

DEEPS and SHALLOWS

Twice-Told Tales, Told for the Third Time

THE STORY OF BLUEBEARD

Settle yourselves, gates, as this is quite a tale. Before I start, I want you to remember, Moigatroyd, NO CRACKS. A peep outa you and out you go. Okay. Once upon a time, there was an old fella with blue whiskers. Honest, that's the truth. He'd been married a couple times but his wives was dumb chills an he got fed up. So he'd send 'em over to the Jersey Side an leave their bodies hangin in a closet. He was a real chummy egg. Pleasant.

Well, but one day he met a skirt that was really a smooth cat. She had a shape like a cork bottle and gams like Grable's. Course, her name was Fatima, but the old plenty okay anyhow. An Bluebeard, thought, Well, he thought, it's his quite a spell since I hung my last wife in the closet. Time to try again, an see if this matrimony game is what he's cooked up to be. Never-say-die Bluebeard, they call me, except when I say it to a wife or two. Haw Haw! he says. I know it ain't funny, but that's what he said.

Well, so he sees this Fatima habe to marry him, an seein as how he had plenty of letters, she says Sure. Her sister Ann an her two brothers thought there was somethin snafu goin on, but they figured Fatima had been around long enough to know what was givin.

Well, they was hitched, an after a month or so Bluebeard decides it's time for the acid test. Fatima, he says, I'm goin away for a little trip, an I'm leavin you all the keys in the joint. You can go anywhere ya like except the little closet on the left as ya come in. That place is strictly outa bounds. Catch? Fatima said she caught, an off went Bluebeard. Fatima then whipped to the phone an called up Ann an likewise a few jokers she hadn't seen for awhile. They all come over an was sittin around when Fatima says, Oh, excuse me, she says, but I think I'll go see what's in that closet the old man told me not to unlock. It's probly some precious barbon, she says. Well, they also look an there are the dames hangin around under'n Guy Lombardo. Fatima lets out a yell an drops the key, mad. I mean, you'd be mad too if you thought ya was due for some good stuff, an there was just dead old wives hangin around.

Well, the rest of the guests scam, except for Ann, who was on the beam as though there'd be fireworks. There was, okay. Bluebeard come home an finds out Fatima's been in his closet, because he sees blood on the key. Quit gaggin, Moigatroyd, this ain't as bad as Dick Tracy. So he grabs Fatima an tells her to make with the prayers; she's goin in the closet too an plenty fast. Meanwhile Ann roars over to the phone, an calls the cops. They come in plenty of time to save Fatima. Bluebeard bein' a chatty soul. They pack him off to jail an call in the reporters. Fatima has good-gams, as I said before. "Sall now, gates. So long!"

Deeps and Shallows' Home Decorating Service

Housewives come under two classifications, those married to men who can Fix Things, and those married to men who Come Home Tired. The tendency is toward a sharp increase in the second category. The training for the modern bride is not tating but in wielding a slick paint brush—and more important, in choosing the time adroitly, viz, while her husband is away getting tired.

Always read the directions on the can, and deviate afterward, if you must. "This paint is especially quick drying; dries dust free in two hours; can be touched with a finger (try where it doesn't show) in four hours; a cat can walk across it in twelve hours; but if giving it a second coat, WE RECOMMEND YOU WAIT 48 HOURS."

Add up a couple of 48 hours, and summer in Highland Park is over.

"Apply lightly and brush out well." That's where you deviate. Covering bare spots and the bugs that don't crawl away requires a painting technique like Van Gogh's. In a picture, the method has advantages; if the yellow flowers vibrate at you once too often, you can knock some of them off with a chisel. But it is not a style of painting that caters you to the union painter who does the next job on top. Now Salvadore Dali—there is a painter! He follows the directions on the can. Easy to paint over. You don't even need sandpaper. He can paint the edges around my screens any day, if he promises to be sensible.

I think it was Ravinia's own Dr. Watson who used to lecture about home painting and refinishing parties. They sounded so gay. I wonder if the guests never spilled varnish remover; or in the fervor of sandpapering (unh unh, not across the grain, please) they never broke a shoulder strap and thereafter had a slip showing; or worse, were caught after scraped knuckles with their dispositions showing.

After you've picked up the newspapers that just missed catching the drippings, scrubbed everything with turpentine, and finally get to a mirror, that is the time to be glad you are not at a party, even among friends. No, you haven't suddenly turned gray. That silvery coat on your hair will

Miss D. Grunewald, Teacher at Elm Place Retires from Service

After thirty-four years of continuous teaching in the Elm Place school of this city, Miss Doretta Grunewald will retire from service at the end of this school year.

For many semesters thousands of boys and girls of the eight grade have received from her their instruction in United States history and geography, and her pupils will long remember her insistence on a thorough knowledge of the outstanding events and movements in the development of our country. Her rich fund of information, her knowledge of our country's history, as well as of the men and women who helped to make it great and her ability to tell a story well made her classes interesting, meaningful and long to be remembered.

But the most important factor of Miss Grunewald's work has been her influence on the character of the young people who came under her guidance. Always kind, but firm and just, she made no compromise with things that were wrong. Her example, as well as her words, taught sincerity, justice and the desire to live truly worthwhile lives.

Loyal to the school she loved, helpful to new teachers, sincerely friendly to every pupil, Miss Grunewald will be greatly missed in the years to come. Her friends and associates wish her many years of happiness and contentment in her well-earned leisure.

ONE-TWO-THREE-FOUR-FIVE-SUGGESTIONS

...to help you make better use of your NEW Telephone Directory

WE TRY to make your telephone directory accurate and complete. These five suggestions, if followed, will increase its usefulness.

- 1 Be sure to discard your OLD telephone directory if it was not collected when the new one was delivered. (Don't destroy it—turn it over with other waste paper to your regular collector.)
- 2 If you have a memo list of numbers called frequently, verify these numbers now by looking in your NEW directory.
- 3 Always consult the directory when not sure of the number.

Calling from memory is a common cause of wrong numbers.

4 Look in your directory—don't ask "information" for numbers listed there. This avoids making two calls instead of one.

5 Use the "Classified" section (yellow pages in most directories) to locate wanted products, services or professional help—especially important now that substitutes must be found.

SUMMER-TIMELY TIPS

Give your refrigerator that scrubbed look

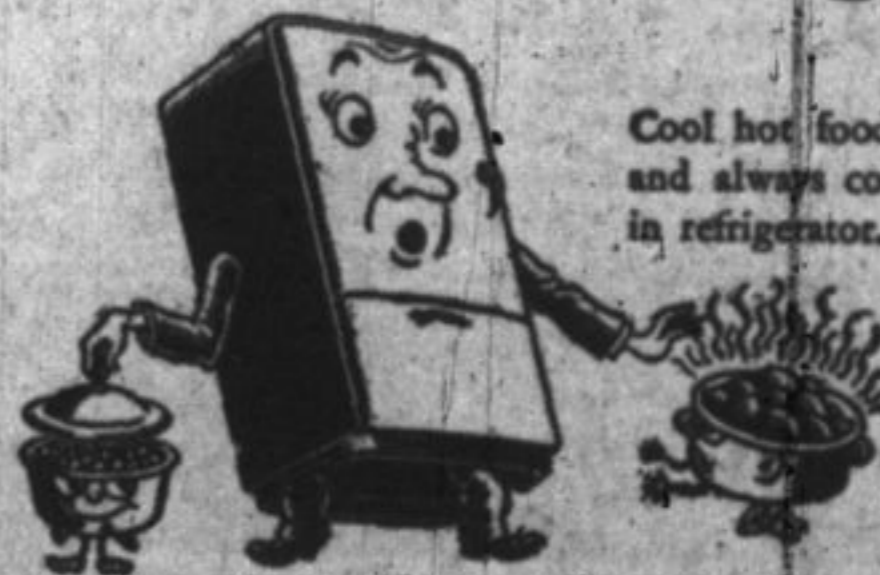

Open refrigerator only when necessary, and no longer than you must. Be sure air can circulate all around it. Leave six space between the refrigerator and the wall.

Wash your refrigerator outside with soap and lukewarm water. Wash the inside and rubber doorstrip with baking soda and tepid water. Dry and talcum strip, so it doesn't stick. Clean the coils, because that's where odors collect.

Don't chip frost off with sharp instrument. Just turn regulator to "defrost." Empty drip pan promptly, clean ice tray, clean and dry ice tray shelf... and then turn regulator up again.

Cool hot foods to room temperature, and always cover, before placing them in refrigerator.
