LOCAL RESIDENTS
MOVE TO BARRINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fontaine and daughter, Martha, have moved from their home at 752 Glencoe Ave., to Barrington, where they plan to make their home.

ROBERT WAS RIGHT: Attorney Robert B. Caldwell, Kansas City, found a woman occupying his seat in a parlor car. She wouldn't give it up. Then a man appeared and another argument followed. Caldwell fled to the dining car where the conductor found and gave him the final verdict: "You win—the woman was in the wrong car and the man was on the wrong train."

Newspapers and Radio remind us frequently that WE SHOULD NOT TRAVEL unless it is absolutely necessary.

Speaking of newspapers, here is a little story that demonstrates the power of the lowly want ad—A Garden City farmer recently advertised in a Garden City paper for a heavy disc plow. A reply came from England. A soldier who farmed near Garden City before he entered the Army read the ad in his home town paper and wrote that he had just what the Kansan wanted.

May we suggest if you have any gas appliance which is not in use that a want ad in your local papers will probably get the appliance into the hands of persons who need it and provide extra money for war bonds for yourself.

For that matter, the same thought goes for any useable article for which you have no further use.

Where Is Your Share?

Of the eight million tons of paper needed for salvage in 1944, the War Production Board says 38 percent is in hiding in American homes and farms, while the other 62 percent is to be found in the files and store rooms of American industry.

If the Boy Scouts or the Girl Scouts don't find those home-hidden hoards of wastepaper before next fall, school children hope to dig them out.

Horses and Mules "Demobilized"

Mechanization of the Army resulted in a surplus stock of 17,000 horses, an office of war information report on surplus war property shows. Dealers bought the horses at sales and sold three-fourths of them to farmers. Between 600 and 700 mules, also displaced by Army mechanization, have been auctioned off.

Gasoline for Those on Leave

Members of the armed services will get a gallon of gasoline for each day of their leave or furlough up to 30 gallons, according to a new OPA policy. No ration will be granted for passes, for liberties or for leaves or furloughs of less than three days, at the suggestion of the Army and Navy. The member of the armed services should apply for gasoline rations to the war price and rationing board having jurisdiction over the automobile he is to drive, and he should present proper leave or furlough papers.

CHICAGOLAND CLERGYMAN

The Rev. Dr. O. A. Geiseman, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, River Forest, and well-known along the North Shore, especially to people of the Lutheran faith, will be the summer guest speaker on the International Lutheran hour for three Sundays, Aug. 6, 13 and 20. This Lutheran broadcast is scheduled every Sunday over radio station WGN at 2:30 p.m. On August 6, Dr. Geiseman will speak over the Mutual Broadcasting system and affiliated stations on the topic, "In God We Trust," applying it to the present problems of juvenile delinquency, and the coming political campaign. The guest speaker is well-known among North Shore Lutherans for his weekly broadcast, "Your Christian Counsellor," over station WCFL every Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

Fort Sheridan Scene Of New Activity

A Separation Center for the discharge or release of officers and enlisted men living in 15 midwestern states has been created, and is in operation at Fort Sheridan, according to Colonel John T. Rhett, post commander. These states include Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Wisconsin, Ohio, South Dakota, Iowa and Wyoming.

Lt. Col. E. M. Stenjem, 50, of Stoughton, Wis., who is commanding officer of the recruit reception center at Fort Sheridan, will also assume command of this new unit.

The principal function of the separation center, according to Colonel Stenjem, will be to receive from domestic or overseas installations all officers and men who have been designated for discharge. The processing that will be done at the separation center will include final property settlement; final pay settlement, including mustering-out pay; final physical examination; completion of all records; a determined effort to acquaint all discharged men with their rights and privileges, particularly under the "Bill of Rights" act; travel facilities to their homes and the creation of a job history prior to and during army service which the man may use for future employment records. Also available to these veterans will be the service of the United States Employment Service and such other civilian organizations as they may request.

Blessed Milkweeds

The lowly milkweed, one of Kansas' most noxious plants, has gone to war. The pestering plant which Kansas farmers often have wished was good for something has turned out to be an essential life-saver.

The silky floss from ripened and dried milkweed pods now is being used as an effective substitute for kapok, a seed-pod fiber long used for filler in life preserver jackets.

The chief source of kapok was Java, but when the Japs captured the East Indies the United States lost its kapok supply.

Forced to turn to a substitute, this country's researchers learned the milkweed floss is waterproof and buoyant enough to use in life vests for sailors and aviators.

To provide milkweed floss, a gathering campaign among school children in 21 states has been initiated. In Kansas, C. F. Gladfelter, of Emporia, is state director of milkweed pod collections. Organizations are being set up in 59 counties to pick the ripened pods in September. The government is paying 20 cents per bushel. The pods must be packed in mesh bags. The filled bags dry out to weigh about five pounds. They will be shipped to Michigan for processing.

Collecting milkweed pods will take a lot of hard work and children will scorb fields in friendly war-effort competition to garner a big contribution from their communities. The collection also will have a profitable effect for farmers in the long run. Not so many ripened pods will fall to the ground to bring large crops of milkweed in future years when the substitute for kapok may not be needed—(R.M.R. in Emporia Weekly Gasette.)

Two local 18-year-olds are now stationed at Great Lakes where they are receiving their basic training. They are Harry D. Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Reading, 902 No. Sheridan, and Calvin G. Bauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Bauer, 154 Lakeview.

TALK OF FUTURE LET MEMORY LIE

A professor of sociology suggests that when your veteran returns from overseas it is well to let memories alone and talk about what lies ahead.

Veterans want to forget, he declares, and should be absorbed into the community instead of being relegated to a special class because of having served in the war.

Some saving due to coordination of maintenance, purchasing of supplies, and in development of future plant needs.

Some advantages in administrative matters dealing with pupil movement within and between the two districts and in co-ordination of the educational program of what is basically one community.

Some advantage in the opportunity gained by consolidation for planning and developing a more efficient and effective administrative unit—a unit whose service could be extended to the other educational agencies in the community.

Some advantage in having greater resources for staff improvement and for the development of better educational programs through the opportunity to consider all aspects of one program for the whole community.

Some advantage in working out more effective articulation between the elementary schools of the combined districts and the high school program.

It is obvious that while the committee favors the consolidation of Districts 107 and 108 and feels that there are advantages to be gained by this action, this action is only minor in meeting the real needs of the six elementary districts underlying and supporting the high school area. The consolidation should be on a six-district basis to effect the educational advantages to all the children of this area.

As far as Districts 107 and 108 are concerned, from the point of view of the Survey committee, it is unfortunate that a community holding so much in common should not also share in the support of an educational program for its children.

25 CLERK-TYPISTS
NEEDED AT SHERIDAN

Positions are available for 25 clerk-typists at the newly activated Fort Sheridan Separation Center, according to Colonel John T. Rhett, post commander. The positions open call for a 54-hour, six day week, paying at the rate of $41.00 per week. Qualified persons should apply to the director of civilian personnel, L. C. White, Fort Sheridan. Because of the nature of the work at the Separation Center, which handles discharge or release from the army of all military personnel from 15 midwestern states, the jobs will probably last longer than most emergency civil service appointments.
