

DEEPS and SHALLOWS

The Housekeeper

The cozy snail set out a wall And made a bad admission; "Although I stay at home all day I'm still at home when I'm away, And that's an inhibition" —Anon.

Delusion of Grandeur

The peacock's gorgeous tail and wing Make him believe that he can sing. —Anon.

Needleck

Today your pen is useless, Sometimes just the sight Of a brand new sheet of paper Will urge you on to write: But not so tonight, Or maybe not this week— You're in that awful rut again!

Good is an issue that never sleeps; It is the word that nods. —Berta Wood.

A Word to the Wholesome Public

A poet wrote exalted stuff And could not make it pay; But how he rakes the shekels in Since he has turned risqué. —Anon.

It's mighty smaht to be smaht, but when y'u get so smaht y'u fool y'self—that's being too da'n smaht. —Phil Ossifer.

Twice-told tales, told for the thoid time.

The Fox and the Grapes of Wrath

Once upon a time, gates, there was a fox. His name was Reynard,—for why? Don't know —gooliest name this side of the nut-bowl. Anyway, he was jamm'n' along one day and he starts to think. Yes, Moigatroyd, I said thins, but you wouldn't know the meaning of the word. He was rollin' things around in his dome. He says to himself, he says, My, my, I sure am thoisty. My, but I'm thoisty, he says. I'm hungry, too, he says. So, he looks up and there on an old archway is a big bunch of grapes. Well, twirl my turban, says Reynard, being a Wity Fox. Look, he says, Grapes. So he makes a leap at 'em, but they way over his head. Well, he jumps like they was a licorice-stick play'n, but it's no go. Phooey, says Reynard. Must be the grapes is sour. I didn't want 'em anyway. Which shows what a mall-brain he was. The end was a ladder standin' right by. —J. L. S. Copyright 1944.

Ravinia Women Aid Other Organizations

The success of the spring rummage sale and other activities of the philanthropy committee, including the monthly commission corner, helped make possible the increased contributions to charity by the Ravinia Woman's club this past year. The story was told by Mrs. L. L. Howe, philanthropy chairman at the club meeting last week. Among the organizations that were aided in this manner were the Red Cross, Chicago Commons, Highland Park Social Service, Community center, Y.W.C.A., Girls Scouts, Arden Shore, Great Lakes association, Lake County sanitarium, and Glenwood Manual Training school.

At Christmas time, working in conjunction with the Ravinia P.T.A., fifteen large cartons of toys were collected and sent to Chicago Commons.

Capt. Harry E. Eaton Chooses Iceland Girl For His Future Bride

Capt. Harry E. Eaton, U. S. Army, is among the foremost of our native sons to choose a mate from foreign shores. Miss Astra Thordardottir (Icelandic for daughter of Thordar) tiny, blonde and appealing, arrived recently from Reykjavik, Iceland to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Eaton, 1016 No. Green May Road, with whom she will remain to await the return of her son and her future husband, Capt. Eaton, now stationed somewhere in England. It was at a dance at the officers' club in Reykjavik, nearly two years ago, that Capt. Eaton met the young lady, who speaks English fluently, has three years of college to her credit, and was an employee of the British consulate in her home town, the capital of Iceland.

Miss Thordardottir, shy and soft-spoken, likes the natural beauty of America, the friendliness of its people, most of its food, and even its "boogie-woogie" music—a happy state of affairs, for, it will be remembered, Capt. Eaton, a gifted pianist, is somewhat addicted to "boogie-woogie."

Service Given At Church in Honor of Eichler Anniversary

Upon the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Eichler, 241 N. Second street, a service and reception were given at the Redeemer Evangelical Lutheran church Sunday afternoon.

The vesper service opened the program at 4 o'clock and was followed by a reception sponsored by the Redeemer guild of the church. A gift presentation from the church was made by Mrs. Byron Brandt, guild president, and guest speaker of the afternoon was the former pastor of the church, Rev. W. F. Subr. Comments were made by Mrs. M. Lawrentz and impromptu remarks given by friends of the couple.

June Eichler presented a hymn solo and Fred Bonn, church trustee, spoke as a representative of the congregation. A prayer was offered by Pastor H. K. Platzer.

The Eichlers observed their anniversary with an open house Tuesday evening in their home.

The monthly meeting of the official board of the Highland Park Methodist church will be held Friday, May 19, at the church at 8 p.m. All members of the board are urged to attend.
