

DEEPS and SHALLOWS

French Ballade I tried to write a French ballade— Ah woe is me and lackaday. Results were singularly sad.

It drove me very nearly mad, And I who, once was young and gay

Hearken, beginners all, I pray While I beseech you to be wary: Don't ever French ballade assay

Lines to the Pickin' Sisters (Apologies to Marmalade) In DEEPS AND SHALLOWS there's no doubt

Dept. of Well-I-Declare There's a first time for everything. We thought we had seen poems on every subject that would lend itself to rhapsodic versification.

Most cynical definition culled from the week's reading: "A gentleman is a wolf with patience."

Triplet on a Proposal When I asked if you loved me, dear,

Who Sinned? Who sinned, that thus they fell and bled, Their youth unspent, their fancies fled?

This is our week to help. Buy more war bonds.

Ravinia Garden Club Trims Trees at Fort

The thousands of service men and their families who enjoy the magnificent 20-foot Christmas tree this year in the Service club at Fort Sheridan will see no sign to indicate that it did not just appear by courtesy of Kris Kringle.

Behind the scenes, however, will be the hard work and the planning of the Ravinia Garden club, working as a unit of the Fort Sheridan Volunteers.

The tree itself, like those in the hospital wards and the other recreation rooms at the fort, is furnished each year by the Winnetka Garden club.

Nor is Christmas time an isolated instance of the Ravinia Garden Club's work at Fort Sheridan. With other garden clubs they see that flowers appear every week in the chapels, hospital wards and recreation centers of the fort.

The local club spends one day a month making sometimes as many as 100 small bouquets for bedside tables as well as larger arrangements. Other clubs are responsible for library and chapels.

The committee in charge of the Ft. Sheridan Volunteer phase of the club's work this year has been composed of Mrs. Hugh Riddle, Mrs. Robert Douglass, Mrs. M. G. Kettner and Mrs. Arthur Strubel, but all members of the club have participated.

Anyone who has flowers can give pleasure to the men at the Fort may call a member of this committee.

Christmas Program at Presbyterian Church

Christmas poetry presented with a background of Christmas music, recitative style, will characterize the program to be given on Monday, Dec. 4, by the Woman's association of the Highland Park Presbyterian church.

A "plum pudding" story with an English setting will be recited in verse by its author; Mrs. Alice Marks of Highland Park. This is a true and original story of Mrs. Marie's grandmother and her home in England.

The remainder of the program will be given by Mrs. Rowena Bennett, poet and author, of Ravinia. Mrs. Bennett's latest book, "Runner for the King," has just been published. She will read two original poetic dramas and a group of holiday poems, and will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Irma Nixon of Highland Park.

A dessert luncheon in the parish house at 1:15 will precede the special Christmas program. This is the only meeting of the association scheduled for the month of December.

Collectors' Study Group Will Consider Chairs

The subject chosen for the next meeting of the Collectors' Study group on Tuesday morning, Dec. 5, at 10:30, is one which will be welcomed by members because it is in the field of furniture, a branch of collecting in which all are interested.

Mr. Crittenden will bring his collection of chairs which will prove very interesting to the members. Anyone interested in antiques, whether a member of the Woman's club or not, is welcome to the meetings of the Collectors' Study group.

Lt. Moroney, AAF Bags More Nazis

Second Lt. Edward J. Moroney, Jr., with all the fighting zest of the Irish, seems bent on licking the whole German luftwaffe, with, perhaps, the co-operation of his crew mates aboard the P-51 Mustang fighter, of which he is pilot.

Other work done by the lieutenant, for which he has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, was accomplished over Switzerland, Belgium and Germany.

Lt. Moroney is 28 years of age, and is married to the former Mary Jane Wright of Ft. Worth, Tex. He has two brothers in the service, Cpl. Emmett, now stationed in Florida, and Pvt. Pat, USMC, stationed in the Pacific area. They are the sons of City Com. and Mrs. Edward J. Moroney, 537 Glenview.

Book Review Committee Inaugurates New Program

The Book Review committee of the Highland Park Woman's club, Mrs. E. P. Barnes, chairman, inaugurating a new program on Tuesday, Dec. 5, with the first of a series of reviews, all on different subjects, but by one person.

That person is the talented and popular Mrs. Milton Youngren, who, through her excellent interpretations and choice of book material, has won a large following of people in the Chicago area.

Mrs. Youngren lives in Glencoe and her husband is the artist and author of the comic strip, Lew Loyd.

The book review is scheduled for 12:45 sharp, as Mrs. Youngren must go to another appointment immediately following.

The book to be reviewed is one appropriate for the Christmas season. It is "The Green Years" by A. J. Cronin, a very human novel, appealing to family life and has a satisfying and happy ending.

Non-members and guests are invited to attend any and all book reviews. There is a nominal charge to all non-members.

Ravinia Garden Club Makes Christmas Plans

Plans for Christmas decorations at Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes will be discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Ravinia Garden club, Friday afternoon, Dec. 8, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Berram Weber, 1885 Groveland avenue.

Mrs. V. E. Lawrence, will call for volunteers to go to Fort Sheridan on Thursday, Dec. 21, to decorate the service center, cafeteria and office at the Fort. A big Christmas tree will be supplied by the Garden club of Illinois and the Ravinia Garden club will donate any other greens or decorations that are used.

Following the business session, Mr. David Hall of Wilmette, nationally known hybridizer, will give an illustrated talk on "Hemerocallis," including in his slides some of the 26 kinds of iris that he has originated and sold throughout the world.

Another special feature of the meeting will be the Christmas decorations arranged by four members of the club. Mrs. Willard Ewing will do the mantelpiece in the living room; Mrs. Theo. Uehling, the front door; Mrs. D. B. Robinson will have on display a Christmas decoration for a living room table, and Mrs. Stanley Grace, an arrangement for a hall.

Following the lecture, tea will be served by the four assistant hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. Arthur Fathauer, Mrs. Henry C. Fordtran, Mrs. Paul E. Fischer and Mrs. Arthur Strubel.

Preceding the meeting, the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors, composed of officers and chairmen of standing committees, will be held at 1 o'clock.

GLASSES ON CREDIT $7.50 Dr. Roy R. Yeoman 116 N. GENESEE OPTOMETRIST

WHAT'S COOKING? One of our foremen hired two men this week and the following operations followed: Filled out "tax slips," application, war bond deduction slips, took them to the doctor for physical, then went with them to Waukegan to W.M.C. office. W.M.C. says they live in Glencoe so Evanston W.M.C. must release them.

W.M.C. office at Evanston hesitated but finally gave release, then back to Waukegan W.M.C. where a referral card was furnished. Back to Highland Park but too late to start to work until the next day. P.S. They are good workers. (We can use more.)

A new 2-million volt X-ray machine will detect flaws in steel 2 feet thick. The better to make weapons now and peace time goods after the war.

Speaking of weapons... here is a story about a war plant: Bomb loader: "That's funny. They all started to run when I told them my nickname." Guard: "What is your nickname?" Loader: "Butterfingers."

I crept upstairs, my shoes in hand, Just as the night took wing, And saw my wife four steps above Doing the same darned thing.
