Colburn, Garden class chairman, and Mrs. Kendall Clough vice-chairman, will have charge of the features for the year.

At the tea table will be Mrs. Kendall Clough, and Mrs. Griffin Wells Baker.

REGISTRATION HOURS

Registration for war ration book four will be held in the local elementary schools from Oct. 21 through Oct. 23. A through K will register today (Thursday), and L through Z will register tomorrow. Saturday morning the schools will be open to register all applicants who are unable to come on their scheduled days.

The hours will be as follows: Thursday, 9 a.m. until 8 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. until 8 p.m., and Saturday, 9 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

to buy rationed processed foods from Nov. 1 through Dec. 20. These green stamps will be used in exactly the same manner as the blue stamps in war book two, which have been used to buy processed foods since the inception of rationing last Mar. 1.

The last blue stamps in war book two—series X, Y and Z—became good Oct. 1, and remain good for purchases of processed foods through Nov. 20.

Two Sets of Stamps
This means that between Nov. 1 and Nov. 20 two separate sets of stamps may be used to buy canned goods—blue stamps X, Y and Z from war book two, and green stamps A, B and C from war book four. After Nov. 20, only one war book four will be needed for buying canned fruits and vegetables.

War book four will be distributed Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21, 22 and 23, in Highland Park. The first two days, registration will be from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Register, if possible, according to the following alphabetical arrangement of last names:

A through K—Thursday.
L through Z—Friday.
"Leftovers"—Saturday.

Registration is in the local elementary schools, the same as for previous registrations.

War ration book three for each individual must be brought, in addition to the correct age and sex of each individual for whom book four is to be issued.

Anyone May Apply
-Any person, 18 years of age or older, may apply for the entire family unit. Only one person can apply for the entire family unit. Include any family members temporarily away from home, such as students, travelers or hospital patients, who are away not more than 60 days. Individuals not a member of the family unit must register for themselves. In instances where an adult member of a family or an individual cannot appear personally, the application may be filed by an authorized agent, who presents war ration book three for the person for whom he is registering.

Applications may not be made for inmates of institutions of involuntary confinement, for members of the armed forces of the United States or United Nations who receive subsistence in kind, or who are members of officers' messes, or for persons who intend to reside in the United States not more than 60 days.
