WHAT'S COOKING

A survey just completed for some life insurance companies shows that the anti-inflation campaign conducted by publishers, advertisers, and OWI has really been worthwhile. Three out of four Americans know what inflation is. Two out of three understand that it comes from "people spending money when there are fewer goods, instead of saving their money." Of those interviewed, 80% felt that every citizen can do things to keep prices in line.

Speaking of prices—We have been "hit" with another price increase in some of the coal used in our plants. BUT THERE HAS BEEN NO INCREASE IN THE PRICE OF THE GAS WE SELL.

Incidentally the world's largest pit coal mine is in Fushun in Manchukuo—now in the hands of the Japs. Its main coal bed is over 600 feet deep. The mine was probably opened about 1100 B.C.

If you plan to install storm windows, insulation, or to do other heat conserving changes in your home, we suggest "Do it now."

The story is told of an inebriate who sneaked upstairs without awakening his wife, but as he reached the top step he fell all the way down stairs. Everything remained quiet upstairs so he tried it again. He reached his room, then he discovered that he had broken a bottle in his hip pocket, and he had suffered severe lacerations. Standing on a chair in front of the bathroom mirror he rendered first-aid and slipped into his bed. Next morning he was awakened by his wife's query from the bathroom, "WHO PUT ALL THIS ADHESIVE TAPE ON THE BATHROOM MIRROR?"

C.W.O. Edward West Heads Army Band Unit

Camp Lee, Va. — Music is a powerful morale factor in the life of GI Joe at the fighting front. Realizing this, the army trains its bands to follow the troops to the combat zone, so that battle-weary men may be entertained by music which rubs the gamut from boogie-woogie to symphonic concerts.

First duty of the bandmen is to be a good soldier, and at Camp Lee's Army Service Forces training center, the 326th and 328th ASF bands receive battle conditioning training no less rugged than Quartermaster troops who drive trucks, work in laundry units, or in any of the other specialized Quartermaster fields.

They play for retreat parades and other army functions, maintaining a regular schedule of concerts, and are called upon for such diversified tasks as presenting their talent to boost the sale of war bonds.

The band units were organized in 1941. Lt. Farnham, camp music director, and 16 bandmen have been members of the organizations since that time. Leader of the 326th unit is WOJG Walter H. Simson, recently assigned to the band. Chief Warrant Officer Edward K. West heads the 328th unit.

Mr. West, well known in Highland Park, is former head of the Department of Music at Bethel College, McKenzie, Tenn. He is a graduate of Murry State college in Kentucky, and later attended Northwestern university. A member of Phi Mu Alpha, national music fraternity, I

Local H. S. Teachers Help Solve Manpower Shortage

These war years have brought about women welders, taxi-cab drivers, truck operators, WAGs, WAVES, SPARS and Marines.

Now it's women cemetery sextons, who even assist in grave digging.

A trio of sun-tanned, slack-apparelled school teachers keep the city's Oak Ridge cemetery in trim this summer. They may be the first of their kind in the country.

The transition from classroom instructors to cemetery caretakers began just after school was out for Miss Polly Donnelly, daughter of Mrs. Thomas L. K. Donnelly, 915 North Van Buren street; Miss Ruth Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Nelson, 705 North Hampton street; and Miss Nelson's co-faculty member, Miss Mary E. Thompson, at Highland Park, Ill., high school.

Miss Nelson and Miss Thompson, both physical training instructors, came to Bay City in June with plans to work in a war plant as a means of furthering the victory program and in line with a recommendation of their school administration.

They couldn't find a job so they thought maybe the city, which they had heard was suffering in a manpower shortage, might snap at their services. And it did.

Of course, the cemetery sexton angle never entered their heads. Louis A. Elshorn, Department of Public Works superintendent, is responsible for that brain child.

Their elation with the outdoor job caught Miss Donnelly's interest and she formed the trio. Miss Donnelly is a first grade teacher at the Poe elementary school in Detroit.

Your Uniform is Your MEMBER'S CARD...

This composite view shows conveniences provided for service men at a typical telephone center: easy chairs—tables with books, magazines, games, a globe—writing desk with stationery and post-cards. Calls are placed by girls at switchboards. As connections are made, men are paged by loud-speaker and directed to booths. "... "Swell service!" is their most frequent comment.

SERVICE Men's Telephone Centers like this, with operators to help you get your calls through, are now set up at sixteen Army and Navy locations in the Illinois Bell area.

The aims back of these service centers are simple: we want to help you boys reach the home folks with all possible speed and we want to make your "telephone visits" as easy and pleasant as we can.

The girls at the centers keep telling us how much you appreciate their help—whether it's completing a call that arranges a wedding or announces the arrival of a new baby, or supplying paper matches, or sewing on a chevron.

Well, you can bet your bottom dollar that we're going to keep up this work—and do everything we can to serve the best interests of our fighting men. There's no job on our books more important!
